$21-Million Preliminary County Budget Voted

Board Says Finance Situation 'Serious'

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today officially approved for printing a preliminary budget of $21,074,684, including the county library.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said the expected tax rate would be $2.375 per $100 assessed valuation, compared to $2.255 this year. Those areas supporting the library would also pay an additional 15-cent library tax.

The vote on the budget was unanimous, although Supervisor William D. Fusselman made it clear he was voting only approval for printing it. The hearing on the budget was set for Aug. 14.

FUSSELMAN OPPOSED

Fusselman said he was opposed to the amount of money being put into the budget for the second unit of the civic center. He predicted he would vote against the final budget if that amount which will require 15 cents on the tax rate, stays in.

The total budget compares to $16,998,603 for the fiscal year which ends today. The major increase was caused by legislative changes increasing requirements for public assistance programs. In the recommended budget, public assistance costs rose 35.8 per cent, but some of these costs, especially for medical care, were later revised upward still further.

Other late increases, after the recommended budget was given to the board, came back for the sheriff's office and the county airport. Road projects were cut back, but road maintenance funds were increased.

LATE INCREASES

"We sat here for two weeks and I don't think one department head went out of here happy," commented Chairman William A. Gnoss. "We're in a serious financial situation." He predicted that carryover balances this year would be unusually low, while they have amounted to as much as $200,000 in the past.

"We're in a real bind," said Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, referring to the increase in the public assistance budgets. "We've rolled back new hirings. We really are not kidding about the financial situation."

AFTER DEATH CRASH

Overpass Median Barrier Is Sought

The California Division of Highways district engineer's office today sent to Sacramento a recommendation that a median barrier be erected on the San Rafael Overpass, where six persons died in a fiery two-car crash Saturday night.

Jack Grasberger, executive assistant of the division of highways office, said the report recommended extension of the barrier from Corte Madera Creek to the north end of the San Rafael overpass.

Grasberger said that it would be more than a year before the barrier could be constructed, assuming that approval was given by the state engineer and the highway commission and funds were made available.

Saturday's accident would have a bearing on the priority of the project as traffic deaths on a highway are taken into consideration when a median barrier is recommended for construction, Grasberger said.

He said there had been no previous traffic deaths on the overpass for "two or three years" caused by cars crossing the divider strip.

The California Highway Patrol continued its investigation of the accident today with a thorough probe of the car which carried five members of one family to death.

Witnesses to the accident heard not one but several explosions following the collision, according to Lt. Danta Lanza.

Consumed by fire after the crash was the 1964 Chrysler Imperial driven by Theodore O. Neal of Terra Linda and San Francisco, and occupied also by his wife, Cecilia, their son Ricky, and Mrs. Neal's aunt and uncle, Wallace R. Linden and Mrs. Victoria MacLalan of San Francisco. All five died in the crash, as did Ronald Martinez of San Rafael, driver of a northbound MGA sports car which crossed into the southbound lane to crash head-on with the Neal auto.

The wreckage was bein examined to determine whether Neal, a painting contractor, might have been carrying paint cans in the trunk of his car. Lanza said the explosions could have been caused by the ruptured gasoline tank, even though it was torn off the car.

The highway patrol is still seeking witnesses who might have seen Martinez's white MGA roadster racing along Highway 101 in the northbound lane prior to the accident shortly after 9 p.m.

Industry Park Plans Revealed In Novato Area

Plans for a 49-acre industrial park and commercial complex in Novato were announced yesterday by John Novak Inc.

Novak revealed plans for the industrial park on 33 acres and a commercial development on 16 acres at meetings of the industrial committee and board of directors of the Novato Chamber of Commerce. Both bodies voted to give full support to the project.

The area involved lies east of Highway 101, North of Novato Creek, west of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, and south of Clausing Avenue. It is now zoned for single-family residences.

COMMERCIAL AREA

"We have definite commitments for both the Novak Industrial Park and the Dias Plaza, the commercial development," Novak said.

Bellucci Realty, which owns two and one-half acres in the commercial area, will handle the commercial development, Novak reported.

Novak said Stanford Research Institute has "several leads" on industries which might locate in such a tract. He said these would be in electronic, plastics and insurance fields.

TO FILL LAND

Novak said he has spent $100,000 to fill the land and "as soon as it is rezoned, I am ready to go." Sewers and water lines already have been extended to the property. Northwestern Pacific will run in a railroad spur, he said.

"There is some talk of dredging Novato Creek for barges, but that will be some time in the future," he added.

N. D. Ferzacca and Associates of Tiburon are architects for the development.

"The land lies in the path of the proposed freeway, but we are going ahead with it anyway," Novak said. He said the freeway may take about 12 acres, but this would merely divide the commercial from the industrial part of the development.

"If the state puts the freeway through, we will ask for an underpass and an off-ramp," Novak declared.

Error Halts Promotions For County

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday agreed in principle to revamping the county salary ordinance, but anembarrassed county administrator today asked that the board take back its approval of raises for 37 specified jobs.

The board called for an ordinance for the new salary structure, which will separate job classifications and annual step increases within job categories by five per cent. But the supervisors held up action on which jobs will fit where in the new setup.

The board yesterday approved 37 immediate promotions, range changes and special step increases, on request of department heads and with the understanding the changes had been approved by personnel director Robert D. Elliott.

County Administrator Alan Bruce today told the board that Elliott had not approved the changes and, in fact, opposed some of them. Elliott had sat through the discussion on the changes without comment, however.

Bruce said the mistake was his fault, but that the 37 changes should be reviewed. The board decided to let the action stand for now, but to review them next Tuesday.

"This is unfortunate," commented Supervisor Peter H. Behr. "You had better tell the depart-

Medieval Spectacle All Set For Marin Art, Garden Fair

The 1964 Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross will open with a blast of trumpets and a new look tomorrow night.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael will officiate at opening ceremonies at 5:45 p.m. and the fair will be open to the public at 6 p.m., starting a five-day run.

Flowing banners, roaming archers and formal gardens will carry out the fair's medieval theme.

In keeping with the theme, there will be a new layout at the fairgrounds with the commercial area set aside from the garden area.

A record number of 27 gardens, professional and amateur, competing for $15,725 in prize money, and 23 concessions will be located at the fairgrounds at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

There will be daily entertainment, are, antique, mineral and photography exhibits, refreshments and shuttle bus transportation for visitors, and a carousel for children.

The busses will travel on alternate 10-minute schedules from the College of Marin parking lot and downtown San Anselmo, between Bolinas and Ross Avenues, to the fairgrounds. Parking at the Ross Town Common is prohibited.

The fair will be open from 6 to 10 p.m. tomorrow and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. through Sunday.

Opening night entertainment will include folk dancing by The Marin Folk Dance Council at 7:30 p.m. on the amphitheater stage, and a fashion show at 8:45 p.m. on the Northgate stage.

"Mayor Art" of television will open Thursday's entertainment, appearing from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the Northgate Stage, followed by the 12th Naval District Band in concert from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

There will be square dancing on the amphitheater stage at 7:30 p.m. and a Magic Circle production on the Northgate stage at 8:45 p.m.

Friday the Marin Folk Dance Council will present its second performance on the Amphitheater stage at 7:30 p.m., and there will be a light opera performance by Corinne Swall and Stanley Noonan on the Northgate stage at 8:45 p.m.

Saturday the Terra Linda High School Band will present concerts at 1 and 2 p.m., there will be square dancing on the Amphitheater stage at 7:30 p.m., and a performance of "Taming of the Shrew" by the Marin Shakespeare Festival at 8:45 p.m.

Sunday there will be barbershop quartet singing by the Marin Chapter, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, at 1 p.m., and a performance by the Marin Civic Ballet at the Ampitheater at 8:45 p.m.

Continuing performers through the run of the fair will include the Laselli Marionettes, presented by Leslie and Eleanor Heath of Novato, 2:30 and 4:30 Thursday, 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Friday, 11 a.m., 2:30 and 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

Other performers will be the Orems, a marimba team, 4 and 6 p.m., Thursday and Friday; Emory Stevenson, organist, 5 and 7:30 p.m., Thursday, and 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday; the Marin Handbell Ringers, 7 p.m., Thursday through Sunday, and Poogie-Poggie, the Jester, 3 p.m. Thursday, 11:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Friday, and 11:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Big Oil Rig Explodes— Four Dead

MORGAN CITY, La. (UPI) — A catamaran-shaped oil exploration vessel with 43 men aboard drilled into a natural gas pocket in the Gulf of Mexico today and exploded in a sea of flames.

The Coast Guard reported 26 survivors, many of them badly burned, four known dead and 13 men missing and feared dead.

The huge rig, one of thousands used to probe the bottom of the gulf for oil, exploded, burned and sank in 15 minutes in pre-dawn darkness.

The survivors were rushed to Morgan City by boat and helicopter. A physician at Lakewood Hospital said 16 survivors were hospitalized and the Ochsner Foundation Hospital in New Orleans was rushing plasma for them by helicopter.

Originally, the Coast guard reported 42 men aboard and 29 survivors.

Pilotless Plane Crashes In Flame; 2 Children Killed

HAVERHILL, Mass. (UPI) — A piltoless jet fighter plane crashed with the explosive fury of a bomb early today into three homes and a dozen parked cars in a residential area of this industrial city. Two sleeping children were killed.

The pilot, with an agonizing prayer that the area below was uninhabited, ejected himself from the F-86 single-seater craft and parachuted to safety. He landed in a tree top.

The plane dropped silently and swiftly in the blackness shortly after midnight and crashed with a thunderous roar on Lackney Street. The street was transformed into a sea of flames.

The plane ricochetted off one house, veered crazily down the street bouncing off parked cars and another house, and plunged nose first into the bedroom of a thrid house where the children were asleep with their pet dog.

Yanks Die In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas shot down a U. S. Army helicopter in South Vietnam's northern mountains today killing an American pilot and his U. S. gunner.

County Signs Tiburon Contract; Charging Interest

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today signed a 45-day contract with the new City of Tiburon to provide city services until Aug. 15.

Supervisors also agreed to advance the city $30,000, in five monthly lumps of $5,000, at an interest rate of 3⅞ per cent.

The question of whether to charge interest sparked a debate between supervisors and Tiburon city councilmen, who recalled that an interest-free $25,000 loan was made to the City of Novato when it was incorporated.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, whose district includes Tiburon, voted against charging the interest.

The money, which county officials declined to call a 'loan," will cover city expenses until the new city begins to receive state reimbursements later this year.

Powerful Typhoon Batters Manila, Luzon

MANILA (UPI) — A powerful typhoon — dubbed Winnie —battered heavily populated Manila and Northern Luzon today with winds of up to 118 miles per hour and then headed across the China Sea towards the Red Chinese mainland.

At least 16 persons were reported killed and property damages were expected to run into millions of dollars. No Americans were reported among the causualties.

Congo Premier Quits

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula resigned today as the Congo marked the fourth anniversary of its independence and the last U.N. troops left the country. President Joseph Kasavubu accepted Adoula's resignation, saying a new government would be formed soon.

It Hasn't Been Year For Ducks

The weather year 1963-64, as you may have suspected, wasn't a very wet one.

Only 26.64 inches of rain fell in San Rafael from July 1, 1963 through today, nearly 10 inches less than the seasonal average of 36.57.

The year was the driest since 1960-61, when 24.92 inches were recorded. Last year 46.95 inches fell—the highest since 1957-58.

Only three times in the last 10 years has yearly rainfall been below 30 inches, according to records kept by the Crocker-Citizens Bank, San Rafael office.

Rights Workers' Search Increased

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House today announced a doubling of the number of sailors searching the Philadelphia, Miss., area for three missing civil rights workers.

Last week 200 sailors from the Naval Air Station at Meridian, Miss., were assigned to assist Mississippi authorities and FBI agents in searching swamps, underbrush, ponds and streams of central Mississippi for the tric.

The three civil rights workers disappeared on the night of June 21 and their burned out station wagon was found near Philadelphia on June 22.

LODGE AND JOHNSON—Former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge gave President Lyndon B. Johnson a final report yesterday on the war in South Vietnam. He said the situation there is "encouraging." Lodge and the president appeared in the Cabinet Room of the White House where Lodge spoke to reporters after meeting with the chief executive. (UPI photo)

Lodge Avers Viets Not Election Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, expanding on his view that he doesn't see how U. S. policy in the Vietnam war could become a campaign issue, says "I don't see how it gets votes—how you can make it a good issue."

He adds:

"If you have a disaster in foreign relations then that becomes an issue whether the politicians make it one or not. Happily I see no prospect of any disaster."

Lodge, who resigned after 10 months as ambassador to South Vietnam, returned Monday to help Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

President Lyndon B. Johnson met with the retiring ambassador at the White House, then went before newsmen with Lodge at his side to express public thanks for his services in Saigon.

In replying to questions submitted to him by Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, Lodge said "things in Vietnam started to go better and I felt it was my duty to be here" to help Scranton.

The questions had been asked of Lodge in Saigon, but he said he preferred to defer his replies until his resignation became effective yesterday.

The questions and Lodge's replies included:

Q. Governor Scranton disagrees with you that the war in South Vietnam should not be an issue in the campaign. Now that you are supporting him, how do you expect to resolve this difference?

A. I have not said it should not be an issue. I have said I don't see how it could be. I don't see how it gets votes—how you can make it a good issue.

If you have a disaster in foreign relations, then that becomes an issue whether the politicians make it one or not. Happily, I see no prospect of any disaster.

Q. How do you propose to overcome Senator Goldwater's long lead for the nomination? And why did you wait so long to come home to enter the campaign?

A. That's two questions. With respect to the first one, I't not sure he has such a long lead. I remember when The AP gave Senator Taft a long lead over General Eisenhower in 1952. You can't take the delegate pledges at face value.

The current AP survey of GOP convention delegates lists 693 first ballot votes for Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona—38 more than the 655 needed for nomination if they stick with him. Of these, 118 are from primary election commitments, 257 from delegates instructed by state or district GOP conventions, 62 personally pledged and 256 who favor him. The survey shows 138 for Scranton, none of them bound to him.

The second question, why did I wait, is really the question, what made me come home early? I was not waiting, nor was I intending to come home this early. But I got messages from friends, people I esteemed, saying that if I came early it might make a difference in Governor Scranton's campaign. Then things in Vietnam started to go better and I felt my duty was to be here.

Q. Did the messages come from Governor Scranton and friends of his?

A. No, they came from persons interested in me who wanted to see me do the right thing in this campaign.

Q. There has been much speculation in the United States about the possibility of striking into North Vietnam and possibly China. Do you favor such strategy?

A. The answer to that question gets into classified information.

Brown Hires Another Ex-Newspaperman

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—John Sheehan, 40, of Sacramento, was appointed deputy director of finance yesterday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Sheehan, formerly on the governor's legislative staff, was co-publisher of the Valley Pioneer in Danville and later was a reporter for the Richmond Independent and the San Francisco Examiner. His salary in the new post will be $21,720.

Italy Crisis Calming

ROME (AP) — Italy's Christian Democrat party called today for another center-left coalition to replace the government of Premier Aldo Moro that fell five days ago. This appeared to smooth the way toward a solution of the government crisis. The other parties of the coalition—the Socialists, Democratic Socialists and Republicans—already have come out for another center-left Cabinet with Christian Democrat Moro as premier.

LBJ CAMPAIGN PERILS HEART, DOCTOR FEARS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A noted heart specialist wants President Lyndon B. Johnson to ease up on his campaign appearances.

Dr. Irving S. Wright of New York yesterday asked the first lady if she would urge the president to reduce his heavy speaking engagements. However, Mrs. Johnson said that she was "mindful" of the president's health and felt that he was taking better care of himself than ever before.

Wright is a member of the president's committee on heart disease, stroke and cancer.

Bobby Weighs Future As LBJ Running Mate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy would like to be President Lyndon B. Johnson's running mate but also would accept other such jobs as Secretary of Defense, Secretary of State or ambassador to the Soviet Union, it has been reported.

"Actually, I should think I'd be the last man in the world he (Johnson) would want," Kennedy said in an interview published by the current Newsweek magazine, "because my name is Kennedy, because he wants a Johnson administration, because we travel different paths, because I suppose some businessmen would object, and because I'd cost them a few votes in the south . . . I don't think as many as some say, but some."

OTHER SIDE

There are reasons, however, why Johnson might pick him.

"Because most of the major political leaders in the north want me," Kennedy said. "All of them, really. And that's about all I've got going for me."

He realizes that if Sen. Barry Goldwater gets the Republican presidential nomination Johnson would pick someone else less controversial in the south where the Arizona senator's strength is believed to be.

Kennedy's main desire is this: "I'd like to harness all the energy and effort and incentive and imagination that was attracted to government by President Kennedy. I don't want any of that to die. It's important that the striving for excellence continue, that there be an end to mediocrity.

HE IS SYMBOL

"The torch really has passed to a new generation. People are still looking for all that idealism. It permeated young people all over the globe. And I became sort of a symbol, not just as an individual.

"If I could figure out some course for me that would keep all that alive and utilize it for the country, that's what I'd do."

He is passed as vice president, the three jobs that Kennedy sees fitting the challenges before him are the posts of Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense and ambassador to the Soviet Union.

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — The Communist Pathet Lao faction was considered certain today to reject a demand by the United States and five other nations that it abandon all territory won in central Laos fighting since May 16. The demand was drawn up at the end of a three-week meeting here of the Ambassadors of Britain, the United States, Thailand, South Vietnam, Canada and India.

Brown Shuns Precedent On Holiday Rule

SACRAMENTO—(UPI) State employees will have to work Friday and Gov. Edmund G. Brown says if they want compensation for holidays falling on Saturdays they should go to the legislature.

Brown said yesterday he didn't want to set a precedent of declaring holidays to make up for those falling on Saturdays.

July 4 is this Saturday.

"I believe the determination to allow compensating days off for holidays falling on Saturday should be a permanent one made by the state legislature," Brown said.

The governor said the legislature had declined this year to give its support to a proposal to declare a Friday holiday that would have made up for Memorial Day falling on Saturday. He suggested that state employees try the legislature again next year.

State employees had asked Brown to follow the federal government's example and declare Friday, July 3, a holiday to make up for July 4.

Two other national holidays, Memorial Day and Washington's birthday, also fell on Saturday this year.

Oswald's Act Termed 'On His Own'

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy declared last night that his brother, the assassinated president, was not the victim of a conspiracy or of communism.

The U.S. attorney general told a Polish questioner in Krakow "there is no question" that Lee Harvey Oswald killed President John F. Kennedy and "did it on his own and by himself."

Kennedy said that Oswald was a "misfit in society" and Oswald's professed belief in communism did not prompt him to murder the president.

"Ideology in my opinion did not motivate his act," Kennedy said. "It was the single act of an individual protesting against society."

Castro's Sister Breaks Ties

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's 32-year-old sister Juana denounced him as a Communist dictator last night and said she has severed all ties with him and with brother Raul, his No. 2 man.

Juana

Miss Castro, who arrived in Mexico secretly six days ago, said in a statement read to a news conference that she is seeking political asylum in this country.

"I can no longer remain indifferent to what is happening in my country since since my brothers began to deliver it to Russian imperialism in mid-1960 . . ." she said. "Cuba is an immense prison surrounded by water."

Although she has been a known political foe of her brothers for nearly four years, Miss Castro had previously refused to leave Cuba. She argued that "it is my duty (to stay) and help overthrow the Communist regime."

Hope Fades For Woman Swimmer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Coast Guard made a final search of the Atlantic off Long Island today for marathon swimmer Britt Sullivan who has been missing more than a day on an attempted swim to Europe.

Britt

The derring-do 29-year-old former Navy WAVE vanished in the inky, shark-filled water late Sunday night. A daylong search by a Coast Guard cutter and two helicopters yesterday failed to locate her.

The hunt was suspended at nightfall until dawn today when the Coast Guard resumed the search in one final try.

Capt. Laurence Griffith, skipper of Miss Sullivan's escort boat, said the plucky swimmer, a divorced mother of a 7-year-old girl, had been menaced by a school of sharks just before she disappeared.

HEARING CALLED ON INHERITANCE AIDES

Spoils System Due For Scrutiny; Bagley Proposal Calls For Civil Service Status

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly Ways and Means Committee today called a hearing in Los Angeles for July 8 on proposed legislation to place state inheritance tax apraisers under civil service.

Chairman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) said he will resist any attempt to use the hearing as a forum for reviving bitter charges and countercharges during the recent primary campaign.

Pierre Salinger, in his successful drive for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, accused his chief opponent, State Controller Alan Cranston, of forcing appraisers he appoints to contribute to his campaign. Cranston denied it.

Crown's committee plans to testimony on a bill introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) at the 1964 legislative session.

"California's system of assessing estates for inheritance tax purposes has been criticized frequently," Crown said, "and this bill by Assemblyman Bagley is a specific proposal for change.

"However, I expect the committee will wish to take testimony on the whole subject so that the merits of this bill can be weighed against other proposals."

The Ways and Means chairman noted that the legislative analyst, A. Alan Post, has recommended changing the current system in every session since 1945.

Cross-Marin Road Speedup Suggested

Marin county should move immediately to have the state establish a route and start construction of an extension of Highway 17 from San Rafael to Point Reyes Station, consultants for the West Marin master plan said last night.

Mary Summers, former Marin County planning director, and Daniel P. Coleman presented the plan orally and with large maps at a special hearing called jointly by the county planning commission and the board of supervisors.

Much of the development in West Marin predicted by the plan is many years away, the two planners predicted; but the freeway, which would be the main east-west route in the county, is needed now, they said.

Coleman added that although his proposal was unpopular, the freeway should be routed up the Miracle Mile and through San Anselmo and Fairfax. "That is the only route that will solve the problems of San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax," he said.

Definite routes should also be established for extension of highway 121 from east of Novato to Nicasio, said Coleman, and for the proposed relocation of the shoreline highway around the cliffs of the Golden Gate headlands.

Coleman also said studies should be started again on the proposal to dam Walker Creek near Tomales, to create a reservoir. He said the project would not be feasible for provision of water alone, but may well be justified as a recreational resource, flood control device, and means of soil conservation.

Mrs. Summers described the recreation "industry" expected in West Marin and said vigorous action should be taken to protect the area from strip commercial development, which, she said, would cost more money than it would bring into the area.

She also described the concept of a "parkway," with extensive right of way purchase, and said the Shoreline highway could become such an "extended park" from the Golden Gate Bridge to north of Tomales. Much of the land to be traversed is already publicly owned, she said.

Average right of way for a parkway is about 125 acres a mile, she said, but scenic easements could be controlled without purchase in many cases. She proposed the county ridge route from the Stinson Beach Highlands to Tomales should be a county parkway.

Coleman said agriculture will remain in West Marin for many years, and plans can be made now to keep ranching in the area forever by requiring large average lot sizes and then allowing cluster residential developments.

State law should be changed to give the public a chance to be heard on the question of the design of state highways, not just on the routes as is now the case, Mrs. Summers declared. She advocated that delay freeway agreements with the state until the design of highway projects can be approved.

Coleman agreed.

The dangerous sand bar at the entrance to Tomales Bay can be corrected. Mrs. Summers predicted. She suggested the Army Corps of Engineers be asked to make a study of the project.

Public access to the east shore of the bay should be reserved wherever possible, she urged.

At the south end of the bay, a water park, with dredged channels and new islands, was proposed. Further dredging was asked by Coleman to eliminate flood hazards for the commercial recreation area planned between Point Reyes Station and Olema.

Britons Testing Bookie Machine

LONDON (UPI) — Automation is about to hit Britain's legalized betting industry.

Robot bookies nicknamed "Honest Robert" will automatically collect bets and issue receipts at factories. The machines are intended to replace "runners"—men employed by bookmakers to collect bets from their fellow workers.

The home office said today the betting and gaming act permits factory runners and "presumably a runner could either be a human or a machine standing against the wall."

Hub City Man Jailed On Charge Of Beating Date

An unemployed truck driver was jailed by San Anselmo police yesterday on charges of beating his girl friend and forcing her to give him $25.

Frederick Elijah Whitman, 24, of 807 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was booked on a charge of strong-arm robbery. Bail was set at $5,500. He was scheduled to be arraigned this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Anderson, 24, of San Francisco told police Whitman beat her in a San Rafael restaurant, in an automobile, and in his San Anselmo home, forced her to give him $25, and threatened to kill her and her two small children if she told.

The trouble, she said, started Sunday night in the restaurant, where Mrs. Anderson accompanied Whitman and his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Stone, with whom he shares the San Anselmo home.

They began arguing in the restaurant, Mrs. Anderson told police. She left. Whitman and his mother followed her, forced her into their car. There he beat her again, then drove her to the San Anselmo home.

As she was in the bathroom washing the blood from her face, Whitman broke open the door and began beating her again, she related. She fled, but he followed her, struck her again, and demanded her money.

Mrs. Anderson said she gave him $25, but he continued to beat her until a taxicab arrived, warning her not to tell or he would kill her and the children.

The taxi took Mrs. Anderson to the police station, where she swore out a complaint. Police went to the home but found Whitman had left. At 2 p.m. yesterday, however, he walked into the police station and surrendered.

Next Time Maybe He'll Try The Train Instead

SLEAFORD, England (UPI)—Truckdriver John Hyland, 47, fastened a winch to a railway track in an effort to pull his truck out of the mud.

The truck didn't move, but the tracks were pulled six inches out of line, police said yesterday as a magistrate ordered Hyland to stand trial on charges of obstructing a train.

Spectators Ouster Leads To Mistrial In Obscenity Case

A mistrial motion by the defense attorney of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kenneth McCurdy, both charged with displaying an obscene sign about communism on their Sausalito houseboat, was granted in Marin Municipal Court yesterday because a well-meaning bailiff ordered a trio of young girls from the courtroom.

William B. Wolfson, counsel for the couple, told Judge David R. Baty the action of Bailiff Ben Pope influenced the jury panel in the dirty-word trial.

Pope said he felt the girls—all about 13 and there as spectators — shouldn't hear the four-letter words being mentioned.

New trial date is Aug. 24.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

When Teen-Agers Have Many Pimples Blackheads Condition Is Abnormal

VAN DELLEN

Acne is normal during adolescence but it need not be the tragedy of youth. When teen-agers have pimples and blackheads galore, along with deep abscesses, the condition is abnormal. The cause usually is total neglect, overtreatment, or too much squeezing. These boys and girls have a true disease rather than a passing annoyance.

The deeper the pustules extend into the skin, the greater the chance of developing scars. Heat should be applied so that the pimples can come to a head spontaneously. Deeper abscesses must be lanced, to minimize scarring. Squeezing is taboo.

THERE ARE MANY causes of acne but in general, the oil secreting glands are too active. The result is greasy skin and enlarged pores. Cleanliness is the first rule in eradicating the eruption. Washing the face three times a day removes bacteria, oil, and dead skin. Ordinary soap is used except in the more severe cases, which require a detergent soap such as Acne-aid or one containing hexachlorophene; or skin cleansers like Brasivol or Fostex. A medicated pad is available for day time use. Its content of salicylic acid and alcohols is designed to cleanse the skin and keep down excessive oiliness.

The second recommendation is to apply a cosmetically acceptable product that leads to slight peeling of the skin. Creams or cakes containing sulfur are popular and are effective when applied twice a day, especially at night after washing the face. Treatment should not be discontinued when the skin becomes dry; this can be alleviated with a cream such as Nivea.

Pustules are caused by bacterial invasion of the hair follicles. Antibiotics are used occasionally but the results usually are temporary. Vaccines also are available to build up immunity against the causative organisms.

The relationship between diet and acne is a moot question but it is logical to avoid any foods that aggravate the skin lesions. Maintain good health by ample sleep and out of door activities. Sunshine helps to dry the blemishes.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

ARTHRITIS FROM INFECTIONS

D. L. writes: What is infectious arthritis?

REPLY

A form of arthritis caused by the invasion of a joint by a specific organism. It differs from the aching in the areas of joints that occurs when an individual has a cold or following the use of a vaccine.

MENTAL RETARDATION

M. B. writes: Are all mongoloids considered idiots?

REPLY

No—and this is why the term, mongolian idiot, has been discarded. Mongoloids usually reach a mental age of 6 or 7. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on mongolism.

CAUSE OF BLEEDING

B. A. writes: Could bleeding hemorrhoids become cancerous if not attended to?

REPLY

No. But consult your physician to determine whether the blood is coming from hemorrhoids or from cancer of the rectum.

SAME AS BEFORE

M. M. writes: Is it true that the heart of a man who has recovered from coronary thrombosis can become as good as before the heart attack?

REPLY

Yes, even though the basic cause (hardening of the coronary arteries) remains.

Flames Damage Petaluma Stores

PETALUMA (AP)—Fire, starting in a downtown tavern early today, burned two stores. Four others were damaged by smoke and water. Firemen estimated loss at $300,000.

Nobody was injured. Forty firemen with 10 trucks fought the blaze from 3:15 a.m. to 7 a.m. The fire fighters included volunteers from Cotati, Penngrove, Rohnert Park and a unit from the State Forestry Division.

Cause of the blaze was being investigated.

Mundt Pens New Passport Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) said today he is preparing new legislation to prevent Communists from obtaining passports.

He deplored a recent Supreme Court decision striking down a provision of the 1950 Internal Security Act banning the issuance of passports to members of organizations required to register as Communist groups.

Mundt gave no details of the new legislation he plans to introduce.

Marin Artists Honored At Napa County Fair

Two Marin artists won prizes in the profession division of the Napa County Fair's art show last week.

Eleanor Foster of Corte Madera won first prize for a still life in oil paint and third prize for a landscape in pastels.

Marie Kincade of San Rafael won second prize for her oil painting of a landscape.

Survivors Sought

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—U.S. boats and planes were searching off Bermuda's south coast today for 12 American airmen missing after the collision of two Air Force planes during a space training mission. The planes plunged into the Atlantic yesterday as parachuting airmen were running a test rescue operation for the two-man Gemini space project. There were 24 men in the two planes. Seven were rescued. Five bodies had been recovered last night.

Special Meet Set

Sausalito - Marin City Sanitary District directors will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at 201 Caledonia Street to approve the county assessment roll, Edwin S. Long, secretary, said today. The roll is sent to the district so that sewer service charges may be affixed said Long.

Novato Faces New Sewer Line Problem

The Novato Sanitary District may be required to build a force main into the bay and stop discharging effluent into Novato Creek, Charles Joseph, engineer-manager, last night told the board.

Joseph read the proposed new requirements of the Regional Water Pollution Control Board, which are set for public hearing on July 16. These raise the standards for bacteria count and request the Novato Sanitary District to stop discharging into Novato Creek and "remove to an area away from water contact sports."

"When we contructed the disposal plants in 1958, Novato Creek was designated a drainage canal. Now the water pollution control board wants to designate it a recreation area for swimming and water skiing," Joseph said.

"I do not have any idea what it would cost to construct such a force main," he told the board.

The board authorized a master plan study by Jenks and Adamson of Palo Alto, to cost $12,000. This will be ready in about eight months, Joseph said.

Marvin L. Kinney of Pleasant Hill, was hired as an engineering assistant for $575 per month, to begin work next Monday. The board authorized the hiring of a construction inspector for $525.

The board called for an election on Sept. 8 of Edwin Grundstrom and Carlos Rivamonte, which will expire. Filing for the positions opens July 10 and closes July 30.

Rivamonte said he will file for re-election. Grundstrom said he has not yet made up his mind.

July meetings were set for July 7, 13, and 29.

Human Rights Membership Is Restricted

The Marin County Board of Supervisors agreed today that city representatives on the county human rights commission must be mayors or councilmen.

The City of Novato had suggested that Mrs. Patricia Reynolds be named for that city, but the commission executive board turned the name down.

San Rafael mayor John F. McInnis, as head of the Marin County Council of Mayors, sent a letter to the supervisors saying he knew of no restriction on the city appointments and that he thought the supervisors were to do the appointing, not the commission members themselves.

The board also received a letter from commission secretary Wyman Hicks saying the board resolution said the supervisors would act only on recommendations from the commission executive board.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman asked that Mrs. Reynolds be appointed, but not as the official representative of the city.

County administrator Alan Bruce suggested the present limit on the number of commission members be eliminated, but asked for more time to prepare a formal resolution which, he hoped, would solve the problem.

Men Organize To Assist Hospital

A small group of men last night began organization of the new men's division of San Rafael General Hospital's volunteers, to serve primarily in emergencies and disasters.

John K. Chipps of 988 Del Ganado, Terra Linda, will serve as chairman pro tem. All at the meeting have had some training in emergency procedures, said Arthur G. Burns, hospital administrator.

The group agreed to meet again Aug. 3, and regularly after that on the first Monday of the month, at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital dining room. Burns said he hoped to have 30 to 40 members eventually. Interested persons may notify him at the hospital.

Tree Serves In Lieu Of Car Brakes For Her

A 38-year-old Vallejo woman steered into a tree to stop her car when the brakes failed in front of 238 D Street at 8:10 a.m. yesterday, San Rafael police reported.

The driver, Irene Williams, was taken to San Rafael General Hospital where she was under observation today for undertermined injuries.

Pedestrian Injured In Downstown Street Fall

George Barbera, 64, of 912 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, suffered a cut left hip when he collapsed in front of the Greyhound Bus Depot at Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue at 11 p.m. yesterday.

Barbera was treated at San Rafael General Hospital and sent home. The cause of his collapse was not determined.

Dog Bites Child

Mrs. Shirley Garcia of 50 Greenwood Way, Mill Valley, reported to police yesterday that between 5 and 5:15 p.m. her German shepherd dog bit Gary T. Klementovich, 12, of 5 Stanton Way on his right arm above the wrist. The youth was treated by Dr. Joseph Moore and Mrs. Garcia was advised to keep the dog confined 14 days.

Supervisors Retain Old Publicity Policy

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today agreed to continue as in the past to allocate funds to chambers of commerce and other booster organizations.

County Administrator Alan Bruce withdrew his proposal that a lump sum be given to the Marin County Development Assn. to allocate to local organizations for specific projects.

He gained approval, however, for his request that the amounts given be held to no more than were granted this fiscal year. The total county budget for promotion and publications came to $82,850. The board agreed to give the Tiburon and Corte Madera chambers each $500 because they had never made a request before.

Discussion on this part of the county budget, the last section to be considered, started yesterday with requests by Richard P. Nave of Novato and Robert W. F. Severin of San Rafael for increases in the budgets for their local chambers.

Today Charles D. Helbig of the Marin Visitors' Bureau asked for a $3,000 increase, and said he would also like a separate appropriation to help finance the 1965 May in Marin celebration, which ran in the red this year.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he felt the organizations should make stronger efforts to gain funds from non-governmental sources, and Supervisor William D. Fusselman agreed, saying the general taxpayer is not directly benefited.

Bruce called for a unification of efforts by chambers of commerce into a county-wide program, but said that such activities could wait a year if the supervisors decide to contract for the second phase of the Stanford Research Institute report.

Phase Two of the report is supposed to tell the county how to go about attracting industry and businesses to improve the county tax base.

As finally recommended, the Novato chamber will receive $3,000, San Anselmo $500, Sausalito $1,000, San Rafael $7,200, Mill Valley $1,500, Tiburon $500, and Corte Madera $500. The allocation for the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum was raised to $5,000.

ment heads right now, so the period of optimism will be as short as possible."

The specific changes approved would cost the county about $12,000, which was subtracted from the $175,000 set aside in the 1964-65 county budget for salary increases.

A meeting will be set up in July to consider revamping the salary ordinance and any pay raises which might go along with it. Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he could not make an intelligent decision from the recommendation made by Elliott, since it had no supporting information.

Several department heads appeared to support Elliott's proposed change in the county salary structure. Some asked that the effective date be earlier than Jan. 1, although an early change would cost the county more.

Youngsters Flock To Sausalito Play Signup Sessions

Sausalito registered 140 children yesterday for the summer recreation program sponsored by the city recreation commission at Central School, according to Willard A. Hall, commission chairman.

Children began participation in a sports program directed by Robbie G. Harvey of Marin City and an arts and crafts program directed by Mrs. Joan O'Connor of San Francisco.

The Monday through Friday sessions begin at 12:30 p.m. daily and end at 4:30 p.m. and will continue through Aug. 7. Children from kindergarten through eighth grade are welcome but younger children must be accompanied by an adult, said Hall. The program is free except for a charge for crafts materials.

Hall also announced that Jerry Taylor, 17, of Sausalito has been hired as assistant sports director.

Woman Senator Also Denies Tale

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The office of Sen. Maurine Neuberger (D-Ore.) today said the lady lawmaker does not plan to marry Dr. Philip Solomon of Boston.

Mrs. Neuberger declined to meet directly with newsmen, but an aide said she affirms the statement issued by Dr. Solomon yesterday.

Solomon, a psychiatrist at Boston City Hospital, had denied published reports that he was to marry Mrs. Neuberger. "There is absolutely no truth to that report. I deny it categorically," Dr. Solomon said.

OBITUARIES

Frank Miner Succumbs

Frank L. Miner of 112 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Miner, 77, was a partner in Bianco Motors Inc. of San Rafael until his retirement in 1954.

A native of North Dakota, he came to San Rafael from Lodi in 1923. He worked as a salesman for various auto agencies, eventually moving from a sales position with Bianco into partnership in the firm.

He was a member of Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons, Marin Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and the Ross Valley Camera Club.

Surviving are his wife, Marian A. Miner; a son, Leonard W. Miner of Novato; a brother, Lee A. Miner of Santa Cruz, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Thursday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, under auspices of Marin Lodge 191, F&AM. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

HILDA BECKETT

Funeral for Mrs. Hilda Beckett, a resident of Marin County for 12 years before she moved to Palo Alto in 1938, will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at Roller and Hapgood funeral home in Palo Alto.

Mrs. Beckett who was 78, died at home after a long illness. She was a native of Norway and active in many organizations, including the Marin Garden Club, Stanford University Mothers' Club, Palo Alto Art Club and Florence Crittenton Home Society. She was formerly a member of First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

She is survived by her husband, Ernest J. Beckett; two sons, Richard W. Beckett of Millbrae and John R. Beckett of Atherton and four grandchildren.

Intombment will be at Alta Mesa Memorial Park in Los Altos.

EVELYN CARROLL

Requiem High Mass for Mrs. Evelyn Carroll, 84, of 794 Story Book Court, Novato, will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Mrs. Carroll died Sunday at a local rest home after long illness.

She was born April 4, 1880, in San Francisco. She resided there until moving to Novato 10 years ago to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Edna Smith.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lottie Shipmann of Napa, and two grandchildren.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 a.m. today at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

A. E. LINDEMANN

Private funeral services were held yesterday for Adolph E. Lindemann, 67, of 24 Tyler Street, Novato, who died Saturday in a local rest home after a long illness.

Lindemann was born Arpil 1, 1897, in Chicago, and lived there until he retired three years ago to move to Novato where he made his home with his son, Burton A. Lindemann. He had been an automotive mechanic and had worked for the Chain Belt Co. in Chicago prior to retiring.

He is survived by two sons, Burton and Lawrence W. Lindemann of Wheaton, Ill.; three brothers, Elmer and George of Los Angeles and Harold of Chicago; three sisters, Mrs. Bernice Zimmerman and Alice Lindemann of Chicago, and three grandchildren.

Burial will be in Clarendon Hills Cemetery, Clarendon Hills, Ill.

LOUIS MORESCO

Louis Moresco, 69, of San Francisco, father of Mrs. Francine Blum of San Anselmo, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Death apparently resulted from a head injury he suffered in April when he fell while working at the Sturiale Fish Co. in Sausalito, according to William C. Bradley, assistant coroner. An autopsy was scheduled to be performed today.

A native of Italy, Moresco is survived by his wife, Ann V. Moresco; two daughters, Mrs. Marin Bellante of San Mateo and Mrs. Blum; a son, Ronald Moresco of Oakland; a brother, Fortunato of Redwood City, and six grandchildren.

Solemn Requiem High Mass will be offered at St. Peter and Paul's Church on Filbert Street between Powell and Stockton streets, San Francisco, at 9:45 a.m. Thursday. Entombment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma.

FAIRFAX FOLKS SEE RED OVER BUDGET

Citizens, Department Heads Complain Over Bond Issue Vs. Lagging Salaries

Tempers flared and the fur flew last night at Fairfax City Council's second budget hearing, as a surplus of expenditures and shortage of revenue threatened city employees' salaries.

The council was not only faced with grumbling city employees, but also subjected to heated blasts from a small portion but highly vocal audience.

Councilmen had barely begun deliberating the problem of changing Rolfe M. Ockenden from part-time to full-time building inspector, when Mrs. Joseph Ghiringhelli of Deer Park Villa arose to loudly protest the process of budget cutting itself.

"Once a year you come here and bicker and bicker," she told the councilmen," but it's always thumbs down on a salary increase. It is a disgrace what the police department gets. . .

"It's a damn shame that a man takes home $375," she continued (referring to after-deductions pay of one city street laborer.) "I would like to see you gentlemen dig ditches for that."

Councilmen were still attempting to answer when Mrs. Gheringhelli abruptly left.

The task of restoring order fell to Mayor Cornelis Van Vliet, and it wasn't easy.

"I would like to hear what some department heads have to say," suggested Councilman George A. Pagni.

"As far as I know, every police and fire department in the county has been given raises," answered Police Chief James Orr. "How come we can't make it? Why are we falling backward, and still going broke?"

"What do we do," shot back Councilman Arrigoni, "just raise the salaries every year? It's about time we started doing things for the people of Fairfax."

City Clerk Alice Leonesio said the council, by planning to pay off a proposed city hall improvement bond without a tax increase, was taking money that could be used for salary increases.

"We don't think anyone will vote for the bond issue if it has a tax increase," protested Arrigoni. "We are keeping it low. A high bond issue will never pass in Fairfax." (Amount of the proposed bond issue has not yet come out in public meetings of the councitl.)

"Do you intend to keep the city employees on the same salaries for the next 25 years?" cut in Mrs. Leonesio. "Is that what the bond issue is?"

Richard Nelson, new director of public works, said he "was sure" his employees wished higher salaries.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton not only protested low salaries, but found to his dismay that council might not be willing to uphold a once-promised $570 maximum monthly salary for firemen and police patrolmen with 18 months duty.

"When we hired men last year, they were promised $570 as a maximum salary figure," said Thornton. We need a personnel ordinance to let a man know what he is doing."

"That's what we are trying to do," protested Arrigoni.

George M. Cowell of 60 San Gabriel Drive, wanted to know why the city could not increase its source of revenue. He asked what the problem was, since "the city is not on a static income."

Mrs. Delores Forni of Deer Park Villa demanded, "Do you think you will get your money's worth out of a man if he has to work double time? It's penny wise and pound foolish."

"You can bet your life, we will have something next year," said Arrigoni.

"But if you table it now," she shot back, "what happens in six months? How are you going to get good people to stay?"

Which became just what the council did about salaries last night—tabled them, until Aug. 24, when Fairfax's assessed valuations are tabulated, then council will have time to consider exact revenues for the next fiscal year, members said.

With only half the meeting left, council began to make swift appraisals of department budgets. Budget cutting was quickly accomplished with well sharpened pencils.

Chief victim was police chief Orr, ringing his hands in dismay as the council tried to decide whether he should get a part-time clerk or a new patrolman—but definitely not both.

At present policemen receive no extra pay to appear in court on their own time. His department, he indicated, is also desperately short of help. He was offered the choice between paid court appearances and the clerk versus a new patrolman.

"That's a good question," he told the council. "I'll be like you fellows, I need more time to think about that one."

Tentative figures for each department by the time the council adjourned at 9:45 p.m. were: police department, $72,877; fire department, $74,143; general government, $66,625; public works (engineering), $16,594; public works (streets) $57,054; and parks and recreation $13,686, according to City Clerk Leonesio.

Balloons May Be Halfway To Moon By Now

Where, oh where have 546 balloons gone?

That's become the theme song of the San Rafael Recreation Department, which sponsored "Operation Blast-Off" last Thursday when 550 colored balloons, with postcards attached, were sent into the air by children participating in the summer recreation program.

Only four postcards have been returned to the community center, Dennis Sullivan, assistant recreation director, said today.

Most traveled balloon of the four reported was freed at the Hartzell School playground and was found by 9-year-old Caulfield of 6 Van Ripper Court, Sleepy Hollow, in some bushes near her home.

Two balloons launched by youngsters at San Pedro School were found less than a mile from the playgrounds.

The retail merchants division of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce has offered $5 merchandise orders to the finder and launcher of the farthest sailing balloon. Smaller prizes will be awarded to senders of other far-flying balloons.

Sullivan urged that finders send or bring the cards to the recreation center, 37 Union Street, San Rafael.

"They just couldn't have disappeared into thin air," he said.

684 Protests Received On Sausalito Appraisal

County Clerk George H. Gnoss said today 684 proests at the county assessor's appraisals have been received by his office from Sausalito.

"Although the supervisors have elected to delay formal consideration of these letters until after the equalization hearings set for mid July," said A. L. Bjorklund Jr., Sausalito chamber of commerce president, today, "We want the citizens to know that immediately upon conclusion of these hearings, this issue will be presented to the board for formal action."

Novato Establishes Protocol On Parks

When Novato plans parks it is the job of the planning commission to locate them, the job of the city council to find the money to buy them, and of the parks and recreation advisory commission to say what should go on them.

This was the conclusion reached last night at the first joint meeting of the Novato planning commission and parks and recreation commission.

Robert Lagle, city planning director, said state law sets forth the duties of the planning commission.

The federally assisted North Marin master plan will outline a complete park system of 36 parks for Novato, Lagle disclosed.

"I think the planning grant will go too far in making complete plans for the parks." he said.

"They not only will tell you where the parks should be, but they will tell you the size and what should be in each park."

Lagle said that after the master plan is approved by the council, it is up to the planning commission "to make sure the parks are reserved."

Alfred Bellucci of the planning commission took exception to this. "You can't keep a man from developing his land just because you may want to put a park on it someday," he declared. He advocated that the parks and recreation commission give the planning commission a priority list after the master plan is submitted.

Alton Lerch of the parks and recreation commission, proposed a parks committee to be composed of members of both commissions, the city administrator, a councilman, and a school representative. The suggestion was discussed, but no action taken on it.

Lerch also asked for better "communications" between the two commissions, the city council and staff. Robert R. Johnson, planning commission chairman, said there will be other joint meetings of the commissions soon.

Lagle said the preliminary master plan for parks would be ready in "late August or September."

Planning Commissioner Merton Shelton suggested a bond issue to buy parks.

'Marshal J' Trial Date Put Off To September

Jury trial date for Jay Alexander, television's "Marshal J" who is charged with assault and battery on a Sausalito waiter, was postponed in Marin Municipal Court today until Sept. 23.

Alexander, 37, allegedly assaulted William Capilos, 49, in Sausalito's Spinnaker Restaurant on April 11.

Election Theme In Reader Contest

"Vote for Books" reading club starts tomorrow at the Kentfield-Ross Branch of the Marin County Library.

Miss Ann Woodhull will conduct story time at the branch each Wednesday from 4 to 4:30 p.m.

Chicken Thief Invades His Refrigerator, Yet

Edward Claude McGrath of 41 Coleman Drive, San Rafael reported a chicken thief to San Rafael police last night . . . a cooked chicken, at that.

Someone entered the McGrath home through an unlocked rear door and took a cooked chicken and other foods from the refrigerator and two $1 bills and a silver dollar from a dresser drawer in a bedroom, police reported.

Man Wanted In Check Case Is Captured

A man wanted for bad checks in Berkeley was captured by Sausalito Police Sgt. Howard Goerndt last night in a "mountain goat" chase up the steep Excelsior Lane stairs between Bridgeway and Bulkley Avenue.

Alfred W. Reed, alias J. M. Shaull, a 52-year-old seaman, proved no match for the sergeant at speed up Sausalito hillsides. He was taken, still puffing, to the county jail and booked "en route to Berkeley." He gave a Montgomery Street address in San Francisco.

Lt. David Cooper of Sausalito police said Reed is wanted on 11 felony counts in Berkeley, and wanted under the name of Shaull in 12 other cities in the bay area. Reed is reported to have written $40,000 in bad checks in the area, Cooper said. He reported bail for the suspect has been set at $28,000 on an Alameda County warrant.

Eugene Clivio, manager of the Eureka Market at 687 Bridgeway, called police at 6:15 after he found he had cashed a $20 check which had the name "Shaull" pasted over the name "Mangum."

Goerndt, who knew Reed (or Shaull) by sight, went looking for him. He saw his man near the foot of the concrete stairs which run from Bridgeway up the hill to Bulkley Avenue.

Reed took off—uphill. Goerndt bounded in pursuit. At the top of the stairs, he collared the suspect.

Reed admitted cashing the check at Eureka Market and handed over the $20, police reported.

Movie Is Next Week

The full-length color movie "Toby Tyler" will be shown by the San Rafael Recreation Department at 10 a.m. July 9, not Thursday this week, as incorrectly reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal. The showing is at the recreation center, 37 Union Street.

Homeowners To Protest Lucas Valley Project

The Lucas Valley Homeowners Assn. last night repected builder Joseph Eichler's proposals for changes in the Lucas Valley planned community zone.

The association's board of directors and some 50 members present at a meeting at the community center voted a four-part protest against the proposals to be presented to the county planning commission next Monday.

The protest petition, drawn up by Bruce Flanagan, association vice president, declares:

1. Eichler's proposal to eliminate townhouses east of Mount Shasta Drive and substitute about 44 single-family homes without provision for recreational facilities "violates . . . the original agreement between homeowners and Eichler Homes Inc."

2. The change to single-family homes would eliminate a church site.

3. Proposed move of the commercial site from Mount Shasta Drive and Idylberry Road "to an extreme corner of the development" would create traffic problems.

4. If the commercial site is moved, single-family homes should be placed where it is now shown, rather than in the townhouse area.

Stanley Dorst, association president, said the approximately 300 homeowners in Lucas Valley will be asked to sign the petition and to write letters to the planning commission.

Bank Theft Hunt Turns To Marin

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI was reported today to be checking information that an Oakland bank employee, sought since the disappearance of $188,440, still is in the Bay Area.

Agents have searched at Tiburon, Sausalito and in San Francisco's North Beach for Charles Nelson, 20, a messenger who walked out of the Oakland Bank of Commerce a week ago.

At that time, there were reports the young man had spoken about going to Mexico.

His mother, Mrs. Sophie Lajeunesse of Oakland, said she has heard nothing from her son. She has expressed belief "someone else got him to do it."

Boy Caught While Returning Auto

San Rafael police arrested a 15-year-old San Rafael boy on a charge of joy riding last night as he was returning a car that had been reported stolen from the Safeway Store parking lot at 700 B Street.

Willma Fay Lee of 45 Woodland Avenue reported at 9:30 p.m. that her car had been taken from the lot between 11:30 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Officer Gerald R. Green spotted the youth driving the car into the lot and arrested him. The boy was taken to Juvenile Hall.

New Friend Is Expensive, Rider Finds

A Mill Valley man reported to police at 4:01 p.m. yesterday that a man who gave him a ride home from a Lytton Square bar later removed a $1,500 etching from his bedroom wall and took $365 worth of other belongings.

Byron Lundstrom said the thief, who spoke with a slight French accent, had told him he was on his way to Alaska to find work. "He is 25 and gave his name as Roger and he is an excellent pool player," Lundstrom told police.

Lundstrom, who lives at 200 Elinor Avenue, said he was at the Old Mill Tavern, 106 Throckmorton Avenue, at closing time. He accepted a ride home with "Roger."

At his home Lundstrom offered Roger a drink, he said, had one himself and then went to bed under the impression that Roger had left the house.

On arising, Lundstrom discovered some of his belongings missing from the top of his dresser and the 8-by-20 inch etching, "Nude Bathers" by Andres Zorn, missing from its frame.

Also taken, Lundstrom told officers, was $35 in cash, a Swiss 14 karat wrist watch valued at $110, two cigarette lighters valued at $8, two suits valued at $112 and $85, a $15 pig skin valise, and charge plates for Macy's and the White House department stores.

Would-Be Intruder Splinters Home Door

Marlis Ann Ross of 503 D Street, San Rafael, reported to police at 12:34 a.m. today that a prowler attempted to break into her home through a rear door.

Police said the door was splintered and the latch broken.

Higher Budget In Marin City

Marin City Community Services district directors last night adopted a 1964-65 budget of $6,470 and agreed to continue the present tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

The 1964-65 budget is higher than the estimated revenue, reported John A. Thomson, secretary, but it is hoped more money will come in from building rent as well as gifts and donations. The current budget is $4,711.

The budget is up, said Thomson, because $1,500 has been earmarked for the "total education" program to start next month and because of increase expenditures for services such as street lighting, fire hydrants and building maintenance.

Harrison N. Bailey, business manager, in a report of the annual revenue, said the district has a "good balance" of nearly $2,600. Mrs. Juanita S. Cobb, whose term ended this month, was thanked by the board for her six years service as director.

Self-Regulating?

LONDON (UPI)—Lord Shawcross, a leading British lawyer, complained last night that a recent investigation into the conduct of two policemen was conducted by the policemen themselves. Shawcross charged that there was no law giving the government power to compel an independent investigation.

District Keeps Same Officers

Jesse E. Berry was re-elected chairman of the Marin City Community Services District last night to serve a two-year period.

Also re-elected were C. J. Williams, vice chairman, and John A. Thomson, secretary. Mrs. Vivian Barron was elected treasurer.

Skyral Sweeney, also a director, was appointed as "roving ambassador" to attend daytime meetings and report to the board. Sweeney works at night.

The District of Columbia was named in honor of Christopher Columbus.

Debt Limit Rises To Record High

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson yesterday signed legislation raising the temporary debt limit to a record breaking $324 billion.

The national debt currently totals about $312 billion.

An increase was necessary to keep the government on a bill-paying basis. The previous $315 billion temporary ceiling was enacted in October and was due to drop to $309 billion on June 30, then to the permanent level the next day.

Dredging Urged In Mariner Cove

Corte Madera Town Council last night authorized a study to determine whether San Clemente Creek running through Mariner Cove poses an immediate flood threat.

At issue is whether the creek must be dredged during 1964-65 or whether the project can be delayed a year.

Mariner Cove residents jammed the council chambers in a bid for immediate dredging. More than 80 were on hand, some sitting on counters and standing in the doorway, and others outside peering through open windows.

After an hour-and-a-half hearing, the council agreed that it could not make a decision on the dredging until it had a study of the creek elevation.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said if the study shows conditions at the creek are serious, residents "will get quick action."

The study is expected to take about a month and cost about $300.

Town Mgr. Arthur M. Brandow said the project could be delayed a year.

Herber C. Leney, chairman of the board of Mariner Cove Improvement Assn., asked that funds for dredging the creek and its branches be placed in the town's 1964-65 budget.

The creek bed has filled with mud, silt and growth creating a flood control problem, Leney said.

"It is generally agreed that the condition of the channel is serious and the town is required to provide drainage," he said. "The only difference seems to be as to the time fhen the channel must be cleaned out. Two prominent engineers who know the area advise that it should be done now before private property is damaged."

Daniel P. Coleman, San Rafael engineer who helped plan the area surrounding the creek, has stated the creek should be dredged as soon as possible to provide proper drainage, Leney said. Also, he declared, Arthur Roth of the engineering firm of Oglesby, Jacobs and Wickham of San Rafael has observed the accumulation of fill in the creek bed and said the creek bed should be cleaned out before flooding occurs.

R. E. Rich, president and general manager of Associated Dredging Co. of Sausalito, who originally dredged the channel, said the dredging would cost from $20,000 to $25,000.

Brandow said a $20,000 expenditure would add 20 cents to the town's tax rate.

Leney said Dominic Muzzi of Millbrae, owner of an unimproved tract north of Mariner Cove, would be willing to pay for part of the dredging and would permit silt removed from the channel to be placed on his land if the job is done immediately. This would represent a saving to the town, Leney said.

Brandow said that is was a hard decision to leave the dredging out of his recommended 1964-65 budget, but said it should be in the next budget.

Councilman Albert E. Kogler asked if there is proper drainage in the area now. Brandow answered, "We have adequate drainage to get us through this coming winter."

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton suggested that if the residents want further improvements to the creek for navigation or small boat waterway, they could consider forming a special district and applying for federal and state funds.

Robert Wohlden of 314 Main Street, Sausalito, a bartender at the Valhalla Inn, was given first aid by firemen at 9:15 p.m. yesterday after he reportedly fell and injured his head at Johnson Street and Bridgeway. Wohlden was taken to Marin General Hospital for treatment.

Richardson Bay Issue To Get More Hearings

After four hours of looking at maps of Richardson Bay and hearing sometimes impassioned pleas from engineers, attorneys and planning consultants, the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday concluded it was not yet ready to make a proposal to county supervisors on where dredging lines should be drawn on the bay's master plan.

Commissioners voted to resume the hearing at their regular meeting next Monday, only session remaining before the July 7 deadline set by the supervisors for their recommendations.

They also made it clear they were not wholly satisfied with the presentations made during the afternoon hearing, and attempted to set some guidelines for how they could be improved — and shortened — the next time.

Commissioner Felix M. Warburg objected to several aspects of the lengthy testimony.

Warburg complained that the commission had received one-sided presentation in the question of "private vs. public" use of tidelands. Only one individual — former county planning director Mary Summers — had spoken on behalf of the Conservation League plan presented earlier to the supervisors, he noted, while nearly all others had voiced the views of private interests, with several openly blasting the Conservation League proposal.

He also expressed "shock" at astronomonical figures used by some of the private-interest spokesmen in estimating the cost of the plan presented by Mrs. Summers.

Chairman Niels Schultz Jr. indicated he had strong reservations about the Conservation League plan, in which the county would acquire privately owned tidelands for a "marina green" between the Commodore seaplane base and Rosedale Canal.

Schultz said he felt the county might consider a bond issue or other financing plan later on to acquire such lands, "but in the meantime there must be a responsible alternative for private development.

"Either we have a private enterprise system or we don't," he said.

The commission also heard Planning Director B. D. Dobb's recommendations that dredging lines be moved out from their original location before they were deleted from the master plan, and that the Saucelito Canal be dredged to six feet.

But, commissioners noted at the hearing's end, they had heard almost nothing about the report of San Francisco consultants Lee and Prazsker, hired earlier to find how much filled area would be produced by dredging the bay and channel.

Commissioners appeared hopeful the afternoon had given various groups a chance to give vent to their emotions, so that Monday they could get down to the question of where dredging lines could be drawn on the map.

They instructed Dobbs and the interested parties to work out a better system of clearly marked maps and overlays, so that quick visual comparisons could be made of the different proposals.

Mill Valley Asks For Ratio On Bay Water, Fill Plans

Four Mill Valley planning commissioners, meeting Saturday with two city councilmen, decided they could not evolve an "instant plan" for a proposed permanent pierhead and bulkhead line for Richardson Bay.

They agreed, said Robert C. Mountjoy, planning commission chairman, to ask the Marin County Planning Commission to see if the line could not represent a ratio of water and land . . . and that, no matter how the bay were shaped, it could still have the same amount of both.

"The one hope is that there be flexibility to the line established and that we can go ahead with our East Mill Valley general plan and work closely with the Bothin interests, developers," said Mountjoy.

County Listens To Water Plan Foe

Dist. Atty. John A. Nejedly of Contra Costa County appeared before the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday to seek support in his county's fight to hold up construction of the San Luis drain in the San Joaquin Valley.

The supervisors said they would check into the problem, consulting with officials of the Marin Municipal and North Marin County water districts, before taking action.

Nejedly said the drain, a part of the federal participation in the California State Water Project, would dump agricultural wastes, including salts and pesticides, into the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta at Antioch. He said the chemical could affect fish life throughout San Francisco Bay.

Winter Withering Argentine Fields

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Argentina shivered today in the fourth week of its worst cold wave in 15 years, and even colder weather was reported on the way.

Heavy damage has been done to vineyards and orchards by winter weather that has sent the mercury as low as 10 below zero in the "frozen south," where a new mass of antarctic air was reported inching its way northward.

Holdup Turns Out To Be Suicide Try

Greyhound bus driver Robert Arbogast thought he had a robbery on his hands for a few moments Saturday night. Then he knew better.

While driving his bus south near the south tower of the Golden Gate Bridge at 6:25 p.m., Arbogast felt a hard object being poked into his ribs.

He was ordered to stop the bus and let Thelma Patton, 37, of San Francisco off on the bridge. Mrs. Patton ran to the railing, but was prevented from jumping over by Arbogast who quickly followed her.

She was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

How many times will you vote today?

UNDER our American political system you get a chance to vote in our national elections every two years. Under our American economic system you vote many times each day—every time you make a purchase.

No one can calculate the number of individual purchases—from groceries to gasoline—that are made in this country each day. But we know they must far exceed 700 million. (By contrast, even an election as vital as our presidential election is expected to draw less than 70 million votes this year.)

This infinitely complex process of voting—by buying or not buying the goods and services offered in our free market—is a wonderfully democratic mechanism. It continually registers the ever-changing needs and wishes of all the people in the country—directing what should be produced, at what price, and in what quantities.

The curling iron gives way to the home permanent; the celluloid collar is replaced by the wash-and-wear shirt; not because of any governmental edict, but simply because the American people "vote" them in and out of existence.

Ironically, communism and socialism—which purport to be "economic systems of the masses"—are the least democratic of all. The people have little opportunity to "vote" on what they want. Instead, a central authority determines for them what shall be produced, how much, and where it will be distributed.

In this country the "private segment" of our economy (which accounts for 4/5 of our Gross National Product) is literally and truly directed by the "votes" of the people. For that reason the economic system of the United States is the most democratic institution the world has ever known.

CORE Wants GOP Rights Foes Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Congress of Racial Equality wants the Republican National Convention to denounce Sen. Barry Goldwater and every other GOP congressman who voted against the civil rights bill.

CORE laid down yesterday a series of demands it says it will make when the convention's platform committee meets here next month. The convention is scheduled for July 13-16.

CORE national program director Norman Hill said that only picketing is now planned for the convention, but civil disobedience demonstrations might materialize depending "on the action of the convention itself."

Hill said similar demands will be made at the Democratic National Convention in August at Atlantic City, N. J.

Goldwater, a leading contender for the GOP presidential nomination, was not specifically mentioned in the demand that Republicans denounce civil rights bill foes.

But Hill said, "Right," when asked if the effect of the demand is for official GOP denunciation of the Arizonan.

Other demands listed by Hill included:

"Repudiation of the traditional alliance with conservatives and Dixiecrats on civil rights and social legislation affecting Negroes and other minorities."

Immediate implementation of the civil rights law.

Steps toward integration in schools and housing.

Liberalization of the Senate's cloture rule.

More public works, job training programs and a $2 minimum wage.

"Enforcement of Sections 2 and 5 of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution, especially in the southern states which deny Congressional representation by denying voting rights."

Costa Rica President Gets Welcome By LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Lyndon B. Johnson today welcomed President Francisco Orlich of Costa Rica for a state visit. Both men immediately forecast great things for the Alliance For Progress.

Orlich, his wife and a party of Costa Rican officials arrived by helicopter from Williamsburg, Va., where they spent the night.

TIBURON PURCHASES COUNTY'S SERVICES

$68,000 Contract May Be Trimmed As New City Gains Ability To Handle Tasks Itself

Tiburon city councilmen agreed last night to pay the Marin County to provide essentially the same services the county provided before incorporation.

Cost to the city was estimated at $5,696 monthly or $68,352 yearly But written into the contract is a provision that the city may terminate it on 60-day notice, as Tiburon gains more independence by setting up its own police, planning, engineering, building inspection or other departments.

Councilmen appointed five persons to a city planning commission, while contracting to the county to provide professional planning advisers to process use and sign permits, review subdivision maps, and provide other advisory services.

The cost to the city is estimated at $1,300 monthly for staff work; the city planning commission and city council will have final say on planning matters.

Police patrol of Tiburon will continue under the Marin County sheriff's office at an estimated monthly cost of $1,470. Deputies will cover the same patrols as before incorporation, being in Tiburon an estimated three and one-half hours out of every eight-hour shift.

Included in the over-all contract was approximately $1,050 monthly for maintenance of city streets by the county, street sweeping of all curbed city streets once a year and hand sweeping of Main Street twice weekly is estimated to cost $140 weekly. Street striping will cost $125 monthly.

"It puts the burden on the citizens" to keep the city clean, Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge noted. Councilman Fred C. Hanahan, on hearing the cost of sweeping the business area, said, "if the city wants to subcontract, I might get a broom."

Councilmen agreed to ask for a written promise from the county that work on Trestle Glen Drive and on realignment of Mar West Street, would continue without cost to the city.

Building inspection services by the county were estimated to cost $526 a month for plumbing, electrical, heating and building inspection, plans and site checking.

Engineering services were set at $1,025 a month for construction permit investigation, road engineering, subdivision map review.

Councilmen were prepared to go before the county board of supervisors today to gain approval of the contract, which would go into effect tomorrow and last through Aug. 15, at which time city and county are expected to renegotiate on needs and costs.

Money to pay the county may come from a loan from the county itself, or from Crocker-Citizens Bank which has offered a 3½ per cent loan rate, Mayor Strawbridge said.

Councilmen were to ask supervisors for an interest-free loan of $30,000, with $10,000 payable immediately, and were ready to dicker if the county asked the three and seven-eighths per cent which had previously been hinted.

With state rebates and subvensions expected to be resolved within a few months, interim City Administrator Warren Schmid told the council it would be well within a baianced budget.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

1. Passed a traffic and parking ordinance to change jurisdiction from county to city, while agreeing to consider delineation of a loading zone on Juanita Lane, now posted as "No Parking."
2. Decided to have city representatives meet with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. representatives at luncheon July 2, a meeting which will be "completely informal and with no action," Mayor Strawbridge said, for consideration of a PG&E city franchise and discussion of putting present and future utilities underground. Place of the meeting (which may be a violation of state law) was not designated.
3. Set for future consideration franchise or ordinances regulating taxis after Charles (Ted) Cohen had requested a franchise for his six-year-old area services.
4. Put off decision on appointment of a representative to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District.
5. Agreed to consider a dog leash law at a future meeting.
6. Agreed to consider curfew law for a future meeting, with a suggestion that those under 18 years of age be required to be with an adult if out after 11 p.m.
7. Adjourned to a special meeting at 8 p.m. July 6 at Del Mar School for discussion of hiring a city manager.

Mill Valley Folk Singer Sentenced

DENVER (AP) — Judith Ann Powers, 24, a Mill Valley folk singer accused of stealing a 30-pound bronze statue from the Denver Art Museum, was placed on probation for five years by Dist. Judge Sherman G. Finesilver yesterday.

Miss Powers sings under the name of Kellery Powers.

She pleaded no contest to the charge May 11 and has been free on bond.

Miss Powers was appearing at a Denver night club at the time the statue, valued at more than $2,000, disappeared last July 27.

Cyclist, Little Girl Hurt In Collision With Automobile

A motorcyclist and his 9-year-old passenger suffered minor injuries when the cycle collided with an automobile at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue in Novato at 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

Franklin Jefferson Beale, 22, of 1221 Vallejo Avenue, Apt. 12, Novato, was eastbound on Grant when his motorcycle hit the side of a car driven by Vernon Rodeck, 49, of 85 Grove Lane, Novato, southbound on Seventh Street, police reported.

Beale and his passenger, his nephew, Richard Larry Beale, 9, of 7 Marion Court, were treated at Novato General Hospital. The elder Beale for a skinned knee and cut hand and Richard Beale for skinned forehead and cut lip.

Rodeck was cited by police for failure to yield the right of way.

Library Fund Studied, Budget Talks Stalled

Larkspur city council last night decided to postpone discussion of the budget for the next fiscal year because of the absence of councilmen Robert J. Smith and Earl J. O'Grady.

The three councilmen present at the meeting, which lasted for less than one hour, approved the transfer of funds so the city can operate without a budget for a short time, and discussed with head librarian Helen Wilson how much money should be set aside for the library building fund.

Ross School Budget Up; 32-Cent Tax Hike Seen

Ross School District trustees last night approved a $322,108 tentative budget for 1964-65, calling for an estimated 32-cent increase in the general tax rate to $2.47.

District voters recently approved a 50-cent increase in the tax rate to $2.70, but the maximum will not be levied this year, said Supt. William W. Monahan. He does not expect an increase in the current override taxes of 14 cents, which are in addition to the general purpose levy.

The budget approved is $35,424 higher than the 1963-64 total of $286,684. Most of the increase will pay for two and on-ehalf additional teachers (two classroom teachers and one half-time remedial teacher), and part will pay for rent of two portable classrooms and repair of the school roof.

The portable classrooms will make it possible to reduce class size next fall when an estimated 535 pupils are expected, Monahan said.

Trustees voted to support a three-way split of the Tamalpais High School District into three unified school districts. This plan is under study by the County Committee on School District Organization.

The board also accepted the $3,086 low bid on Roofing Service and Supply Co., San Rafael, for repair of the school roof this summer.

Fairgrounds Boasts New Construction

A new $90,000 Home Arts Building at the Petaluma Fairgrounds will greet visitors to the Sonoma-Marin Fair July 9-12. It will contain all home economic exhibits, from jams to doilies.

The roof of the 6,500 square foot structure, which has only one room, contains 147 lights, giving it the appearance of a deep blue sky, according to fair manager Arthur F. Canavan. The only other structure like it in California is at the San Diego Zoo. It was built by Lindsay and Associates of Los Angeles.

Medal To Sausalitan

Capt. John D. G. Dormer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Teas of 403-A Napa Street, Sausalito, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement in aerial flight at Misawa Air Base, Japan.

Captain Dormer, an F-101 pilot, is assigned to a Pacific Air Forces unit at Misawa.

Coed On Honor List

Sarah Buckley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Buckley of 700 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda, was named to the dean's list at the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul, Minn., for the 1963-64 academic year. She was in the top 10 per cent of the sophomore class.

HE'LL NEVER DARE TO SNEER ABOUT ANY WOMAN'S DRIVING

Here's one husband who will never be able to say a word about his wife's driving.

Mrs. Mary Bell Stacey, 26, of Rohnert Park, Sonoma County, was headed home last night in one car, her husband, Martin, following in another.

At 9:30 p.m., she stopped for a stop sign on the Hamilton Air Force Base frontage road.

Wham! Her car was hit from the rear by — yes, the one driven by husband Martin.

Stacey was treated for a forehead cut at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital and transferred to Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital where he was reported in good condition today. Mrs. Stacey was unhurt.

X-15 Goes Awry, Gets Down Safely

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—The inertial guidance system on an X-15 rocket plane failed today shortly after the craft was dropped from a bomber, but the pilot landed safely.

Jack McKay was supposed to go to 180,000 feet in an altitude buildup flight for high altitude research experiments later this summer.

When his guidance system malfunctioned, however, he held the altitude to 98,000 feet and speed to 3,375 and glided to a landing after 11 minutes in the air.

Cause of the instrument failure was not immediately determined.

Mischievous Ghost Is Just A Bored Employee

OAKLAND (AP)—There's no poltergeist—noisy ghost — to blame for the past few weeks' confusion in the office of court reporter George H. Wheeler.

A young employee, John Orfanides, 20, confessed Monday that he's responsible for the flying light bulbs and dancing typewriters that have troubled the office since early June.

"I don't know why I did it," he told police. "It was just a spur-of-the-moment thing."

Orfanides said the "ghostly" doings began when he accidentally knocked over a telephone. When he saw the surprise of the other employees, he decided to expand the operation.

It was just a matter of the hand being quicker than the eye. "Like the light bulbs," he said. "When nobody was looking, I'd flip one against the wall."

Orfanides said he ran paper clips across typewriter springs to make them sing, jerked telephones to the floor with a tug on the cords and toppled files before ducking into another office.

He said a talk with a Roman Catholic priest convinced him to confess.

And apparently his boss can take a joke. "He's a good transcriber," said Wheeler. "I'm not filing any charges. He'll be back on the job tomorrow."

Jordan Scornful Of Scranton Pitch

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania drew an outspoken snub today for trying to lure California's 86 Republican delegates away from Sen. Barry Goldwater's presidential banner.

"We are pledged to Sen. Goldwater until released by him," said Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, a member of the delegation.

"There is no use trying to pressure us."

Jordan's comments came after Scranton wired California delegates: "If given a chance our party can win in November. That is why I am a candidate . . ."

Scranton said he'd like to meet personally with the Californians prior to the Republican national convention in San Francisco.

Jordan said such a meeting would be a waste of time.

He termed "completely futile" any attempt to "try to steal delegates" from Goldwater and said the Scranton telegram was "kind of an insult to our intelligence."

The veteran state official said he felt the wire implied that the Pennsylvania governor is the only Republican who has a chance to defeat President Johnson.

"In my opinion," said Jordan, "Goldwater is the only Republican who can beat the President.

"I have found a groundswell of support for Goldwater. And he is going to get a lot of support from conservative Democrats throughout the country."

Jordan noted that Goldwater's California slate signed affidavits pledging to support the Arizona senator for the presidential nomination unless he releases the delegates.

"Personally, I intend to stick with Goldwater all the way," he added, in an interview. "If he doesn't win the nomination—and I certainly think he will—I'll vote for the candidate he recommends. Who that would be I don't know."

The secretary of state accused Scranton of "playing it coy" in the presidential race.

"I think he has a nerve to announce his candidacy at this late date, just as a stop-Goldwater maneuver. Why didn't he work for it earlier? I have more respect for Rockefeller who had the courage to run in the primaries."

Goldwater defeated Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in the June 2 California primary by 68,000 votes.

GOP Plays Safe On Overtime Convention At Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Republican party has made provisions for an extra day at its national convention in case of prolonged balloting.

GOP National Chairman William Miller said Monday the convention is scheduled to open July 13 and continue for four days. But, Miller said, plans provide for a fifth day if needed at San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Nominating speeches and balloting of a Presidential candidate are to begin at 1:30 p.m. PST, July 15, third day of the convention.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will address the convention July 14.

The schedule as announced by Miller:

Monday, July 13—10 a.m., convention called to order by Miller for organizational purposes. Welcoming speeches by Mayor John F. Shelley, a Democrat; former Mayor George Christopher, a Republican; and Sen. Thomas Kuchel, Rep. William Mailliard and Rep. J. Arthur Younger, all Republicans.

5 p.m., keynote address by Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, temporary chairman. Message from former President Herbert Hoover read by Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois. Dramatic reading of a presentation entitled "A Call of Greatness."

Tuesday, July 14—4 p.m., consideration of party platform. Address by Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky, permanent chairman. Addresses by Eisenhower and Nixon.

Wednesday, July 15—1:30 p.m. nominations and balloting for a Presidential candidate.

Thursday, July 16—4:30 p.m., nominations and balloting for a vice-Presidential candidate and acceptance speeches by both members of the ticket.

Miller said the acceptance speeches would be made Friday if balloting continued at length.

Box Score On San Francisco Sit-In Trials

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Here is the latest box score on progress of sit-in demonstrators' trials brought on by arrests in March and April at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel and Auto Row agencies:

Arrests — 470 (some two or three times).

Convictions — 134 (14 convicted twice).

Acquittals — 51.

No contest pleas — 60.

Dismissed charges — 10.

Referred to juvenile authorities — four.

Awaiting or undergoing trial — 197.

Five demonstrators pleaded no contest Monday. They elected to pay $25 fines and accept 10-day suspended jail sentences rather than spend five days in jail.

Gateway Montessori School To Be Opened In Marin

The educational techniques of Italian physician-educator Dr. Maria Montessori (1870-1952) will be available to Marin children next September at the Gateway Montessori School to be opened in Los Ranchitos by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Haggerty.

It will be the Haggerty's second Montessori venture in the Bay Area. Their first Gateway School will begin a half-day summer session July 13 in San Francisco and go through Aug. 21. Both will be open in September on a normal 9 a.m.-3 p.m., Monday through Friday program.

Located at 105 El Prado Avenue between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, the Gateway School will start with children aged 2½-4½ years and older children with Montessori training. Eventually, the Haggertys hope to enlarge their school to accommodate children up to 12 years of age.

The effect of the Montessori method, according to Haggerty, "is to provide for children the opportunity of releasing their fullest human potential." This is best accomplished by instructing them from about the age of two, when they are in what Dr. Montessori called a "period of sensitivity," when the child has a natural tendency to learn basic skills like walking and rudimentary facts about his environment.

Haggerty is a native of Pennsylvania who was graduated cum laude from University of California in 1953. His wife, Beth, is a Chicago native who was graduated from Rosary College in River Forest, Ill. Haggerty has taught for two years in public schools in California, while his wife has taught in Evanston, Ill., and several California school districts. They recently ran a Montessori School in Porterville, Tulare County.

Director of the school will be Joseph Schmidt, who holds a B.A. in music from University of Chicago and who has had one year of training with the American Montessori Society.

Marinite Named College President

Rev. John David Alexander, associate professor of Old Testament at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, has been appointed president of Presbyterian - affiliated Southwestern College, Memphis, Tenn.

At 31 Dr. Alexander will be the youngest president in the history of the college, where he received his Bachelor's degree with honors in Greek in 1953.

He has been a member of the San Francisco Theological Seminary faculty since 1958. This summer he is teaching in the seminary's in-parish doctoral program. He will also teach here for the fall quarter, then leave with his family for a three month study leave in Europe.

Dr. Alexander will take over his duties at Southwestern in July 1965, after a three month period of training with the current president, Dr. Payton N. Rhodes.

A native of Tennessee, Dr. Alexander was enrolled in Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary when he received a Rhodes scholarship for Oxford University in England in 1953. He was awarded a doctorate in philosophy in 1957 from Oxford's Faculty of Theology.

In 1960-61 Dr. Alexander returned to Oxford on a study leave from San Francisco Theological Seminary to do post-doctoral work in ancient near-eastern languages and history.

Dr. Theodore A. Gill, president of the seminary, said the professor's departure "will be sadly marked not just by his faculty colleagues, his students and the seminary administration, but by congregations to which he has preached all over the west, and by the countless laymen he has taught in classes, on television and by radio."

Planes Collide, Plunge Into Sea Near Catalina

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island (UPI)—Two planes, possibly Navy, collided off this resort island today and fell into the ocean.

The Los Angeles County sheriff's office said a boat picked up one man dead in the water. He was not immediately identified.

The Coast Guard said it thought the planes were from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station. Los Alamitos spokesmen said they had no immediate information.

Helicopters from the Navy, Coast Guard and Los Angeles County sheriff's aero detail flew to the scene.

A sheriff's helicopter reported one person was picked up by boat and that no others were immediately seen in the water.

The collision occurred four miles north-northeast of Long Point, on Catalina Island's north shore, the Coast Guard said.

Mother Nature's Error Corrected

CONCORD, Ala. (AP)—United States Steel construction workers are gouging a 3,300-foot-long tunnel through solid rock to correct a flaw in the earth's structure. The challenging project is going on 600 feet below the earth's surface in the Concord coal mine of the steel firm.

Millions of years ago, something happened to break a coal seam, leaving one segment 100 feet below the other. The tunnel is being built to reconnect the seams. Eight feet high and 17 feet wide, the tunnel will provide ventilation and track haulage to extensive coal reserves.

'This Is It—No More,' Corte Madera Warns Twin-City Recreation Board

The Corte Madera Town Council allocated $8,275 to the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission last night with a warning that the town is chipping in for the last time.

Councilmen suggested the commission, which has been supported by the cities of Larkspur and Corte Madera and the Larkspur School District, find a new method of financing its program.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said the town can no longer keep increasing its allocation to a recreation program that is going to get bigger and more expensive.

Councilmen suggested the commission consider forming a recreation district covering the twin cities and the surrounding unincorporated lands.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton, a member of the county's Local Agency Formation Commission, said there would be a case for a recreation district because the existing agencies cannot handle the problem.

Councilman Albert E. Kogler, who is chairman of the commission, pushed for the requested $8,275 allocation after Town Mgr. Arthur M. Brandow recommended that it be reduced to $4,000.

Commissioner Fred A. Nicholson said if the town were going to cut its allocation to $4,000 "it might as well skip it and cancel the commission."

Commissioner James W. McClintock said the commission will study the future of recreation in the area and the best way to finance it.

During a budget review session, the council deleted several items from the town's park and recreation budget.

It cut a $3,500 item for lighting the tennis courts at the town park, $1,760 for sidewalks and paths at the park, and $1,400 for grading and paving a portion of a parking area adpacent to the tennis courts.

It eliminated resurfacing of paths and building stairs at Menke Park, and decided to plant the area, reducing the appropriation from $800 to $350.

At request of park and recreation commissioners, councilmen agreed to include the construction of a backboard for warming up at the rear of the tennis courts, and to investigate the cost of a picnic area at the park.

The council will meet again at 7:30 p.m. today for further budget review including street, police and fire allocations.

President To Stay Close To White House In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two busy months of traveling and speechmaking, President Lyndon B. Johnson is expected to spend most of July at the White House.

There are no travel plans on his announced schedule for the month, and aides said only two or three out-of-town engagements are being discussed. The President may make a brief trip to his Texas ranch for the July 4 weekend.

One factor that may be influencing the President's travel plans is the Republican National Convention, which opens in San Francisco July 13 and will likely dominate the news for at least one week. Associates say it is only a coincidence that Johnson has no speaking dates during this period.

Japanese Leader Seeks Reelection

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda announced today that he will run for re-election as president of the majority Conservative party at its July 10-11 convention in Tokyo.

The decision had been expected. Ikeda's re-election as party president would automatically mean his continuing as prime minister, for the conservatives hold an absolute majority in parliament.

Ikeda, 64, has been prime minister for the past five years.

Indonesia Seeks Soviet Weapons

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) —Indonesia announced today it will receive transport planes, helicopters, and air defense weapons from the Soviet Union.

The official Antara new agency said a mission will leave for Moscow Friday to obtain more equipment for the Indonesian air force.

Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan said during his visit here last week that Russia would supply Indonesia with modern weapons for its campaign against British-backed Malaysia.

Moral: Keep your savings in the bank

A fast profit is fine for investment capital. But savings are different. They need the complete protection and the steady rate of interest they get at a bank. Your savings won't make any flashy spurts or spectacular jumps, but they'll always be there when you need them. And in the long run you'll find you're ahead when you keep your savings where savings belong—in the bank.

Tiburon Council Names Planners

Tiburon took over its own city planning last night with city council appointment of five planning commissioners.

Council members were far from unanimous on the appointees, with Councilman Fred C. Hannahs charging that commission choices would leave the areas of Lyford Cove, Old Tiburon and Hill Haven without representation.

Peter Macgowan, former chairman of the Tiburon Coordinating Council, was named temporary chairman of the commission to call its first meeting.

Macgowan, of Round Hill Road, reportedly was a unanimous choice for the commission when the council met in closed session yesterday afternoon to discuss the appointments.

He studied at Harvard University and is employed as an architect by Lester Gorsline Associates, Belvedere, medical facility planners. He is a former chairman of the Tiburon Coordinating Council and former chairman of its land use committee. He served for about a year on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization. He was appointed to a four-year term on the planning commission.

Next to be appointed by councilmen in last night's public meeting was Stephan H. Nash of 90 Taylor Road.

Nash was a candidate for city council in the recent incorporation election. He has resided in Tiburon for more than 10 years and is employed by Schwabacher and Co., stockbrokers in San Francisco.

He is a director of the Tiburon Coordinating Council, a commissioner of the Tiburon Fire District, and was on the incorporation committee. He is former co-chairman of the Paradise Property Owners Assn. Nash was appointed to a four-year term.

Next appointment was that of Mrs. William B. Newman, 841 Tiburon Boulevard. She is a former chairman of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, but resigned last October saying there was "lack of communication" between the commission and county supervisors.

Mrs. Newman is secretary-treasurer of the Marin Visitors Bureau and past president of the Little Reed Homeowners Assn. She was given a three-year commission term.

With the proposal of Joseph C. Marshall, 75 Seafirth Road, for a two-year term, Councilman Fred C. Hannahs said he disapproved "not in any disrespect for Mr. Marshall's ability" but because he believed there should be wider geographic representation on the commission.

"We tried to give recognition to geographic locality, but we are looking for strength and drive," said Councilman John S. Hoffmire Jr.

"I feel the appointment is not being made for the good of the city of Tiburon," said Leo Souza, agreeing with Hannahs that more consideration should have been given to the place of residence of commissioners.

Hoffmire and Hannahs voted "no" on the appointment, Souza abstained, which in parliamentary procedure counts as an approving vote, so Marshall was appointed.

Marshall is a former member of the Belvedere Recreation Commission and Belvedere Planning Commission. He is president of the Seafirth Property Owners Assn. He is employed by Westinghouse Electric Co. in San Francisco.

Hannahs also objected, for geographic reasons, to appointment of Erik Rettig, 158 Stewart Drive, to the commission for a one-year term.

Rettig was born in Sweden and was employed by Harza Engineering Co., Chicago. He is now a consulting engineer. He was a member of the planning committee of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

No date has been set for the first commission meeting as its temporary chairman is out of town. Planners already have work laid out for them. City councilmen last night said they wanted a general policy planning statement drawn up as soon as possible.

"We appoint them, and then ask them how they feel," Hannahs commented.

Controversial Tree Is Due Plans Meet

Mill Valley planning commissioners will consider a request for removal of a 60-foot pine tree from property of Pacific Telephone and Telepgaph Co. at 19 Walnut Avenue at their meeting at 8 p.m. today.

Joseph Regalia, assistant fire chief, says the tree may fall on his house at 23 Walnut and that another pine, now removed, damaged the foundation of his house and cracked his fireplace.

The telephone company, according to planning aide Jean McLean, goes along with Regalia. Park Supt. Joseph F. Penders has suggested that, because of recent bulldozing of the telephone company's parking lot disturbing the pine's roots, the tree may be dangerous.

Both the architectural advisory committee and planning commission feel the tree is the focal of landscaping in the area and do not wish to see it removed. Asa Hanamoto, landscape architect and member of the advisory committee, has investigated and will report tonight.

Also on the agenda at the special meeting is a hearing on a request from Dr. and Mrs. Alan B. Scott for a subdivision at Manor Drive and Avon Avenue.

James Smithson, an English scientist, bequeathed his entire fortune to the U. S., thus the Smithsonian Institution was founded.

Collins Won't Say If He'll Take U.S. Job

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Leroy Collins, president of the National Assn. of Broadcasters, refused yesterday to confirm reports he is preparing to resign to accept a federal civil rights post.

It was reported earlier that Collins, former governor of Florida, would resign the $75,000 a year post to accept the job of director of community relations services.

The post would be set up under the civil rights bill now before Congress. The director would try to conciliate civil rights disputes so they would not have to be taken before the federal courts.

However, Collins told a news conference that he has had conversations with President Lyndon B. Johnson "relative to my availability for this job."

On another subject, Collins predicted that pay television "will fail" because the public will realize "it is not in their best interest."

In commenting on the advent of pay television in California, he said that pay-TV is "not good for America" and would hamper the development of "free broadcasting."

"Now much has been made of the argument by pay-TV proponents that free broadcasters are merely arguing their own economic interests and that in an un-American way they are seeking to shackle the competition of pay television," Collins said.

"Certainly we do have a selfish stake in the survival and strength of free television. One should not assume, however, that broadcasters are concerned only with their own narrow personal interests," he said. Collins said that pay-TV "offers nothing that cannot be provided by free television.

EDUCATION POST — Elizabeth D. Koontz of Salisbury, N. C., was elected yesterday to the highest post ever held by a Negro in the National Education Assn. Unopposed, she was named president-elect of the 820,000-member Department of Classroom Teachers and will take office next June.

Oswald Defender Handed Summons

LONDON (UPI)—Attorney Mark Lane, who claims that Harvey Lee Oswald did not kill President John F. Kennedy last November, took off for New York today. He said he had received a summons to appear before the Warren commission which is investigating the assassination.

"I really have little clue why they want me back there," Lane said at the airport. "They have all the facts I have found."

Lane, who once was retained by Oswald's mother to investigate the assassination, has been touring Europe and spreading the idea the former U.S. Marine did not kill the president.

Probation Is Granted On Amended Charge

Ola Herman Jandel, 23, San Francisco was placed on three years probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday on his guilty plea to an amended charge of taking property worth over $200 from Crocker-Citizens National Bank, Fairfax branch, on Feb. 21.

He originally was charged with forging a $400 check that day.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Savings, Loan Firm Soon To Be Year Old—Assets Over $4 Million

The month of July will complete the first year of business for San Rafael Federal Savings and Loan Assn., and according to president Harold Elberg, the year-end report will show more than four million dollars in assets.

Elberg has brought in a display of eight model ships valued at about $100,000 from the San Francisco Maritime Museum for the occasion — from full-rigged schooners and barks to tugs and modern vessels. Also during the month of July, San Rafael Federal is making the most of the only "giveaway" opportunity it will ever have, by presenting to openers of new accounts, and accounts who increase their deposits, a choice of any one of eight Sunset books on home projects. Federal regulations allow a presentation of this kind only once—within the firm's first year. After that it's verboten.

NEWLY OPENED in Novato for businesses that aren't completely equipped and staffed for secretarial work, Novato Office Services, at 1305 Grant Avenue. This is a venture of Mrs. Peggy Hicks of Bel Marin Keys. First venture on her own—but she has worked in offices for the last 15 years and knows all the routines.

Services include stenographic work, dictation by telephone, mimeographing and direct mailing. She will also do payroll work —but no other bookkeeping.

FREDERIC S. HIRSCHLER, president of the Emporium Capwell Co., has a cute trick—particularly during an opening. Frequently he circulates through one of the stores wearing lapel identification that modestly states: "Information," instead of his official title. That way he get to talk first hand to people shopping — and for all anyone knows, he's just a floorwalker.

LEE S. DARRAGH has been named director of advertising and sales promotion for shopping center properties of the Draper Companies. His immediate duties will include the development of a coordinated promotion program for the Northgate Regional Shopping Center in Marin.

He will also be responsible for creation and supervision of all advertising and promotion of the nine Draper shopping centers throughout Northern California. He was previously director of sales promotion activities for Star Market real estate properties on the East Coast Darragh and his family have moved to Belvedere.

HERB K. STAHL of Corte Madera has joined the real estate staff of James A. Orr, Inc., in Kentfield. He was previously with Don W. O'Neil Real Estate.

MARIN COUNTY CONSTRUCTION seems to be lagging a bit behind, according to building permit figures supplied by the Marin County Development Assn. Permits for the first five months of 1964 trailed that period in 1963 by 6.2 per cent. Biggest percentage drop (16.7 per cent) has been in commercial building. Residential construction is down 8.1 per cent. We also notice that May, down from April, showed a far lower percentage of multiple dwelling unit starts, with a drop to 27 per cent of all residential construction.

Contract Awarded

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The C. K. Moseman Construction Co. of Fresno was awarded a $956,452 contract yesterday to widen the deck of the Pit River Bridge from 44 feet to 56 feet and improve the approaches on U.S. 99 about 12 miles north of Redding.

State Is Calling For Work Bids

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The State Office of Architecture and Construction today announced it would call for bids this week on two Southern California projects.

One job involves construction of the Perry Whiting Memorial Park at Camarillo State Hospital. The park, to feature a 4,000 square foot swimming pool and a bath house, is expected to cost around $75,000. Bids will be opened July 22 in Los Angeles.

The other project involves installation of an outdoor area lighting system at the Los Angeles fairgrounds. Bids on the $50,000 project will be opened July 15 in Los Angeles.

Bond Experts Hired

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District has appointed Smith, Barney and Co., Inc., to serve as its financial consultant relative to a second block of approximately 40 million dollars of general obligation bonds which the district plans to offer for competitive bids some time this autumn.

Corporate Planner To Vice President's Desk

BERKELEY—George W. Ettelson has been elected a vice president of Dymo Industries, Inc., specializing in the field of corporate planning and development and financial public relations.

Court Allows Vote Of Inheritance In Merger Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Superior Court judge has ruled more than 110,000 shares in Bullock's Inc., left by the late Margaret S. Bullock can be voted in favor of merger with Federated Department Stores.

A proxy fight contesting the merger has been launched by P. G. Winnett, co-founder of the Bullock's department store chain.

Stockholders must vote two-thirds of Bullock's 2,611,902 outstanding shares affirmatively in order to affect a merger with the Cincinnati firm.

Margaret Bullock's stock was left to three nieces and a nephew. Their trustee, M. Bruce Gilreath, had asked the court to rule whether the will permitted him to vote the stock in case of a possible merger. The will prohibited the trustee from selling, exchanging or mortgaging the shares left in trust, but did not mention a merger.

Gilreath testified June 19 that the beneficiaries favored the merger.

Market To Be Closed

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange and nearly all other organized securities and commodities markets in the United States will close Friday in observance of Independence Day, which falls this year on Saturday.

Stock Market Is Mixed At Closing Time

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed at the close today as late trading picked up.

There were some signs of firming near the closing bell.

Gains of a point or so by Sears Roebuck and Woolworth helped the averages.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.4 million, compared with 4.39 million yesterday.

Santa Fe advanced more than a point after increasing its dividend to 40 cents a quarter from 30 cents. Chicago & North Western and Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific added about a point.

American Telephone, which split its stock 2 for 1 last week, was headed again for the top of the most-active list. The issue was down a minor fraction.

Control Data, off a point, and Burroughs, up more than a point, were actively traded.

General Motors, which started negotiations today on a labor contract with the United Auto Workers, tacked on about half a point.

Gainers of about a point included Kellogg, Kayser Roth, McLean Trucking, and Avon Products.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

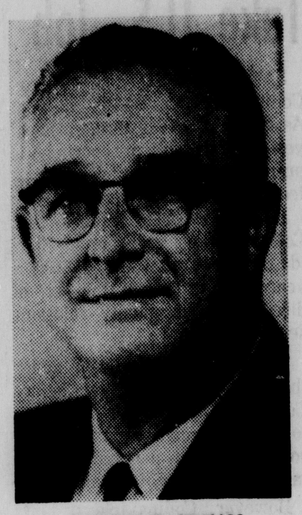
Corporate and U.S. government bonds were steady.

Marinite Promoted, Going To New Jersey

G. D. Schlemmer, purchasing agent of the Pacific Coast operations, General Chemical Division in San Francisco, has beel promoted to the Allied Chemical Corp.'s Morristown, N. J., headquarters.

With the firm 20 years and a Mill Valley resident for 12 years, he expects to move to New Jersey in mid-August with his wife, Ruth, a former Mill Valley library trustee, three daughters and a son. The Schlemmers live at 46 Helen's Lane.

Manager Of Bank Marks 35th Year



JOSEPH C. CREAN
Celebrates 35th year

Tomorrow will be an occasion for Joseph C. Crean, manager of the Fairfax branch of the Bank of America, to celebrate.

It is his 35th year with the bank.

Crean has manager the Fairfax branch since early 1955. He joined B. of A. in his native San Francisco in 1929, and a year later was transferred to the Noe Valley office. Subsequently he returned to the San Francisco head office as a bookkeeper and teller, then served in the Navy during World War II.

Resuming his banking career in San Anselmo in 1945, Crean advanced to officer status in 1947 and served as a lending officer until receiving his present position.

He is past president of the San Anselmo Lions Club, and treasurer for the Fairfax Lions. He is also a past president of the Fairfax Merchants Assn., treasurer of the Fairfax Salvation Army Unit and a past commander of the American Legion, San Anselmo Post.

Crean, his wife, Rose, and their five children live at 19 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo.

Stock Chartists Look For Signs Of A Rally

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market chartists are eying every price flurry for signs of the traditional summer rally.

Steel production is sliding fast toward the still more traditional July doldrums.

Many factories are preparing for the newer but growing tradition of a vacation shutdown of one, two or three weeks.

The auto industry is preparing for the summer model changeover.

Hot weather sport and receational items are selling fast.

Tourists jam New York streets and scramble for hotel rooms. Summer camps shore themselves up for the annual rush of school-free youngsters. Highways to beaches and mountains are even more jammed than ever.

Summer is coming in just like always—almost. There are some differences this time.

Stock prices already are around record highs—if you measure them by the popular averages. But many shares are far below their highs. It's the blue chip type, favored by the popular index and by many institutional buyers, that has attracted most buying interest this year.

Steel's output slide — already some 6.5 per cent from its year's high of late May—seems sure to go on into July. But this summer the steelmen think the dip, may prove to be comparatively shallow and shortlived. Optimism, born of a good cushion of orders, is strong for a big fall upturn.

The factory shutdowns for vacations are taking a new look also. The trend toward longer vacations continues, and so does the practice of closing down so that everyone takes them all at once. The total of idle production days may be greater.

But because of the business upswing some companies are trying divided vacations — a week in July, another at Christmas, or at some date when the backlog of unfilled orders is less impressive.

The auto changeovers this summer are complicated by reports that models revisions will be more extensive than in many years. But even more unsettling is the labor negotiations soon to start.

Because of this, production right now is probably higher than it would otherwise be, and the chances of a strike cloud the late summer prospects.

The San Francisco City Hall dome, 308 feet from the ground to the top of the lantern, rises higher than the dome of the national Capitol in Washington, D.C.

McKINLEY IN SEMI-FINALS TOMORROW

Pay-TV Gobbling Up Cal Sports

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pay-TV is gobbling up California sports attractions faster than their seasons come about.

This spring, firm starting dates for Subscription Television, Inc., screenings of major league baseball games were announced. A few weeks later college football came into the fold on an experimental basis. Now the San Francisco Warriors have signed for all 80 of their National Basketball Assn. games.

The Warriors announced yesterday their decision to join the cable television system, but no price for rights was disclosed.

Free television was accused of ruining attendance for some sports franchises when telecasts of home events saturated the airwaves.

The National Football League helped increase its draw with a controlled program of road game telecasts.

Now the Warriors should learn whether pay-TV can help stimulate attendance or at least boost the bank account—which could use some assistance after two seasons dominated by quarter and half-full arenas.

No fee for the telecasts were announced, but STI sports director Tom Gallery said it would probably be about $2—the cost of a general admission ticket. Of course more than one person could watch.

STI, working mainly in Los Angeles and San Francisco, hopes to have 50,000 homes signed up by the end of the year.

But its sports program is scheduled to open July 17 with a Los Angeles baseball game between the Dodgers and Chicago Cubs.

A San Francisco night game between the Giants and Milwaukee Braves is set for Aug. 14, to be followed by all other Giants home games this season and all games in 1965—and in color as soon as practical.

The Dodgers plan a similar program, but may add some road games this year.

The Athletic Assn. of Western Universities plans an experimental college football program on pay-TV this fall with the blessing of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Stanford, Southern California, California and UCLA are all in the AAWU.

STI is also reported negottiating with the Los Angeles Lakers of the NBA.

Amid the system's optimistic reports, apparently only one thing could ruin its plans: An initiative on California's November election ballot that would outlaw pay-TV.

Foes of pay-TV, whose ranks prominently include theater owners, would declare it "contrary to public policy to permit development of the subscription television business."

49ers: Wait 'n' See

The San Francisco 49ers will not jumps into the pay-television picture tube, at least not right away, according to Lou Spadia, managing owner of the National Football League team.

Spadia said the 49ers management would keep an eye on the development of Subscription Television "with interest" but would not hook up right away with pay-TV.

"Our television picture is a good healthy one at the moment," said Sadia, "so we're in a position to sit back and take a look at pay-TV. The public really is going to give us the answer."

Free television rights for the San Francisco 49ers have already been sold to the Columbia Broadcasting System as part of a league package deal for the 1964 season. But Spadia said the contract would not stop the club from selling pay-TV rights if the 49er owners wished to do so.

"I just don't feel that we want to make any move in the pay-TV direction at this time," Spadia declared.

The 49ers official made his remarks at a press conference at which the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Assn. announced the signing of a contract with Subscription Television.

Rumor Mongers Please Take Note: Horace And Alvin On Good Terms

Jack Hanley

Tracking down rumors is a tedious business. Collecting feathers loosed from a pillow in Candlestick's wind is easier than lassoing the source of idle gossip that continually goes on around the baseball beat, not that the baseball beat has any monopoly on rumor mon-

However, when the gossip is persistent and involves a couple of prominent names — Horace Stoneham and Alvin Dark—it becomes the duty of a reporter to go to work. Until last week, we ignored the gossip that Stoneham and Dark weren't talking to each other.

But when a midwest sports editor whispered confidentially that "Dark won't be back next season —I got it from someone very close to Stoneham," it was time to do something.

Past experience taught us the futility of trying to trace the origin of such whispers. So we took the obvious short cut. On the Giant team plane coming back from Cincinnati, we asked Dark if there were any substance to the gossip.

"HORACE," SAID the Giant team manager, "telephoned me in St. Louis and again in Cincinnati. We have never been on better terms."

Now, that satisfied us insofar as the gossip was concerned because Dark has never lied to us. Nevertheless, knowing our boss also would want to hear what Stoneham had to say about the matter, we checked with the president and owner of the Giants upon returning home.

"Pay no attention to them," said Stoneham when we asked him about the rumors.

"FROM NOW on, we won't," we told him, "but, of course, you appreciate that it sometimes becomes necessary to check out such stuff, particularly when it is heard all around the beat."

"I understand," said Stoneham. "A fellow from one of the news magazines called me the other day and said he understood I hadn't talked to Alvin for a year and a half. How does such stuff get started?"

It was a rhetorical question. Stoneham expected no answer. And we offered none. But we have an idea of how the gossip started about Stoneham and Dark.

LAST WINTER when Dark put his Atherton home up for sale, a San Francisco paper pyramided that simple story into speculative headline. Without asking Dark why he was moving back to Lake Charles, a couple of hundred miles from Houston, the paper asked on its own: "Is Dark the next manager of the Colts?"

When Dark was asked why he was moving back to his Lake Charles home, his answer was not only logical but understandable. "Just to be closer to the kinfolk," he said. "We're a close clan, and my moving back there will eliminate long reunion trips on Christmas, Easter, birthdays and other get-together occasions."

HOWEVER, DARK'S simple explanation was reported with a tongue-in-cheek touch by the S.F. paper primarily responsible for all the speculation about Dark's future status with the Giants.

It may develop that Dark and Stoneham, for one reason or another, may ultimately part company. But as of this moment they never have been on better terms.

Stengel, Hutch To Coach All-Stars

CINCINNATI (AP)—Casey Stengel of the New York Mets and Fred Hutchinson of the Cincinnati Reds were named yesterday to be the National League team coaches at the major league All-Star game July 7.

The appointments were made by Walt Alston who, as manager of the 1963 pennant-winning Los Angeles Dodgers, will manage the National League All-Star team.

COOL METS SNAP GIANT STREAK, BUT . . .

Hart Swinging Like 'Rookie Of Year'

Old Casey looked around and came up with the explanation:

"We just gotta play in cold weather . . . we can't play in hot weather . . . that's our trouble," said Mr. Stengel.

Which could be as good a reason as any, because how else can you explain why the New York Mets, last in the National League, have played dead even with the San Francisco Giants, the league leaders?

Losers of 16 of their last 18 games before arriving in the city by the Golden Gate, the Mets nipped the Giants 4-3 last night and broke San Francisco's five-game winning streak.

Jess Gonder did it with a two-run ninth inning home run off Bob Bolin and Jess seemed as surprised as his manager.

"He gave me the pitch I wanted," said Jess. "I didn't think he would, but he did . . . a sinking fast ball above the knees."

So after 10 games, the Mets and Giants are 5-5 going into today's battle with Gaylord Perry of the home club facing Galen Cisco of the New Yorkers.

Closest the men of Casey Stengel are to any other club is 3-5 to the Chicago Cubs or, if you like, 2-4 with Cincinnati and Houston. From there it goes up to 2-11 against Pittsburgh.

Manager Alvin Dark didn't stick around long enough to comment on the rapid turn of events which until the ninth inning featured his third baseman Jim Ray Hart.

Making his bid for Rookie-of-the-Year honors, Hart hit three singles and a home run in four times at bat, lifting his average from .263 to .276. He scored two of the Giants three runs, ran his consecutive hit streak to seven and has hit safely in 11 of his last 14 times at bat.

Going into the ninth, the Giants led 3-2. Larry Elliot, only recently added to the New York roster, walked with one out. Then Gonder cracked the first pitch Bob Bolin threw over the left field fence, the second homer for the Mets on the evening.

Rookies John Stephenson hit the first one leading off the first inning — his first major league homer. And his first in organized baseball over the left field fence. Usually the southpaw swinger goes to right field.

San Francisco retained first place by one-half game thanks to Houston's victory over Philadelphia. Still they face the possibility of being the only club in the National League losing more games to the Mets than they win from them.

Bolin, who went the route, took his third defeat against two victories and make no excuses.

"The pitch to Gonder was within an inch of where I wanted it," was low and away. He must have been looking for it."

"No," replied Gonder from the opposite dressing room. "I didn't expect the pitch, but it was one I like . . . a fast ball that seemed to sink a little.

"That was a game that both Al and I needed."

Al is Al Jackson, the little left-hander who had lost seven straight before gaining this victory in relief. He hasn't won since May 7, but, said catcher Gonder, "He had his best stuff going this time."

As for himself, the Mets receiver said he finally had his strength back after having his four wisdom teeth extracted on June 15.

BILLIE JEAN MOFFITT REACHES SEMI-FINALS

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Australia's Lesley Turner brushed aside Nancy Richey of Dallas today, but Billie Jean Moffitt, Long Beach, Calif., advanced to the semi-finals in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Championships and No. 2 in the United States, bolted past her old Wightman Cup rival, Ann Haydon Jones of England, 6-3, 6-3 on the famed center court.

Miss Turner, however, pounded out a 6-3, 6-4 decision over the poker-faced Miss Richey, the third-ranked U.S. player, and reduced to two the list of Miss Moffitt, third seed in these All-England Americans remaining in singles competition.

Chuck McKinley, the defending champion from San Antonio, plays Australia's Fred Stolle Wednesday in a men's semi-final.

The women's semi-finals Thursday will include a replay of last year's title match, Miss Moffitt taking on the girl who beat her for the 1963 title, top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia. Miss Turner will play veteran internationalist Maria Bueno of Brazil in the other.

Miss Smith advanced by default over Argentina's injured Norma Baylon while Miss Bueno, the 1959 and 1960 champion, moved past Robyn Ebbern of Australia 6-4, 6-1.

The final score of 21 to 14 resembled football figures, but it was a softball game Sunday in which the San Anselmo Fire Department outslugged the Hub City's police force in their annual Family Day barbecue at Memorial Park.

Marin Pro Ball Players' Averages Dip

The Marin County lads still remaining in professional baseball are having trouble making it over the .250 mark this year.

At last report from Player Periscope of Novato, John Bobbabella of San Anselmo, first baseman for Salt Lake City of the AAA Pacific Coast League, was hitting at a .242 clip; Gerry Ard of Fairfax, shortstop for Modesto of the Class A California League, was batting .246; and Ken Anderson of San Rafael, outfielder for Greenville, S. C., of the Western Carolina League, was hitting. 236.

Boccabella, who finished the season last year for the parent Chicago Cubs, batted only .211 for the last reported week from Player Periscope. His four hits for the week were strong as iron, however, as he hit two home runs, a triple and a singie. He had four runs batted in and scored four.

His production for the year increased to 15 homers, 6 triples and 7 doubles, all helping his RBI total to rise to 41. He had also scored 38 runs. His average of .242 is based on 60 hits in 248 at bats.

JERRY ARD

Ard, who signed a bonus contract to play for the Houston Colt .45s' farm club, batted .242 in the last reported week, getting 8 hits in 33 at bats. His one extra base hit of the week was a triple.

The Fairfax youngster has hit safely 52 times in 211 at bats, including two triples and five doubles. He has knocked in 22 runs and has scored 26.

KEN ANDERSON

Anderson had only 1 double and two singles in 18 at bats in the last reported week, hitting .167. He had one RBI and two runs scored.

Anderson, playing in the Milwaukee Braves system, has 38 hits in 161 at bats on the season, with four doubles being his only extra base hits. He has 11 runs batted in and has scored 15 times.

RON COLE

Ron Cole of Mill Valley, the only Marin County pro playing in the pitching ranks, was stung for a loss while hurling for the Modesto Colts during the last reported week. He appeared in two games, allowing 15 hits and 6 walks while striking out 9 in 11 innings.

His season record now is 6-4 with a 3.58 earned run average. He has worked 73 innings, allowing 64 hits and 31 bases on balls while whiffing 65.

Marin Hardtop Drivers Win

Marin County drivers won three events Saturday night during the NASCAR hardtop races at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

Jack Dempsey of San Rafael won the trophy dash, Al Alberigi of San Rafael won the first heat, and Phil Kircher of Tiburon won the fourth heat.

In addition to the first place, Al Perry of San Rafael placed third in the second heat and Jim Giubbini of Novato finished third in the third heat.

Seals Obtain Vet Center From Canada

San Francisco Seals manager Bud Poile says he will have one of the best lines in the Western Hockey League this season, with the help of center Del Topoll.

Topoll, an ice veteran at 31, was acquired yesterday from the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Poile immediately announced plans to use Topoll at center, between Charlie Burns and Wayne Connelly, to strengthen the Seals' offensive line.

Topoll was with the Seattle Totems last year. He saw action in 70 games, scored 26 goals and assisted for another 38, finishing 13th in WHL scoring.

OLYMPIC OUTLOOK

U.S. Swimming Teams Improved Over 1960

PALO ALTO (AP) — One of this nation's top swimming coaches, George Haines, predicts both the United States men's and women's teams will be stronger in the 1964 Olympics than they were four years ago.

Speaker at a preview luncheon for the national AAU men's and women's meets to be held July 30-Aug. 2 at nearby Los Altos Hills, Haines said:

"Both of our teams will be outstanding because of the depth of good swimmers in this country. I feel the girl's team will be greater than the one we had in Rome and the men's team also will be better."

Haines coached the U. S. women's swimming team for the 1960 event at Rome and will be assistant coach for the men this year.

He expects Australia and the Netherlands to provide the top competition for the girls and Australia to be the No. 1 challenger in the men's events.

As an illustration of the improvement shown in swimming during recent years, it was pointed out that in 1948 Ann Curtis, now a resident of San Rafael where she operates a swim club and school, won the 100-meter Olympic race in 1 minute 7.2 seconds. Today it takes a time of 1:5 or better to even qualify for the women's AAU nationals and 1:4.2 for Olympic tryouts.

New names are cropping into top contention this year. Kathy Seidel, a 14-year-old, last week equalled Chris von Salza's American 100-meter freestyle record at 1:01.3 and Sue Jones matched the 1:20.4 American 100-meter breaststroke mark by Jane Dellenkamp.

Softball Triumph

The Indian Valley Lumber softball team of Corte Madera downed Liberty Mutual of San Francisco 8-3 yesterday in San Francisco. Marsh Granados was the winning hurler for Indian Valley.

Molina, Perez In Oakland Rematch

OAKLAND (UPI)—If their first meeting was any example, action should be fast and furious at Oakland Auditorium tonight when Luis Molina battles Tony Perez in a scheduled 10-rounder.

When they last met in the same ring a month ago, the heavily favored Molina decked the Mexican invader in the opening round, but Perez battled back brilliantly against the San Jose hotshot.

Molina got the nod 6-4, but the decision was greeted by a chorus of boos.

Tonight's card starts at 8:30.

Salmon Scene Moves To Farralon Islands; Bay Striper Trolling Good

STEVENS

There is one happy salmon troller—happy that he didn't cancel out because of reported rough water outside the Golden Gate. He is Romeo Breebem of S.F. Romeo fished from aboard the Marion out of Caruso's Sausalito harbor—hooked, played and boated a beautiful Chinook salmon that tipped the scales at 47¼ pounds.

Talking to Sid McMullin at Caruso's, I learned that the boats averaged 12 or 14 fish per boat on Saturday and Sunday both. Seems the skippers shifted the scene of operation from southwest of the Light Ship to the waters off the Farralon Islands.

ON SATURDAY the top fish ran to 30 pounds and all are agreed that the schools are yielding larger fish than before. This is indicated by the register at Lee Anderson's place in Oakland. For example, on Saturday the Sea Horse docked at the Berkeley Harbor with 12 salmon to 25 pounds, the Lucky Day also had 12 with the top fish weighing 32 pounds, while the Chinook took 22 to 31 pounds.

Paul J. Keeler of 8 Barn Road, Mill Valley, skipper of the boat "Coaster," also had a glistening report about salmon fishing near the Farralon Islands Saturday. A tital of 10, with the largest tipping the scales at 37 pounds, 4 ounces, was pulled aboard his boat.

THE WORD of striper striving is confined almost entirely to trolling. The lads who wait for the late hours on the Contra Costa side of the San Francisco Bay are still cleaning up with an estimated average of two-fish-plus per angler. Local has shifted from Buoys 10 and 14 to the area off the Union Oil Wharf and around Carquinez Pier.

One lone report of success on bait. According to Lee Anderson's shop, the boat, Millie Linn, netted 14 stripers on bait., and a few shore fishermen have taken a few fish while using pile worms.

ABOUT methods of fishing with bait versus trolling, I'm wondering how many who catch fish on bait are using the "Thumb Retrieveing" technique. Call it "walking the bait" or what you will, the idea is to keep the bait, anchovies, bullheads, sardines or pile worms MOVING. Make your cast as far from the boat as you are able, then rub your thumbs across the line on your reel, thus moving the bait along the bottom a few inches at a time. Keep that business up until the baited hooks are at the side of the boat. You may be surprised at the results.

Many old timers swear that if fish are caught trolling aboard a moving boat, they can be taken by "walking" the bait while still-fishing. Try it the next time out, huh? By the way, my records show that the month of July in years gone by—in the upper San Pablo Bay—paid off in a big way to the thumb-retrievers. Should happen again this coming month. The largest striped bass I ever caught was caught off Point Pinole the last week of July while thumb retrieving during the slack tide.

NO WORD of bass fishing in the back country, but none was expected. Mostly it is catfishing or catching blue gills, crappies and a Sacramento perch at this time of the year in the Delta region.

Several sturgeon have been taken in the lower Suisun Bay near the Benecia Side of the Southern Pacific Bridge the past week. One monster of over eight feet (according to the tale told me by a neighbor) was brought to the side of the skiff and then broke loose and went bye-bye. And that's the passing picture as seen by this reporter.

Base Announces Contracts, Bids

The base procurement office at Hamilton Air Force Base today called for bids and announced award of several contracts.

Bids were invited for maintenance of hanger and apron access, for meat and produce wrapping machine for the base commissary and for sugar for resale.

Gifford B. Fowle of Oakland was awarded a $24,108 contract to repair water mains; H. D. Terrell of Vallejo, a $5,698 contract for custodial services; Robert F. Smith Inc. of San Francisco, a $1,975 contract for maintenance and repair to roofs of three buildings, and M & M Sanitary Co. of Napa a $3,350 contract for cleaning of grease traps.

Burglar Gets Change From Service Station

Someone broke into the Terra Linda Union Station, 929 Del Presidio, and took a cigarette machine coin box containing about $50 between 4 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. today, San Rafael police reported.

The burglar entered by breaking a window in the rear lubrication room and then pried open the door of the cigarette machine with a screw driver type of instrument, police said.

Novato Council Faces Long And Short Of It

The Novato City Council has only one item on its agenda for an adjourned meeting at 8 o'clock tonight, but that one calls for passing of 18 resolutions.

It is the formation of the Scottsdale Assessment District for the proposed 1,500 unit apartment development between Highway 101 and South Novato Boulevard, and south of Yukon Way.

Marin College Names 'Alumnus Of The Year'

Dr. Joel F. Gustafson of Mill Valley, professor of biological sciences at San Francisco State College, has been named College of Marin Alumnus of the Year.

Gustafson, a member of the class of 1937, received the award for his "outstanding contribution to the community, especially in the area of conservation."

He is president of the Point Reyes National Seashore Foundation, president of the California Conservation Council, former president of the Marin Conservation League, former associate director of the California Academy of Sciences, and executive director of the San Francisco Zoological Society.

Classic Film Series Set For Hub City

First of a nine-week series of Tuesday night film showings at the Festival Theater in San Anselmo begins July 14 with a revival of the satire, "The Mouse That Roared," starring British comedian Peter Sellers.

Part of the theater's Summer Film Festival, the series will feature an "adult classic" at 7 and 9:15 p.m. each Tuesday night.

The film describes the adventures of a tiny fictional nation which sets out to solve its economic troubles by losing a war to the United States, but accidentally wins.

A British short subject, "The Hole," will be shown with the comedy.

Lassen Volcanic National Park, Calif., is site of most recent volcanic activity in mainland United States.

Marin Student Earns Dean's List Rating

Peter F. Stokely of 45 Marinita Avenue, San Rafael, has been named to the dean's honor list for the spring semester at the University of California's Riverside campus.

Stokely was one of 514 undergraduates who made the list. To be named, a student must maintain a B average and be signed up for 12 or more units of credit.

July 4 Celebration Set For Stinson

Stinson Beach Community Center will include games and refreshments in a three-day Fourth of July celebration, Elting C. Hubbard, president, said today.

The Community Center hall will be open Friday at 8 p.m., Saturday at 10 a.m. and Sunday at 11 a.m., and remain open into the evening. Funds raised will be used to cover the costs of operating the three community buildings which comprise the center and which were built by proceeds of similar affairs starting in 1947.

There will be no fireworks.

The program will be conducted by members of the Volunteer Fire Department and Progressive Club, with women of the community church and Allied Arts operating the refreshment booths.

Some Of The Hemlines Go Up

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Arnold Scaasi fashion show began with two models showing brocade trousers with mink cuffing the hems of the culotte-cut legs.

Scaasi was doing what comes naturally to designers these days in the New York garment industry — putting women in pants for formal or informal occasions at home, for walking, shopping, traveling.

The Scaasi pajamas, designed for Martini, Inc., with whom he has been associated since last June, were in either pale pink or pale green embroidered brocade with fitted, sleeveless and collarless tops.

JANE DERBY, designer-manufacturer who's been on a trousers at home kick for at least five years, included in her fall and winter collection lounge pajamas in two-piece cranberry wool with sable cuffs.

Maurice Rentner's chief designer, Bill Blass, tailored pants as sharply as a man's for both informal day and dressy evening at-home wear.

For day, he coupled a short leopard jacket with camel's hair trousers. He jazzed up other trousers of white satin with a white mink jacket lined in shocking pink. Blass showed a floor length evening coat in camel's hair, with trousers of the same camel wool, topped by a blouse in shocking pink silk. The lining of the coat repeated the blouse fabric.

THESE WERE JUST some of the "pants-or-else" trends advanced by pace-setting designers who this week are showing their fall and winter collections by visiting reporters.

The current week of shows is sponsored by the American designer series. The week following the fourth of July holiday, the New York couture, another designer group, will take over for seven days of fashions for the visitors.

THE SCAASI SHOW yesterday featured four major silhouettes for fall, other than those pajamas. They were: the coat dress, a classic doing big business with every designer this fall; the princess; the tunic, and the fitted with waistline elongated until it seemed to start at the upper hipbone.

Scaasi kept hemlines a conservative mid-knee length — conservative, that is, when you consider that some designers show them two and three inches above the knee for fall.

The Oleg Cassini collection, also shown yesterday, hiked the hemline to above the knee. Cassini accented the explosure in costumes and suits with swirling skirts, via box pleats.

MOLLIE PARNIS, designer-manufacturer, didn't tamper much with the hemline but did produce more of the going trend toward the full skirts. She called hers the "shutter," an apron front and back with soft pleats on each side to provide some movement.

On the price side, Miss Parnis offered a short beaded coat and dress combination for formal evenings — the combination to wholesale at $1,000. The designer said she didn't expect that the highest priced item she'd ever made would sell, but surprise! It was on several buyers' orders. The cost at retail would be around $1,600 to $1,700, depending on store markup policy.

THE CHRISTIAN DIOR - New York collection yesterday gave impetus to shorter skirts also. The firm's designer, Gaston Berthelot, took the hemline above the knees and showed legs encased in mesh stockings. For cocktails or dinner, he produced a new mid-calf length in some ensembles.

A BOYISH LOOK for not-so-little girls is Oleg Cassini's theme for fall. Yesterday this beige wool sheath with front tab belt and high standing collar was among the American couturier's collection shown to fashion writers in New York as a preview to fall. (AP Wirephoto)

MR. AND MRS. ANTHONY TURRIETTA
(Ellsworth Hagen photo)

Deborah Brown Is Married In Fairfax

Deborah Brown of Fairfax became the bride of Anthony Albert Turrietta in a nuptial mass performed Saturday morning at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Fairfax and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Turrietta of Southern Pines, N.C.

Given in marriage by her father, Deborah chose a floor-length bridal gown of white organza. Her sister, Celia Brown, wearing a street-length dress of light blue organza, was her honor attendant.

Thomas Walsh of San Anselmo was best man and ushering guests to their seats were the bridegroom's three brothers, Orlando Turrietta of Petaluma, James Turrietta Jr. of Camp Pendleton and Jonathan Turrietta of Southern Pines.

Deborah who has another sister, Camas Brown, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Moore of Berkeley and Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Silva of Albuquerque, N. M., are Anthony's grandparents.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, the new Mrs. Turrietta attended College of Marin and University of California. An employee of Safeway Stores, her husband was also graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin.

Following a wedding reception at the Browns home, the newlyweds went on a honeymoon trip to Carmel. They plan to make their home in Fairfax.

An employee of Honda of San Francisco, Hal was graduated from Lodi High School and City College of San Francisco.

WORLD FIRST LADIES

Donna Laura Segni Is Called The Italian Lightning Rod

One of a series of seven articles on world women wed to power — first ladies of other countries who are seldom seen or read about by Americans or by their own people.

By LOUISE HICKMAN

ROME (AP)—Close friends of Donna Laura Segni, a shy silver-haired Sardinian of gentle upbringing, have good reason to apply to Italy's first lady the nickname "parafulmine"—lightning rod.

She not only serves as a peaceful oasis for President Antonio Segni but also knows how to absorb the tensions and storms that can build up in her husband because of his high office.

Donna Laura, 68, is five years younger than her husband. She prefers a quiet life in the shadows of his career and rarely attends official functions at the Quirinal Presidential Palace. She openly admits she is frightened at such affairs.

"THE NICEST PART of my day," she says, "is when Antonio walks into our private rooms, closes the door and tells me: 'Now we are alone, Laura'."

Mrs. Segni, the former Laura Carta, is the youngest of five daughters of a Sassari magistrate. She and Segni met in childhood. They share a love for the land typical of Sardinia's islanders, and a taste for Debussy, Bach, and Chopin. Both are accomplished pianists and frequent concert goers.

DONNA LAURA was raised in the old tradition that a wife must be able to adapt herself to her husband's personality, serving as a silent partner to sustain the burdens he must carry.

She has been following that concept since their first married days 43 years ago in Perugia, where Segni taught civil law at the university. She is still adapting herself—for instance, overcoming her dislike of flying to go with the President on frequent flights from Rome to Sardinia and occasional official trips to foreign lands.

THE SEGNIS HAVE four sons. Celestino, 38, is a lawyer who studied at Oxford and works for an organization helping underdeveloped nations. Giuseppe, 36, is a doctor of children's diseases and Paolo, 27, is a doctor specializing in infectious diseases. Mario, 23, is a law student.

The entire family gets together for summer outings at Stintion, a fisherman's village near Porto Torres on the north Sardinian coast, and cruises in the "Celestina," the President's single-sail Sardinian type boat.

"It's too bad I am too old to take a swim," Mrs. Segni said recently. "I know every stone of this coast. This is the most marvelous place on earth."

AS OFTEN AS they can the Segnis fly to Sassari for weekends with friends at the President's sprawling farm, where acres of olive trees and citrus orchards stand green against the deep blue Mediterranean sky.

There Mrs. Segni loves to put on an old earth-stained dress, a pair of sneakers and a loose straw hat to set out on long walks across the quiet countryside.

DONNA LAURA IS a striking woman who stands out when she is dressed for state affairs in the thousand-room Quirinal Palace back in Rome. She smiles often, in a winning way that is both shy and spontaneous.

Tall and blue-eyed, she prefers blues and browns in her wardrobe which she has placed in the hands of the Rome Couture House of Carosa. She deviates from the classical and the simple by allowing only an occasional jeweled embrodiery on an important gown.

Mrs. Segni devotes much of her free time to the Italian Red Cross, of which she is president, and to charities for children by lending her name and helping in fund-raising.

HER ACTIVITIES as the President's wife means she must be in Rome frequently, like her husband. Mainland Italians were delighted when a Sardinian shepherd once remarked, with the native pride that also characterizes Italy's Sardinian first family:

"It's a pity they have the habit of running off to Rome so often."

DONNA LAURA SEGNI, here cuddling a grandchild, shares a taste for Debussy, Chopin and Bach with her husband. Frequent concert goers, the Segnis are both accomplished pianists.

The Suburban Scene: Party Time In Marin

Santa Barbara Biltmore their headquarters.

MR. AND MRS. LAWRASON DRISCOLL of Novato are home from Southern California after a combined business and pleasure trip. Mr. Driscoll attended a symposium at the University of Southern California and then they spent 10 days relaxing in Malibu. The Driscolls' son, Lawrie, is among 25 students spending the summer touring Europe. Charles Schiffman of Stockton is heading the tour which will cover 14 countries including East Berlin and Russia, before returning home the first week in September.

THE WOODWARD MELONES of Novato are still talking about their recent week end at Paicines near Hollister and Almaden as guests of the Louis Benoists. Guests were members of Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin and their wives. All the food and wine served at the dinner Saturday and the luncheon Sunday, including the partridge, was raised on the Benoist ranches.

FIFTY-EIGHT FRIENDS from Marin and Sonoma Counties attended at the surprise housewarming party given Sunday for Mrs. Paini (Beverly) Irish by her sister, Mrs. William Paula of Petaluma. Mrs. Irish has just moved into her new home in Marin Gardens with her daughter, Kathleen. She has been a resident of Marin for 34 years.

LINDA FITZHARRIS, daughter of the Cletus Fitzharrises, who has just completed her term as president of the San Rafael 4-H Club, entertained about 60 members and friends at her home in San Rafael Sunday afternoon with a hotdog barbecue and picnic. Volleyball, softball, tetherball, croquet and lawn bowling were among the afternoon's activities.

REEDLANDS RESIDENTS Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Hayes opened their Calistoga country home, Woodfall Farm, for the recent playday and barbecue of the Reed Guild of Sunny Hills members and their husbands.

Lynda R. Tovatt Is Bride In Ross Rite

Married in St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross Saturday evening were Lynda Ruth Tovatt and Peter Norgaard. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harold Hallett.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Tovatt of Fairfax and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Norgaard of San Anselmo.

Wearing a floor-length gown of white lace with long sleeves and a bouffant skirt, Lynda was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Suzanne Tovatt, was maid of honor and twin cousins, Patricia Mallory and Michelle Mallory of Corte Madera were the bridesmaids.

The honor attendants wore similar floor-length gowns of pink slipper satin. The bride's young cousin, Nancy Mallory of San Francisco, was the flower girl.

Best man to the bridegroom was his brother, Greg Norgaard, and ushers were John McVikar of San Rafael and Charles Giannini of San Anselmo.

Both the newlyweds were graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. Lynda attended classes at College of Marin while Peter attended Pacific University at Forest Grove, Oregon. He is presently employed by the Western Pacific Railroad Co. in San Francisco.

Besides Suzanne, the bride has two other sisters, Mary and Catherine Tovatt. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. A. M. Mallory and the late Mr. Mallory of Fairfax and Mrs. J. W. Tovatt and the late Mr. Tovatt of Santa Clara.

Mrs. Wilfred Sidebottom and the late Mr. Sidebottom of San Francisco and Mrs. H. R. Norgaard and the late Mr. Norgaard of Rhode Island are Peter's grandparents.

Following a reception at the Deer Park Villa in Fairfax, the young couple went on a wedding trip to the Feather River area.

Girls State Elects

Joan Norton Troppmann of Corte Madera was elected a senator of the California Girls State Saturday in its 21st session at the Davis Campus of the University of California. Girls State is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Novato Girl In Stage Play

Mrs. William Carpenter and her daughter Pat of Novato are spending a few days in Southern California. A number of Novatans will be guests of Mrs. Carpenter at the Altadena Playhouse in Alameda on Friday night to attend the performance of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," starring Pat in the role of Molly. The grandson of the real life Molly Brown, Lawrence Palmer Brown, recently attended a performance and had high praise for Pat in the role. Attending the performance Friday night will be Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Wiedenmayer, Reuben Kaehler, David Kaehler, Charles Davies and Mrs. Alice Yarish and her daughter, Robin, all of Novato.

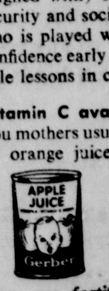
Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Sometimes new mothers concentrate so hard on the technicalities of baby care they forget to enjoy their babies. Your delight in your baby is one of the great golden gifts you can give. The baby who is talked to (and laughed with) lovingly, develops security and sociability. The baby who is played with happily gains confidence early and learns invaluable lessons in co-operation.

•

Vitamin C availability. I know you mothers usually think in terms of orange juice for baby's vitamin C. But it should be reassuring to know that Gerber Strained Apple Juice and juice combinations are fortified to give your baby just as much of this important vitamin as Gerber Orange Juice. One can of any of the other eight Gerber Juices supplies over 100% of the recommended daily dietary allowance for vitamin C. 9 varieties in all including the new Mixed Fruit Juice and Prune-Orange.



•

Golden rules for baby care. By-the-book rules are fine as guides but all rules do not fit all babies and any rule is only as good as its flexibility. Guides to good mothering: heed your doctor and your common-sensible head and lead with your heart. Happy is the baby whose mother makes adjustments for his (or her) individuality.

•

Growth patterns. Your baby grows much faster the first year than the next few put together. That's why he needs protein aplenty to give that growth a boost. Gerber Strained Meats are high in protein, low in fat and ever so easy to digest. Points to remember:

• Gerber Meats are cooked by an exclusive process which preserves the utmost in nutritive values; insures a smooth moist texture.

• They're the products of two great specialists — Gerber, famous for fine baby foods and Armour, famous for fine meats. Gerber® Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

THE CANTEEN SERVICE is vital to the center and eagerly anticipated by the donors, and the Junior Volunteers help with the snack preparation as well as do telephone recruiting of donors, serve as nurses aides, clerical assistants and supply room helpers.

Now Is Good Time To Evaluate Your Child's School Progress

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

This is an excellent time of the year for parents and students to look back and evaluate school progress. A student's academic, physical, and social growth will vary. His schedule and participation in various activities may need revision.

There are many advantages to an evaluation of this nature. It is particularly valuable in arranging plans for next year. It is also important for a child to have a realistic picture of his accomplishments.

ALTHOUGH IT is important to encourage a child, it is not necessary to create a false situation. If he is doing well in his school work, he should know it and if he is accomplishing very little, he should also be aware of this.

In either case encouragement can be given by using a positive approach. By this is meant emphasizing the accomplishments and ways in which the child can improve his learning.

As an example, consider the case of Alan Roberts. His report card had B's, C's and an A in reading. His parents spent some time with him looking back at the school year.

Alan was very happy to discuss his work with his parents. They were very careful to avoid telling Alan that he should have done better work. Their idea was to help him see if there were some things he felt would have improved his grades.

THE DISCUSSION was started by asking several questions about which subjects he found difficult; and if he felt he had sufficient time and proper facilities for studying at home. At no time did Alan's parents lead him to believe they were not satisfied. They emphasized that the discussion was for the purpose of making plans for next year.

The discussion was found to be very valuable. Alan had some good ideas. His parents were very pleased to receive his suggestions. They were not aware of some of the problems that existed.

Alan was very interested in baseball. He was a member of a team which played a game every Saturday and practiced every day after school. He had been forced to give up this activity because he was taking piano lessons. He really was not interested in the piano but thought his parents would be upset if he stopped. Actually they thought he left the team because he was not able to play well enough. They said nothing because they did not want him to feel bad.

IN ADDITION Alan had difficulty studying because his younger sister played the television which was in his room. He did not want it taken out so he did not say anything.

Both of these problems were easily solved. Alan and his parents were most encouraged with the plans for next year.

A Portland Wedding For Former San Anselmo Man

Sacramento will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Joseph Cunningham, who were married Saturday in a nuptial mass at St. Mary Magdalene Church in Portland. The Rev. James Kalherer performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, the former Kathleen Ann Flynn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vincent Flynn, and her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cunningham of San Anselmo.

Given in marriage by her father, Kathleen chose a white silk floorlength bridal gown trimmed with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. Mrs. James Flynn Jr. was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Shirley Wizer and Mary Hartung and Mrs. Robert Hicks, all of Portland. The honor attendants wore street-length dresses of turquoise linen.

The bridegroom's brother, Edward Cunningham of San Anselmo, was best man and ushers were William Haley of Novato and the bride's brothers, James Flynn Jr. and John Flynn of Portland.

Kathleen, an elementary school teacher, was graduated from St. Mary's High School in Portland and Marylhurst College. Her husband was graduated from St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco and Santa Clara University.

A wedding reception was held at the Riverside Golf and Country Club in Portland, after which the newlyweds left on a trip to Canada.

High School, College Girls Blood Bank's New Assistants

The days of summer will be far from lazy ones for a group of Marin girls who are launched on a special community service project at Marin Blood Center in San Rafael. They make up the corps of Junior Volunteers who assist the staff in the necessary services as nurses' aides, canteen hostesses, clerical assistants and supply room helpers.

Inaugurated in May with the cooperation of Mrs. Leiton J. Elder, director of volunteers at San Rafael General Hospital, the junior group has expanded so that 14 high school and college girls are now sharing this vacation activity. Nine of the girls are from San Rafael General Hospital Junior Volunteers and five from Marin General Hospital Juniors, with one unattached girl who is doing a special work in telephone recruiting.

Miss Gloria Gibala, R.N., supervisor of the local blood center, which is operated by the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society with the cooperation of the Marin Medical Society, compliments the junior corps for the enthusiasm and dependability of its members.

"We certainly are pleased to have such a competent and attractive group of girls assisting us during vacation time," Miss Gibala says. "The girls are efficient, enthusiastic and dependable too. Several of them are planning careers in nursing or the medical assistants field and the volunteer service helps them in their chosen work."

San Rafael General Hospital Juniors include Judy Elder, College of Marin, who has been named chairman of her group for the blood center activity; Suzi Columbo, Lisa Malet, Chris Nicholson and Cathy Waltz, all of San Rafael High School; Anna Huck, Terra Linda High School; Susan Benson, Drake High School; Carolyn Weiss, College of Marin, and Nancy Valador.

Junior Volunteers from Marin General Hospital are Kathy Schmitz, Dominican Convent, chairman; her twin sister, Lynn Schmitz, also of Dominican; Marilyn Burns and Lucia Blakeslee, Redwood High School, and Mary Kathryn Greiner, College of Marin.

In addition, Karen Wolfson, Redwood High School, who is not a member of the hospital junior volunteers, is helping as a telephone recruiter, contacting prospective blood donors in an effort to increase the number of people who are regular donors for the needs of Marin hospitals and patients.

Marin Blood Center is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., when donors make replacements for patients in hospitals, give blood for the community reserve fund, organizational reserves, or for personal credit in the blood bank.

Cigarette Warning Demand; Whose Responsibility?

The Federal Trade Commission's order that all cigarette labels and advertising must warn that cigarette smoking "may cause death from cancer and other diseases," has revived many an argument between smokers and abstainers. Plenty of court action is in sight. Already, it has stirred a wide disparity within government itself.

The dramatic assumption of authority by the FTC—an independent government agency—came as a bombshell when issuance of the order was announced by its chairman, Paul Rand Dixon. This came at a meeting of the House Commerce Committee, during its lengthy consideration of a number of bills from Congressmen on the matter of cigarette smoking.

It came after the same committee was advised by Surgeon General Luther L. Terry that the Food and Drug Administration should have authority to regulate cigarette labels. And the Commerce Committee questioned the Federal Trade Commission's authority to issue this rule at a time when comprehensive study is under way.

But the FTC—which is not directly under the White House—insists present laws give it regulatory control of both labeling and advertising. There will be plenty of fire.

The FTC has performed a signal service in its field of silencing unproven claims of medical endorsement for a number of medicines sold without restriction; in doing the same in misleading advertising of many food products. Whether it can be spokesman in demanding warnings concerning a health matter or possible legislation in debatable.

Under its reasoning, couldn't the FCC follow with other demands—candy bar labels warn that too much candy could bring dental caries; overeating certain foods can cause obesity, which might lead to heart trouble; or even that mechanical tools could dismember fingers?

If the government is to take any action in the cigarette matter, let it first be determined which branch or agency has the authority to act.

ANOTHER PLACE TO CUT DOWN

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

SOLDIER HELPS TAXPAYERS

A quick-thinking army sergeant saved the government an outlay of $80,000.

As a member of a missile base staff, he was sent on a routine visit to a supplier. While there, he spotted a large stock of parts that had been declared surplus or unacceptable for production use.

But the sergeant immediately realized that these discarded parts were not completely useless. He pointed out that they would be quite adequate as training aids at the base's school and would save buying an equivalent amount of new parts.

You may never be in a position to effect such an outstanding saving, but as a citizen and taxpayer you can exercise shrewdness and a sense of economy. You can do something, however little, to see that in all areas of public spending full value is received for every dollar spent.

God entrusts the blessings of freedom to us. But in so doing, He expects us to show reasonable concern and care in the way we use them.

"The plans of the diligent are sure of profit."
(Proverbs 21:5)

Let me show my gratitude for the advantages of freedom, O Lord, by cherishing and protecting them.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Times Change Down On Farm —State Enters Hiring Picture

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) Not too many years ago when a farmer needed help, and a youngster showed up looking for a job, he was told to grab a ladder, get out in the orchard, and pick fruit.

Today, things are different. State bureaucracy has entered the picture, and is making a production of getting young people to work on the farms.

Group leader courses are being given vocational agriculture majors as crew leaders. Four year college agriculture majors are employed in farm supervision.

AGRICULTURAL youth employment kits are being distributed to Boy Scout council executives, as well as to 4-H clubs.

Home economics teachers are assisting in developing job opportunities for girls and all-girl crews have been selected from girl baseball, basket-ball, bowling, golf, tennis and other athletic teams, to work in "suitable" harvest activities.

The YMCA in one community is putting young men through a period of pre-employment physical training to "condition" them for farm work.

Employers are using modern methods of worker recruitment and vocational training and orientation, including how-to-do-it motion pictures and informational material produced by state agencies.

The departments of education, employment and industrial relations are giving "developmental attention" to projects designed to make young workers more valuable to agriculture.

THESE things are all outlined in a release from the state department of employment, which reports there is a "brighter outlook" today for youth in summer farm employment.

All of which brings up the conclusion that if all the people training the kids got out and started working, there might not be as bad a farm labor problem, as there is and will be with the elimination of the Mexican worker.

The California Council of Growers, a wide-spread organization which now is primarily concerned with the labor supply, has been studying the efforts of the state to provide workers.

The council noted an effort was made in Oakland and Berkeley to send strawberry pickers to Sunol. The state referred 61 welfare recipients to jobs. When the haul started, 31 workers showed up, one of whom was a welfare recipient. Of the 31 people, 11 quit by the end of the second hour. The second day, ten people went to work, only five of whom had worked the day before.

OUT OF 24 GROWERS days surveyed during the study, only five showed a net return over harvest costs.

In other words, all the motion "how - to - do - it" pictures, training programs, and other efforts of bureaucracy aren't going to make domestic labor want to work in harvests.

It's easier to draw welfare checks at the taxpayers expense than it is to pick strawberries. The growers didn't report as to whether the 60 welfare workers in Oakland who were referred to strawberry picking jobs were taken off the welfare rolls for not showing up.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Los Ranchitos Road Reopening Needed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

RE: Los Ranchitos Road

On July 20, 1961, the tunnel under Puerto Suello hill was partially destroyed by fire started by two boys. Since that time there has been hearings by the ICC, and other agencies, but to date the Los Ranchitos Road, a public roadway, has been closed.

This roadway is one that should be open, and especially now since the Big "E" is open for business, and also the general increase of homes in the area. From all indications the Northwestern Railroad, controlled by the South Pacific, is telling the folks in Marin and especially in San Rafael, to go where the heat is the most.

It will soon be July 20, 1964, and during this time the roadway has never been used for vehicular traffic. First there are arguments, briefs are filed, again arguments, more briefs, then the ICC held hearings, and it was recommended that denial of NWP petition be in order, and that NWP must restore service. Again the NWP (Southern Pacific) appealed the ruling, and again was rejected.

We are still without the use of Los Ranchitos Road. Why?

Better Environment Or Lower Taxes?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In regard to the rather substantial taxes that would accrue to the City of Larkspur, the school district and the county, if the 12-story, 140 ft. high rise retirement home is built in the Bon Air area . . . we could get even more taxes if the Larkspur City Council will approve three or four or maybe a dozen such sky-scrapers.

We have to decide whether we are willing to trade our county environment for a promise of less taxes. And we should not forget that the retirement homes is a six million dollar financial venture. The people who retire in the proposed sky-scraper must be willing and able to pay for it in a substantial way.

Cites Recreation Budget Figures

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Dear Sir:

The recreation budget for Terra Linda is $64,100.00. The recreation budget for Marin City is less than $2,000.00.

Terra Linda and Marin City have approximately the same number of children taking part in their individual recreation programs.

There is, of course, no racial discrimination in Marvelous Marin so this discrepancy must be just an oversight which will be corrected . . .

Asian Activities Appall Dr. Hanzel

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The news that the administration considers the commitment to Southeast Asia as comparable with its committment to West Berlin is appalling. There is no analogy between the two problems. The people of West Berlin want our protection, and our position there has some legal and a conceivably moral basis.

Most of the people of South Viet Nam and Laos are actively opposed to our presence and are rebelling against the rule of our stooges. Our military activity there is in violation of solemn treaty obligations (Geneva 1954). The official lie that our men are there as "instructors and advisors" is no longer even an indecent pretense. We can no more solve the problem with military force or bribery than the French could (in Indo-China or in Algeria).

Are the American people so gullible that they will allow thousands of American service men to die in futile combat because of the "political inexpediency" of an unfavorable agreement before the election?

The billions poured into Southeast Asia have been wasted. The general population suffering has increased and only the war profiteers have gained. Napalming villages cannot make friends, nor beat the Viet Cong! Ultimately the neighbors of Red China are destined to be friendly to her or dominated by her. Since any government of which we approve cannot survive—we should get out! DeGaulle's concept of neutralization by negotiation would be the most expedient escape from this untenable situation. Only genocide of the Vietnamese and Laotian people can "save" that area "for American interests!"

More Concerning News Objectivity

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I should like to comment on reader Doyle's letter appearing in your paper on June 23 and also on your editorial comment to his letter.

The letter by Doyle, in my opinion, was excellent and indicated the problem of "managed press" that raised such a furor in Congress a year or two ago. Your suggestion is that perhaps "analysis should have been held up for months or years by the media?" All Doyle is asking for is objective reporting rather than slanting the news in some specific direction with the apparent definite purpose in mind to soften the public reaction relative to what is really happening in the world today.

And what is happening in the world today? The Independent-Journal's candidate, Nelson Rockefeller and his brother David and the rest of the "kingmakers" in the Council on Foreign Relations have plans to merge us "comfortably" into communism in the not too distant future via the "legalized" socialistic route. Incidentally, they are using tax free foundation money for this purpose.

On page two of your June 23 paper, in an Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco, the Soviet Ambassador says that "little by little, relations between this country and Russia are moving in the right direction." On page one, Lodge is coming home "to possibly work for Scranton." The fact is, he is coming home to try and keep the kingmakers in power so there will be no interruption in the forthcoming "merger" they have planned for we Americans whether the President be Johnson or Scranton.

Please, Mr. Editor, or someone; give us some objective reporting that will PROVE I am wrong! I too, like Doyle, would like to have the facts so that, in retrospect, the United States will not have followed the pattern and gone communist.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

AT A CHILDREN'S pet show last fall, a duck won the title "happiest pet." When the pets lined up for awards, said duck broke loose from his young mistress and in a trice ate up his competition: a frog, two worms, and a cricket. The judges thereupon awarded the "happiest pet" a second title: "most hungry."

OLD MAN Babcock was inching his dilapidated jalopy down Main Street when a traffic officer signalled him to halt. "Don't worry, pop," said the officer reassuringly. "I just want to see what it feels like to put my foot on a running board again."

THREE LETTERS from mail-order customers unearthed by Juliet Lowell in "Dear Man of Affairs":

1. "I received your insolent letter asking for payment. Enclosed is my check. I will never buy one cent's worth of merchandise from you again. P.S. This is the kind of letter I'd have written if I had the money to pay you."

2. "Your paint is no good. I put some on a bench and my daughter's boy friend sat on it and got his Sunday suit all green. Now he's mad and I still have Suzie on my hands."

3. "Please send me a bathing suit I can wear in the bathtub. Make it good-looking as my neighbors are a very nosey lot."

Johnson Determined To Build His Record With Bills Passed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson, a man of highly competitive spirit mixed with endless and determined energy, heads into one of the biggest tests of his career.

This is with his own Democratic-run Congress. When he campaigns for election he will need a good record of domestic achievement to point to.

Congress, under his persistent prodding, has two major achievements to its credit so far this year: (1) A tax cut and (2) A civil rights bill which seems certain of passage.

But at a news conference this week he said there were about 30 bills he hoped to get through.

To do all that Congress will have to work right up until early July, before the Republican convention begins, and then return and probably work until the Democratic convention starts Aug. 24.

HE SUGGESTED that from now on Congress work six days a week.

The Senate alone has a mountain of work piled up, the result of its months of debate on the civil rights bill, which it passed last Friday. Everything else got stalled until that job was done.

Johnson, a lot more persistent operator in pushing Congress for what he wants than President John F. Kennedy was, telephones, buttonholes, confers, and otherwise unrelentingly puts the heat on.

BUT HE NEVER, if only because this is his first year in the presidency, came up against the problem in front of him now. He will need all his ingenuity to build his record.

One of his major programs—medical care for the aged—looks like it's probably dead for 1964. The House Ways and Means Committee voted it down.

Now the only hope for medicare seems to lie with the Senate.

It will be practically a miracle if it gets through.

YET, JOHNSON has had astonishing success so far with another program—foreign aid—in which all the presidents back to and including Harry S. Truman took a heavy beating.

For 16 years this was the routine: A president would ask a certain sum, in the billions, for foreign aid and Congress would chop hundreds of millions or a billion or more off it.

This was so routine it looked like a game: A president would ask far more than he expected to get in order to wind up, when the chopping was over, with about what he figured he could do with in the first place.

BUT JOHNSON asked for 3.5 billion dollars or 1 billion dollars less than Kennedy did in 1963. Kennedy wound up with roughly 1.3 billion dollars knocked off.

Johnson represented his request as a minimum figure and until now the House, which has not completed final action, has appeared willing to give him approximately what he asked.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Rusk Works Behind Scenes With Peking

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There are two sides to the grimly tough talk emanating from the very highest administration levels that the U.S. is prepared to go to war with Red China to maintain the independence of Laos and South Vietnam.

While President Lyndon B. Johnson publicly is proclaiming this all-out determination against "those who believe they can violate their neighbors' borders and steal their neighbors' freedom," behind - the - scenes, through diplomatic channels, Secretary Rusk is tendering Peking a series of tempting "peace" proposals.

IN RETURN for "restraining" their puppet Viet Cong and Pathet Lao, in South Vietnam and Laos, Rusk is holding out to the Communist rulers of China the following five far-reaching prospects:

"Normalization of relations" with the U.S.; in effect, the establishment of some form of diplomatic relations.

Surplus food commodities (urgently needed by the Reds), trade and credits.

Admittance to the United Nations.

Access to the "rice bowl" (Mekong Valley) of South Vietnam.

Phased withdrawal of U.S. military forces from South Vietnam.

These profoundly significant backstage overtures are being made chiefly through Britain and France, which have embassies in Peking and direct access to its key leaders.

This on-the-record "stick" and behind-the-scenes "carrot" policy is deliberate, and extensively organized.

AS UNDERSTOOD BY informed congressional leaders, this "stick and carrot" concept will constitute the guidelines in the coming weeks and months for vigorously pressing for a direct confrontation with Red China over Communist attempts to seize control of Laos and South Vietnam.

LONG-RANGE aim is to "create an atmosphere both in the U.S. and China" to make possible the application of the "carrot" aspect.

Under the policy there is no thought or plan of any kind to in any way affect the continued Communist domination of China.

The selection of General Maxwell Taylor, former head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as new ambassador to South Vietnam, is directly related to this extremely risky and explosive strategy.

Actually, he will operate as theater commander. U. Alexis Johnson, who has held ambassadorial positions, goes to Saigon as deputy ambassador. His job will be to handle diplomatic problems, while Taylor concentrates on the more pressing military aspects.

THE "STICK AND CARROT" concept is spelled out in detail in a policy paper as follows:

The Stick: The evolution of a Communist Chinese state willing to live in reasonable harmony within the free community will be an uncertain process. We can contribute to that evolution by making clear to Peking and Moscow that we will not initiate aggression against Communist China, but we will use force to deter and deal with the Chinese Communists' military or indirect aggression wherever it occurs.

We can contribute to that evolution by making clear to Peking and Moscow that we will not initiate aggression against Communist China, but we will use force to deter and deal with the Chinese Communists' military or indirect aggression wherever it occurs.

The Carrot: Concurrently, we should leave ajar possibilities for opening commercial, cultural and other contacts with Communist China. We should make clear that there is no final bar to the entrance of Communist China into more normal relations with the U.S., if it is prepared to modify its present policies.

Last Faint Echo Of Western Weekend Still Rings For Scribe

No celebration such as Novato's Western Weekend could go by without leaving some aftermaths. Some of these are strange, such as last year when a dozen dead jackrabbits were found on Grant Avenue, when the celebration ended.

One of the funniest this year concerns one of the lost or stolen wallets reported to police. These reports occur during any carnival. Some of it can be blamed on pickpockets that follow such crowds and some on people losing them when taking rides.

However, a certain person reported to police that he had lost his billfold or that it had been stolen. When the truth came out, it went something like this: he had gone to the carnival and had imbibed certain refreshments until he became slightly inebriated. When he woke up at home the next morning, he discovered that his wallet was missing. So he reported it to the police. It was some time later that he found his wallet at home in his bedroom, misplaced . . . .

The Novato fire department is not a small, one-truck affair. If we implied this in reporting Western Weekend, it was one of those slips which occur between news bureaus and city desks.

Although there was a fire during the water ball fight on Saturday, the fight still went on with Novato winning 14 to 9 score. Somewhere the Independent-Journal reported a no contest affair.

"We're no one horse outfit," fire chief George Cavallero reported his men as stating. "We can fight a fire and still have men left over for the water ball fight."

Our apologies to both the Kentfield and Novato fire departments which not only handled a stubborn grass and brush fire, but also entertained the crowd with a water ball fight at the same time.

One other little error crept into the reporting of the many events on Western Weekend. The float of the junior women which stalled for 45 minutes in front of Wright hardware, was not out of gas, as was first reported. It was later found to be mechanical trouble. Our apologies to the ladies for our thinking that they were ever out of gas.

Several people have called it to our attention that a few Sundays ago the bulletin of our Lady of Loretto Catholic Church on Novato Boulevard asked the people not to double and triple park in front of the church.

We knew that the street was wider in front of the church than elsewhere but we didn't know that double and triple parking was allowed anywhere.

Some members of the Novato chamber of commerce have been waging a campaign to get Novato on the map.

This is not just a figure of speech, but literally a campaign to get Novato on many maps. This was especially true of some oil company maps. They showed San Rafael, Ignacio and Petaluma, but ignored Novato.

Well, we don't know whether or not their campaign was successful or not, but in the July reader's digest is a house ad for their new atlas. It has a circled inset of a map of the San Francisco Bay area. And there, not as big as San Rafael or Petaluma, but there nevertheless, is Novato.

At least it is in the reader's digest atlas.

Lexicophobia Cannot Help But Be Reader's Reaction To This

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you tired of having the same old fears?

Wouldn't you like some fresh anxieties to fret over to make your life more interesting?

Well, be of good cheer. The possibilities are endless.

Medical dictionaries now list some 300 or more specific fears, and the list is growing. They all have wonderfully impressive-sounding names, and the chances are you have had some of these dreads all along and never knew it.

If you hat losing a golf match, your friends may merely put you down as a poor sport. But if you tell them you're suffering from rhapdophobia — which is the fear of being beaten — they're bound to feel more sympathetic.

Perhaps it embarrasses you if the boss catches you dozing in your swivel chair at the office. Put your ailment down as hypnophobia, the fear of falling asleep.

If you hate being alone, you have got monophobia; if you can't stand crowds, you're a victim of ochlophobia — and probably also apephobia, the fear of physical contact.

Old maids who can't stand men, dogs or marriage are triply afflicted with androphobia, cynophobia and gamophobia.

Women who are always cajoling their husbands into taking them out for the evening suffer from a complaint common among housewives — domatophobia, the fear of being shut up in a house.

That nursery rhyme character, Little Miss Muffet, who was frightened off her tuffet by a spider, acted from the deep-seated feeling of arachnephobia.

If you're looking for some really unusual fears, here are a few:

Dipsophobia—fear of liquor.

Chrematophobia — fear of money.

Aulophobia — fear of hearing flutes.

Taeniophobia — fear that you are harboring a tapeworm.

Linonophobia—fear of string.

Phronemophobia — fear of thinking.

Autophobia—fear of yourself.

Of course, if you can't make up your mind what to be afraid of—and the choices are practically endless—there is a package deal available.

You might decided to settle for pantophobia. That means the fear of everything.

Paris Reassures Israeli Leader

PARIS (UPI) — France's increasing ties with the Arab world are not being made at the expense of French-Israelian relations, President Charles de Gaulle assured Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol yesterday.

Diplomatic sources said de Gaulle assured Eshkol that France remains Israel's "friend and ally." De Gaulle also showed interest in joint U.S.-Israeli plans for desalinization of seawater through nuclear energy, the sources said.

Sshkol also met with foreign minister Maurice Couve de Murville and today will meet with French Defense Minister Pierre Messner.

Israeli Tractor Fired On By Syrian Gunmen

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — An Israeli tractor was fired upon yesterday from across the Syrian border on the Southeast shore of the Sea of Galilee, frontier police reported.

No casualties were reported and the Israelis said they did not return the fire. Israel lodged a complaint with the mixed armistice commission.

Today is Tuesday, June 30, the 182nd day of 1964 with 184 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1935, Adolf Hitler began the bloody purge of Germany, eliminating many political and military leaders who had once supported him.

In 1950, President Harry Truman announced the transfer of U. S. troops in Japan to Korea to assist in the war against North Korean invaders.

In 1958, the Senate approved the bill to make Alaska the 49th state.

In 1960, the Belgian Congo became the Republic of Congo, soon to be the scene of bloody internal strife.

Thought for the day — German author Thomas Mann, said: "Opinions cannot survive if one has no chance to fight for them."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Make Allowances For Bad Breaks When Playing Game

The correct way to play a suit depends partly on the number of tricks you need.

The point is illustrated by one of the hands played in the recent Bridge Olympics.

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	4 ♡	All Pass

Opening lead — ♠ 4

West opens the four of spades, and declarer wins with the jack. South cashes both black aces and then leads a diamond.

MUST STEP UP

West must step up with the ace of diamonds and then returns a diamond to dummy's queen. At this stage declarer's only problem is to limit the trump loss to two tricks.

Declarer leads the trump from dummy, and East plays the jack.

South should play the queen if the contract is five hearts, but should play low at the actual contract of four hearts.

LOSES 3 TRUMPS

If South plays the queen of hearts, he will lose to the ace. South will later draw the seven on his king of hearts but will then have to lose tricks to the ten and nine. South thus loses three trump tricks — and his contract.

If the five missing trumps are divided 3-2, South can afford to play low on the first trump trick.

The ace will not fall in this case, but South can later lead the king of hearts to drive out the ace; and then he can finish drawing the trumps by leading the queen of hearts.

ONLY CHANCE

If the trumps are 4-1, South's only chance is that the singleton is the ace. As the cards lie, West must play the ace anyway. South can later draw two rounds of trumps with the king and queen, and can give up one other trump trick to East.

South would correctly play the queen of hearts on the first trump trick if he could afford to lose only one trump. Then he would have to play East for the doubleton ace of trumps.

South would hope to win the first trump trick with his queen and then return a low trump in the hope that East would be obliged to play the ace.

The Husband Said . . .
"Selling my house was no trouble at all. All I did was tell my broker to 'Put it in Multiple Listing.' He handled every single detail . . . He found the buyer, arranged the finance for him and closed the deal. All I did was sign the deed."

The Wife Said . . .
"The thing I like the most was the way they showed my house. They never showed it until they had first called and made an appointment. They only showed it to people who were qualified to purchase it. All lookers were accompanied by a broker who answered all of their questions pertaining to the property."

And best of all, "It cost not a penny more."

EXPENSIVE?
Can you afford something special? We have just obtained an exclusive listing on a custom built 2 bdrm., 2 bath home, which cost the owner $26,000 to build 2 yrs ago after having paid $10,000 for the ⅔ acre lot. It is the only house on a cul-de-sac & has a panoramic view that includes Mt. Diablo as well as Mt. Tam. There is room to build an extra house as well as a pool. The yard is designed for easy maintenance & contains dozens & dozens of young redwood & Monterey pine trees in addition to a variety of other plants. It is well worth the asking price of $37,000.

Warehouse Safe Is Burglarized

Burglars who peeled a small safe at a Continental Baking Co. warehouse, 730 Francisco Boulevard, made off with an estimated $400 cash and $500 in checks, Marin County sheriff's officers said today.

Deputies said Dale E. Swinford, firm transport driver discovered an overhead door had been forced about 5 a.m. today and reported the breakin. The safe apparently was peeled with tools carried by the intruders, officers said. The money and checks were in white canvas money bags about eight by 12 inches in size.

The warehouse was closed for the weekend at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

Delaware was named after Lord De La Warre, first governor of the Virginia Company.

State Schooling Issues On Agenda For Marin Meet

The California School Boards Assn. will hold one of a series of 42 "Alert Programs" at 6 p.m. next Monday at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera in cooperation with Marin County School Boards Assn.

The meeting is designed to update trustees and school administrators on educational issues and legislation. It will deal with these five topics: negotiations with the California Teachers Assn.; collective bargaining as proposed by the American Federation of Teachers; the civil service, de facto segregation, and the Unruh Act.

Speakers will be Glenn W. Hoffman, former superintendent of schools in Glenn County and now a consultant to the state association; Alfred Newman, member of the Vallejo City School Board, and Warren Carson, the state association's consultant on school finance.

On Aircraft Carrier

Adam W. Durham, Navy shipfitter third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam W. Durham of 54 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo, is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier Lake Champlain, visiting Northern Europe in June and July.

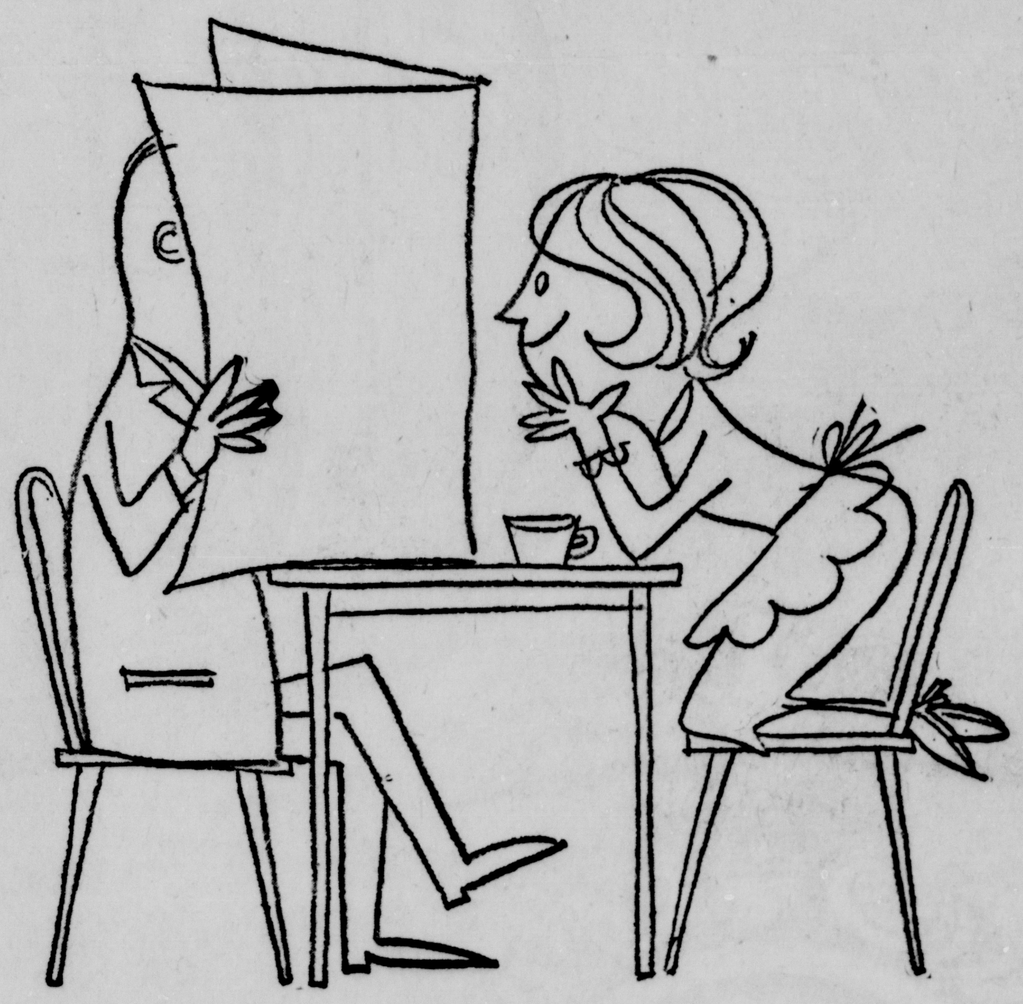
Newspapers are for hiding behind ...and getting exposure in!



It's a poor bargain that won't work both ways. And the daily newspaper is just about the best bargain that money can buy, for reader and advertiser. It's the time-honored right of the man of the house to escape into his newspaper, but that's also a great chance for the advertiser to speak out across the table to the little woman on the subjects closest to her heart. So if you want to sell her something, tell her about it in the newspaper.

$21-Million Preliminary County Budget Voted

Board Says Finance Situation 'Serious'

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today officially approved for printing a preliminary budget of $21,074,684, including the county library.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said the expected tax rate would be $2.375 per $100 assessed valuation, compared to $2.255 this year. Those areas supporting the library would also pay an additional 15-cent library tax.

The vote on the budget was unanimous, although Supervisor William D. Fusselman made it clear he was voting only approval for printing it. The hearing on the budget was set for Aug. 14.

FUSSELMAN OPPOSED

Fusselman said he was opposed to the amount of money being put into the budget for the second unit of the civic center. He predicted he would vote against the final budget if that amount which will require 15 cents on the tax rate, stays in.

The total budget compares to $16,998,603 for the fiscal year which ends today. The major increase was caused by legislative changes increasing requirements for public assistance programs. In the recommended budget, public assistance costs rose 35.8 per cent, but some of these costs, especially for medical care, were later revised upward still further.

Other late increases, after the recommended budget was given to the board, came back for the sheriff's office and the county airport. Road projects were cut back, but road maintenance funds were increased.

LATE INCREASES

"We sat here for two weeks and I don't think one department head went out of here happy," commented Chairman William A. Gnoss. "We're in a serious financial situation." He predicted that carryover balances this year would be unusually low, while they have amounted to as much as $200,000 in the past.

"We're in a real bind," said Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, referring to the increase in the public assistance budgets. "We've rolled back new hirings. We really are not kidding about the financial situation."

AFTER DEATH CRASH

Overpass Median Barrier Is Sought

The California Division of Highways district engineer's office today sent to Sacramento a recommendation that a median barrier be erected on the San Rafael Overpass, where six persons died in a fiery two-car crash Saturday night.

Jack Grasberger, executive assistant of the division of highways office, said the report recommended extension of the barrier from Corte Madera Creek to the north end of the San Rafael overpass.

Grasberger said that it would be more than a year before the barrier could be constructed, assuming that approval was given by the state engineer and the highway commission and funds were made available.

Saturday's accident would have a bearing on the priority of the project as traffic deaths on a highway are taken into consideration when a median barrier is recommended for construction, Grasberger said.

He said there had been no previous traffic deaths on the overpass for "two or three years" caused by cars crossing the divider strip.

The California Highway Patrol continued its investigation of the accident today with a thorough probe of the car which carried five members of one family to death.

Witnesses to the accident heard not one but several explosions following the collision, according to Lt. Danta Lanza.

Consumed by fire after the crash was the 1964 Chrysler Imperial driven by Theodore O. Neal of Terra Linda and San Francisco, and occupied also by his wife, Cecilia, their son Ricky, and Mrs. Neal's aunt and uncle, Wallace R. Linden and Mrs. Victoria MacLalan of San Francisco. All five died in the crash, as did Ronald Martinez of San Rafael, driver of a northbound MGA sports car which crossed into the southbound lane to crash head-on with the Neal auto.

The wreckage was bein examined to determine whether Neal, a painting contractor, might have been carrying paint cans in the trunk of his car. Lanza said the explosions could have been caused by the ruptured gasoline tank, even though it was torn off the car.

The highway patrol is still seeking witnesses who might have seen Martinez's white MGA roadster racing along Highway 101 in the northbound lane prior to the accident shortly after 9 p.m.

Industry Park Plans Revealed In Novato Area

Plans for a 49-acre industrial park and commercial complex in Novato were announced yesterday by John Novak Inc.

Novak revealed plans for the industrial park on 33 acres and a commercial development on 16 acres at meetings of the industrial committee and board of directors of the Novato Chamber of Commerce. Both bodies voted to give full support to the project.

The area involved lies east of Highway 101, North of Novato Creek, west of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, and south of Clausing Avenue. It is now zoned for single-family residences.

COMMERCIAL AREA

"We have definite commitments for both the Novak Industrial Park and the Dias Plaza, the commercial development," Novak said.

Bellucci Realty, which owns two and one-half acres in the commercial area, will handle the commercial development, Novak reported.

Novak said Stanford Research Institute has "several leads" on industries which might locate in such a tract. He said these would be in electronic, plastics and insurance fields.

TO FILL LAND

Novak said he has spent $100,000 to fill the land and "as soon as it is rezoned, I am ready to go." Sewers and water lines already have been extended to the property. Northwestern Pacific will run in a railroad spur, he said.

"There is some talk of dredging Novato Creek for barges, but that will be some time in the future," he added.

N. D. Ferzacca and Associates of Tiburon are architects for the development.

"The land lies in the path of the proposed freeway, but we are going ahead with it anyway," Novak said. He said the freeway may take about 12 acres, but this would merely divide the commercial from the industrial part of the development.

"If the state puts the freeway through, we will ask for an underpass and an off-ramp," Novak declared.

Error Halts Promotions For County

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday agreed in principle to revamping the county salary ordinance, but anembarrassed county administrator today asked that the board take back its approval of raises for 37 specified jobs.

The board called for an ordinance for the new salary structure, which will separate job classifications and annual step increases within job categories by five per cent. But the supervisors held up action on which jobs will fit where in the new setup.

The board yesterday approved 37 immediate promotions, range changes and special step increases, on request of department heads and with the understanding the changes had been approved by personnel director Robert D. Elliott.

County Administrator Alan Bruce today told the board that Elliott had not approved the changes and, in fact, opposed some of them. Elliott had sat through the discussion on the changes without comment, however.

Bruce said the mistake was his fault, but that the 37 changes should be reviewed. The board decided to let the action stand for now, but to review them next Tuesday.

"This is unfortunate," commented Supervisor Peter H. Behr. "You had better tell the depart-

Medieval Spectacle All Set For Marin Art, Garden Fair

The 1964 Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross will open with a blast of trumpets and a new look tomorrow night.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael will officiate at opening ceremonies at 5:45 p.m. and the fair will be open to the public at 6 p.m., starting a five-day run.

Flowing banners, roaming archers and formal gardens will carry out the fair's medieval theme.

In keeping with the theme, there will be a new layout at the fairgrounds with the commercial area set aside from the garden area.

A record number of 27 gardens, professional and amateur, competing for $15,725 in prize money, and 23 concessions will be located at the fairgrounds at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

There will be daily entertainment, are, antique, mineral and photography exhibits, refreshments and shuttle bus transportation for visitors, and a carousel for children.

The busses will travel on alternate 10-minute schedules from the College of Marin parking lot and downtown San Anselmo, between Bolinas and Ross Avenues, to the fairgrounds. Parking at the Ross Town Common is prohibited.

The fair will be open from 6 to 10 p.m. tomorrow and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. through Sunday.

Opening night entertainment will include folk dancing by The Marin Folk Dance Council at 7:30 p.m. on the amphitheater stage, and a fashion show at 8:45 p.m. on the Northgate stage.

"Mayor Art" of television will open Thursday's entertainment, appearing from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the Northgate Stage, followed by the 12th Naval District Band in concert from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

There will be square dancing on the amphitheater stage at 7:30 p.m. and a Magic Circle production on the Northgate stage at 8:45 p.m.

Friday the Marin Folk Dance Council will present its second performance on the Amphitheater stage at 7:30 p.m., and there will be a light opera performance by Corinne Swall and Stanley Noonan on the Northgate stage at 8:45 p.m.

Saturday the Terra Linda High School Band will present concerts at 1 and 2 p.m., there will be square dancing on the Amphitheater stage at 7:30 p.m., and a performance of "Taming of the Shrew" by the Marin Shakespeare Festival at 8:45 p.m.

Sunday there will be barbershop quartet singing by the Marin Chapter, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, at 1 p.m., and a performance by the Marin Civic Ballet at the Ampitheater at 8:45 p.m.

Continuing performers through the run of the fair will include the Laselli Marionettes, presented by Leslie and Eleanor Heath of Novato, 2:30 and 4:30 Thursday, 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Friday, 11 a.m., 2:30 and 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

Other performers will be the Orems, a marimba team, 4 and 6 p.m., Thursday and Friday; Emory Stevenson, organist, 5 and 7:30 p.m., Thursday, and 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday; the Marin Handbell Ringers, 7 p.m., Thursday through Sunday, and Poogie-Poggie, the Jester, 3 p.m. Thursday, 11:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Friday, and 11:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Big Oil Rig Explodes— Four Dead

MORGAN CITY, La. (UPI) — A catamaran-shaped oil exploration vessel with 43 men aboard drilled into a natural gas pocket in the Gulf of Mexico today and exploded in a sea of flames.

The Coast Guard reported 26 survivors, many of them badly burned, four known dead and 13 men missing and feared dead.

The huge rig, one of thousands used to probe the bottom of the gulf for oil, exploded, burned and sank in 15 minutes in pre-dawn darkness.

The survivors were rushed to Morgan City by boat and helicopter. A physician at Lakewood Hospital said 16 survivors were hospitalized and the Ochsner Foundation Hospital in New Orleans was rushing plasma for them by helicopter.

Originally, the Coast guard reported 42 men aboard and 29 survivors.

Pilotless Plane Crashes In Flame; 2 Children Killed

HAVERHILL, Mass. (UPI) — A piltoless jet fighter plane crashed with the explosive fury of a bomb early today into three homes and a dozen parked cars in a residential area of this industrial city. Two sleeping children were killed.

The pilot, with an agonizing prayer that the area below was uninhabited, ejected himself from the F-86 single-seater craft and parachuted to safety. He landed in a tree top.

The plane dropped silently and swiftly in the blackness shortly after midnight and crashed with a thunderous roar on Lackney Street. The street was transformed into a sea of flames.

The plane ricochetted off one house, veered crazily down the street bouncing off parked cars and another house, and plunged nose first into the bedroom of a thrid house where the children were asleep with their pet dog.

Yanks Die In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas shot down a U. S. Army helicopter in South Vietnam's northern mountains today killing an American pilot and his U. S. gunner.

Rights Workers' Search Increased

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House today announced a doubling of the number of sailors searching the Philadelphia, Miss., area for three missing civil rights workers.

Last week 200 sailors from the Naval Air Station at Meridian, Miss., were assigned to assist Mississippi authorities and FBI agents in searching swamps, underbrush, ponds and streams of central Mississippi for the tric.

The three civil rights workers disappeared on the night of June 21 and their burned out station wagon was found near Philadelphia on June 22.

It Hasn't Been Year For Ducks

The weather year 1963-64, as you may have suspected, wasn't a very wet one.

Only 26.64 inches of rain fell in San Rafael from July 1, 1963 through today, nearly 10 inches less than the seasonal average of 36.57.

The year was the driest since 1960-61, when 24.92 inches were recorded. Last year 46.95 inches fell—the highest since 1957-58.

Only three times in the last 10 years has yearly rainfall been below 30 inches, according to records kept by the Crocker-Citizens Bank, San Rafael office.

County Signs Tiburon Contract; Charging Interest

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today signed a 45-day contract with the new City of Tiburon to provide city services until Aug. 15.

Supervisors also agreed to advance the city $30,000, in five monthly lumps of $5,000, at an interest rate of 3⅞ per cent.

The question of whether to charge interest sparked a debate between supervisors and Tiburon city councilmen, who recalled that an interest-free $25,000 loan was made to the City of Novato when it was incorporated.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, whose district includes Tiburon, voted against charging the interest.

The money, which county officials declined to call a 'loan," will cover city expenses until the new city begins to receive state reimbursements later this year.

Powerful Typhoon Batters Manila, Luzon

MANILA (UPI) — A powerful typhoon — dubbed Winnie —battered heavily populated Manila and Northern Luzon today with winds of up to 118 miles per hour and then headed across the China Sea towards the Red Chinese mainland.

At least 16 persons were reported killed and property damages were expected to run into millions of dollars. No Americans were reported among the causualties.

Congo Premier Quits

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula resigned today as the Congo marked the fourth anniversary of its independence and the last U.N. troops left the country. President Joseph Kasavubu accepted Adoula's resignation, saying a new government would be formed soon.

Lodge Avers Viets Not Election Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, expanding on his view that he doesn't see how U. S. policy in the Vietnam war could become a campaign issue, says "I don't see how it gets votes—how you can make it a good issue."

He adds:

"If you have a disaster in foreign relations then that becomes an issue whether the politicians make it one or not. Happily I see no prospect of any disaster."

Lodge, who resigned after 10 months as ambassador to South Vietnam, returned Monday to help Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

President Lyndon B. Johnson met with the retiring ambassador at the White House, then went before newsmen with Lodge at his side to express public thanks for his services in Saigon.

In replying to questions submitted to him by Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, Lodge said "things in Vietnam started to go better and I felt it was my duty to be here" to help Scranton.

The questions had been asked of Lodge in Saigon, but he said he preferred to defer his replies until his resignation became effective yesterday.

The questions and Lodge's replies included:

Q. Governor Scranton disagrees with you that the war in South Vietnam should not be an issue in the campaign. Now that you are supporting him, how do you expect to resolve this difference?

A. I have not said it should not be an issue. I have said I don't see how it could be. I don't see how it gets votes—how you can make it a good issue.

If you have a disaster in foreign relations, then that becomes an issue whether the politicians make it one or not. Happily, I see no prospect of any disaster.

Q. How do you propose to overcome Senator Goldwater's long lead for the nomination? And why did you wait so long to come home to enter the campaign?

A. That's two questions. With respect to the first one, I't not sure he has such a long lead. I remember when The AP gave Senator Taft a long lead over General Eisenhower in 1952. You can't take the delegate pledges at face value.

The current AP survey of GOP convention delegates lists 693 first ballot votes for Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona—38 more than the 655 needed for nomination if they stick with him. Of these, 118 are from primary election commitments, 257 from delegates instructed by state or district GOP conventions, 62 personally pledged and 256 who favor him. The survey shows 138 for Scranton, none of them bound to him.

The second question, why did I wait, is really the question, what made me come home early? I was not waiting, nor was I intending to come home this early. But I got messages from friends, people I esteemed, saying that if I came early it might make a difference in Governor Scranton's campaign. Then things in Vietnam started to go better and I felt my duty was to be here.

Q. Did the messages come from Governor Scranton and friends of his?

A. No, they came from persons interested in me who wanted to see me do the right thing in this campaign.

Q. There has been much speculation in the United States about the possibility of striking into North Vietnam and possibly China. Do you favor such strategy?

A. The answer to that question gets into classified information.

Brown Hires Another Ex-Newspaperman

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—John Sheehan, 40, of Sacramento, was appointed deputy director of finance yesterday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Sheehan, formerly on the governor's legislative staff, was co-publisher of the Valley Pioneer in Danville and later was a reporter for the Richmond Independent and the San Francisco Examiner. His salary in the new post will be $21,720.

Italy Crisis Calming

ROME (AP) — Italy's Christian Democrat party called today for another center-left coalition to replace the government of Premier Aldo Moro that fell five days ago. This appeared to smooth the way toward a solution of the government crisis. The other parties of the coalition—the Socialists, Democratic Socialists and Republicans—already have come out for another center-left Cabinet with Christian Democrat Moro as premier.

LBJ CAMPAIGN PERILS HEART, DOCTOR FEARS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A noted heart specialist wants President Lyndon B. Johnson to ease up on his campaign appearances.

Dr. Irving S. Wright of New York yesterday asked the first lady if she would urge the president to reduce his heavy speaking engagements. However, Mrs. Johnson said that she was "mindful" of the president's health and felt that he was taking better care of himself than ever before.

Wright is a member of the president's committee on heart disease, stroke and cancer.

Bobby Weighs Future As LBJ Running Mate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy would like to be President Lyndon B. Johnson's running mate but also would accept other such jobs as Secretary of Defense, Secretary of State or ambassador to the Soviet Union, it has been reported.

"Actually, I should think I'd be the last man in the world he (Johnson) would want," Kennedy said in an interview published by the current Newsweek magazine, "because my name is Kennedy, because he wants a Johnson administration, because we travel different paths, because I suppose some businessmen would object, and because I'd cost them a few votes in the south . . . I don't think as many as some say, but some."

OTHER SIDE

There are reasons, however, why Johnson might pick him.

"Because most of the major political leaders in the north want me," Kennedy said. "All of them, really. And that's about all I've got going for me."

He realizes that if Sen. Barry Goldwater gets the Republican presidential nomination Johnson would pick someone else less controversial in the south where the Arizona senator's strength is believed to be.

Kennedy's main desire is this:

"I'd like to harness all the energy and effort and incentive and imagination that was attracted to government by President Kennedy. I don't want any of that to die. It's important that the striving for excellence continue, that there be an end to mediocrity.

HE IS SYMBOL

"The torch really has passed to a new generation. People are still looking for all that idealism. It permeated young people all over the globe. And I became sort of a symbol, not just as an individual.

"If I could figure out some course for me that would keep all that alive and utilize it for the country, that's what I'd do."

He is passed as vice president, the three jobs that Kennedy sees fitting the challenges before him are the posts of Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense and ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Woman Takes Post

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Kennedy On Mend

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, 75, father of the late president, was recuperating today from minor oral surgery. Doctors said he was in good condition. After the 45-minute operation for a jaw infection yesterday at Cape Cod Hospital, Kennedy returned home.

Isreal, France Talk

PARIS (AP)—Israel's Prime Minister, Levi Eshkol, says he is very satisfied with his talks with President Charles de Gaulle of France. The two met for an hour yesterday. Eshkol said they discussed the world situation, and especially the Middle East.

Hong Kong Drought

HONG KONG (AP)—Hong Kong goes back on normal water rations tomorrow after 13 months of two buckets daily per person. Normal water rations in Hong Kong are eight hours supply a day. During the worst of the British colony's record drought, residents were restricted to four hours supply every four days.

Lynda Bird Sees Fair

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson, daughter of the president, went to the fair yesterday. Her visit to the New York World's Fair was a surprise, officials said. Accompanied by White House aides and Secret Service men, she toured the federal, General Motors, and Ford pavilions.

Turncoat Act Denied

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The first U.S. Army officer to be court-martialed for defecting to the Communists in Europe today pleaded innocent to charges of desertion and larceny. Capt. Alfred Svenson, 31, of Scranton, Pa., pleaded "not guilty to all specifications of all charges" through his defense counsel on the second day of the unprecedented court-martial.

Laotian Impasse Seen

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — The Communist Pathet Lao faction was considered certain today to reject a demand by the United States and five other nations that it abandon all territory won in central Laos fighting since May 16. The demand was drawn up at the end of a three-week meeting here of the Ambassadors of Britain, the United States, Thailand, South Vietnam, Canada and India.

Brown Shuns Precedent On Holiday Rule

SACRAMENTO—(UPI) State employees will have to work Friday and Gov. Edmund G. Brown says if they want compensation for holidays falling on Saturdays they should go to the legislature.

Brown said yesterday he didn't want to set a precedent of declaring holidays to make up for those falling on Saturdays.

July 4 is this Saturday.

"I believe the determination to allow compensating days off for holidays falling on Saturday should be a permanent one made by the state legislature," Brown said.

The governor said the legislature had declined this year to give its support to a proposal to declare a Friday holiday that would have made up for Memorial Day falling on Saturday. He suggested that state employees try the legislature again next year.

State employees had asked Brown to follow the federal government's example and declare Friday, July 3, a holiday to make up for July 4.

Two other national holidays, Memorial Day and Washington's birthday, also fell on Saturday this year.

Oswald's Act Termed 'On His Own'

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy declared last night that his brother, the assassinated president, was not the victim of a conspiracy or of communism.

The U.S. attorney general told a Polish questioner in Krakow "there is no question" that Lee Harvey Oswald killed President John F. Kennedy and "did it on his own and by himself."

Kennedy said that Oswald was a "misfit in society" and Oswald's professed belief in communism did not prompt him to murder the president.

"Ideology in my opinion did not motivate his act," Kennedy said. "It was the single act of an individual protesting against society."

Castro's Sister Breaks Ties

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's 32-year-old sister Juana denounced him as a Communist dictator last night and said she has severed all ties with him and with brother Raul, his No. 2 man.

Juana

Miss Castro, who arrived in Mexico secretly six days ago, said in a statement read to a news conference that she is seeking political asylum in this country.

"I can no longer remain indifferent to what is happening in my country since since my brothers began to deliver it to Russian imperialism in mid-1960 . . ." she said. "Cuba is an immense prison surrounded by water."

Although she has been a known political foe of her brothers for nearly four years, Miss Castro had previously refused to leave Cuba. She argued that "it is my duty (to stay) and help overthrow the Communist regime."

Hope Fades For Woman Swimmer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Coast Guard made a final search of the Atlantic off Long Island today for marathon swimmer Britt Sullivan who has been missing more than a day on an attempted swim to Europe.

Britt

The derring-do 29-year-old former Navy WAVE vanished in the inky, shark-filled water late Sunday night. A daylong search by a Coast Guard cutter and two helicopters yesterday failed to locate her.

The hunt was suspended at nightfall until dawn today when the Coast Guard resumed the search in one final try.

Capt. Laurence Griffith, skipper of Miss Sullivan's escort boat, said the plucky swimmer, a divorced mother of a 7-year-old girl, had been menaced by a school of sharks just before she disappeared.

Anniversary Mass

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI today observed the first anniversary of his coronation with a solemn mass in St. Peter's Basilica.

Viet Congs Boasting

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist Viet Cong rebels in South Vietnam have "complete control" of two-thirds of the territory and half the 14 million people, according to a claim by Communist North Vietnam. Radio Hanoi said the Viet Cong can now inflict "heavy losses at any time and any place."

HEARING CALLED ON INHERITANCE AIDES

Spoils System Due For Scrutiny; Bagley Proposal Calls For Civil Service Status

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly Ways and Means Committee today called a hearing in Los Angeles for July 8 on proposed legislation to place state inheritance tax apraisers under civil service.

Chairman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) said he will resist any attempt to use the hearing as a forum for reviving bitter charges and countercharges during the recent primary campaign.

Pierre Salinger, in his successful drive for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, accused his chief opponent, State Controller Alan Cranston, of forcing appraisers he appoints to contribute to his campaign. Cranston denied it.

Crown's committee plans to testimony on a bill introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) at the 1964 legislative session.

"California's system of assessing estates for inheritance tax purposes has been criticized frequently," Crown said, "and this bill by Assemblyman Bagley is a specific proposal for change.

"However, I expect the committee will wish to take testimony on the whole subject so that the merits of this bill can be weighed against other proposals."

The Ways and Means chairman noted that the legislative analyst, A. Alan Post, has recommended changing the current system in every session since 1945.

Public Payroll Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Total federal employment dropped 3,555 in May compared with April, a Senate-House committee reported today. The total number of civilian employees was listed as 2,476,791 in May.

Cross-Marin Road Speedup Suggested

Marin county should move immediately to have the state establish a route and start construction of an extension of Highway 17 from San Rafael to Point Reyes Station, consultants for the West Marin master plan said last night.

Mary Summers, former Marin County planning director, and Daniel P. Coleman presented the plan orally and with large maps at a special hearing called jointly by the county planning commission and the board of supervisors.

Much of the development in West Marin predicted by the plan is many years away, the two planners predicted; but the freeway, which would be the main east-west route in the county, is needed now, they said.

Coleman added that although his proposal was unpopular, the freeway should be routed up the Miracle Mile and through San Anselmo and Fairfax. "That is the only route that will solve the problems of San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax," he said.

Definite routes should also be established for extension of highway 121 from east of Novato to Nicasio, said Coleman, and for the proposed relocation of the shoreline highway around the cliffs of the Golden Gate headlands.

Coleman also said studies should be started again on the proposal to dam Walker Creek near Tomales, to create a reservoir. He said the project would not be feasible for provision of water alone, but may well be justified as a recreational resource, flood control device, and means of soil conservation.

Mrs. Summers described the recreation "industry" expected in West Marin and said vigorous action should be taken to protect the area from strip commercial development, which, she said, would cost more money than it would bring into the area.

She also described the concept of a "parkway," with extensive right of way purchase, and said the Shoreline highway could become such an "extended park" from the Golden Gate Bridge to north of Tomales. Much of the land to be traversed is already publicly owned, she said.

Average right of way for a parkway is about 125 acres a mile, she said, but scenic easements could be controlled without purchase in many cases. She proposed the county ridge route from the Stinson Beach Highlands to Tomales should be a county parkway.

Coleman said agriculture will remain in West Marin for many years, and plans can be made now to keep ranching in the area forever by requiring large average lot sizes and then allowing cluster residential developments.

State law should be changed to give the public a chance to be heard on the question of the design of state highways, not just on the routes as is now the case, Mrs. Summers declared. She advocated that delay freeway agreements with the state until the design of highway projects can be approved.

Coleman agreed.

The dangerous sand bar at the entrance to Tomales Bay can be corrected. Mrs. Summers predicted. She suggested the Army Corps of Engineers be asked to make a study of the project.

Public access to the east shore of the bay should be reserved wherever possible, she urged.

At the south end of the bay, a water park, with dredged channels and new islands, was proposed. Further dredging was asked by Coleman to eliminate flood hazards for the commercial recreation area planned between Point Reyes Station and Olema.

Britons Testing Bookie Machine

LONDON (UPI) — Automation is about to hit Britain's legalized betting industry.

Robot bookies nicknamed "Honest Robert" will automatically collect bets and issue receipts at factories. The machines are intended to replace "runners"—men employed by bookmakers to collect bets from their fellow workers.

The home office said today the betting and gaming act permits factory runners and "presumably a runner could either be a human or a machine standing against the wall."

Hub City Man Jailed On Charge Of Beating Date

An unemployed truck driver was jailed by San Anselmo police yesterday on charges of beating his girl friend and forcing her to give him $25.

Frederick Elijah Whitman, 24, of 807 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was booked on a charge of strong-arm robbery. Bail was set at $5,500. He was scheduled to be arraigned this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Anderson, 24, of San Francisco told police Whitman beat her in a San Rafael restaurant, in an automobile, and in his San Anselmo home, forced her to give him $25, and threatened to kill her and her two small children if she told.

The trouble, she said, started Sunday night in the restaurant, where Mrs. Anderson accompanied Whitman and his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Stone, with whom he shares the San Anselmo home.

They began arguing in the restaurant, Mrs. Anderson told police. She left. Whitman and his mother followed her, forced her into their car. There he beat her again, then drove her to the San Anselmo home.

As she was in the bathroom washing the blood from her face, Whitman broke open the door and began beating her again, she related. She fled, but he followed her, struck her again, and demanded her money.

Mrs. Anderson said she gave him $25, but he continued to beat her until a taxicab arrived, warning her not to tell or he would kill her and the children.

The taxi took Mrs. Anderson to the police station, where she swore out a complaint. Police went to the home but found Whitman had left. At 2 p.m. yesterday, however, he walked into the police station and surrendered.

Next Time Maybe He'll Try The Train Instead

SLEAFORD, England (UPI)—Truckdriver John Hyland, 47, fastened a winch to a railway track in an effort to pull his truck out of the mud.

The truck didn't move, but the tracks were pulled six inches out of line, police said yesterday as a magistrate ordered Hyland to stand trial on charges of obstructing a train.

Spectators Ouster Leads To Mistrial In Obscenity Case

A mistrial motion by the defense attorney of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kenneth McCurdy, both charged with displaying an obscene sign about communism on their Sausalito houseboat, was granted in Marin Municipal Court yesterday because a well-meaning bailiff ordered a trio of young girls from the courtroom.

William B. Wolfson, counsel for the couple, told Judge David R. Baty the action of Bailiff Ben Pope influenced the jury panel in the dirty-word trial.

Pope said he felt the girls—all about 13 and there as spectators — shouldn't hear the four-letter words being mentioned.

New trial date is Aug. 24.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Acne is normal during adolescence but it need not be the tragedy of youth. When teen-agers have pimples and blackheads galore, along with deep abscesses, the condition is abnormal. The cause usually is total neglect, overtreatment, or too much squeezing. These boys and girls have a true disease rather than a passing annoyance.

The deeper the pustules extend into the skin, the greater the chance of developing scars. Heat should be applied so that the pimples can come to a head spontaneously. Deeper abscesses must be lanced, to minimize scarring. Squeezing is taboo.

THERE ARE MANY causes of acne but in general, the oil secreting glands are too active. The result is greasy skin and enlarged pores. Cleanliness is the first rule in eradicating the eruption. Washing the face three times a day removes bacteria, oil, and dead skin. Ordinary soap is used except in the more severe cases, which require a detergent soap such as Acne-aid or one containing hexachlorophene; or skin cleansers like Brasivol or Fostex. A medicated pad is available for day time use. Its content of salicylic acid and alcohols is designed to cleanse the skin and keep down excessive oiliness.

The second recommendation is to apply a cosmetically acceptable product that leads to slight peeling of the skin. Creams or cakes containing sulfur are popular and are effective when applied twice a day, especially at night after washing the face. Treatment should not be discontinued when the skin becomes dry; this can be alleviated with a cream such as Nivea.

Pustules are caused by bacterial invasion of the hair follicles. Antibiotics are used occasionally but the results usually are temporary. Vaccines also are available to build up immunity against the causative organisms.

The relationship between diet and acne is a moot question but it is logical to avoid any foods that aggravate the skin lesions. Maintain good health by ample sleep and out of door activities. Sunshine helps to dry the blemishes.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

ARTHRITIS FROM INFECTIONS

D. L. writes: What is infectious arthritis?

REPLY

A form of arthritis caused by the invasion of a joint by a specific organism. It differs from the aching in the areas of joints that occurs when an individual has a cold or following the use of a vaccine.

MENTAL RETARDATION

M. B. writes: Are all mongoloids considered idiots?

REPLY

No—and this is why the term, mongolian idiot, has been discarded. Mongoloids usually reach a mental age of 6 or 7. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on mongolism.

CAUSE OF BLEEDING

B. A. writes: Could bleeding hemorrhoids become cancerous if not attended to?

REPLY

No. But consult your physician to determine whether the blood is coming from hemorrhoids or from cancer of the rectum.

SAME AS BEFORE

M. M. writes: Is it true that the heart of a man who has recovered from coronary thrombosis can become as good as before the heart attack?

REPLY

Yes, even though the basic cause (hardening of the coronary arteries) remains.

Flames Damage Petaluma Stores

PETALUMA (AP)—Fire, starting in a downtown tavern early today, burned two stores. Four others were damaged by smoke and water. Firemen estimated loss at $300,000.

Nobody was injured. Forty firemen with 10 trucks fought the blaze from 3:15 a.m. to 7 a.m. The fire fighters included volunteers from Cotati, Penngrove, Rohnert Park and a unit from the State Forestry Division.

Cause of the blaze was being investigated.

Mundt Pens New Passport Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) said today he is preparing new legislation to prevent Communists from obtaining passports.

He deplored a recent Supreme Court decision striking down a provision of the 1950 Internal Security Act banning the issuance of passports to members of organizations required to register as Communist groups.

Mundt gave no details of the new legislation he plans to introduce.

Marin Artists Honored At Napa County Fair

Two Marin artists won prizes in the profession division of the Napa County Fair's art show last week.

Eleanor Foster of Corte Madera won first prize for a still life in oil paint and third prize for a landscape in pastels.

Marie Kincade of San Rafael won second prize for her oil painting of a landscape.

Survivors Sought

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—U.S. boats and planes were searching off Bermuda's south coast today for 12 American airmen missing after the collision of two Air Force planes during a space training mission. The planes plunged into the Atlantic yesterday as parachuting airmen were running a test rescue operation for the two-man Gemini space project. There were 24 men in the two planes. Seven were rescued. Five bodies had been recovered last night.

Special Meet Set

Sausalito - Marin City Sanitary District directors will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at 201 Caledonia Street to approve the county assessment roll, Edwin S. Long, secretary, said today. The roll is sent to the district so that sewer service charges may be affixed said Long.

Men Organize To Assist Hospital

A small group of men last night began organization of the new men's division of San Rafael General Hospital's volunteers, to serve primarily in emergencies and disasters.

John K. Chipps of 988 Del Ganado, Terra Linda, will serve as chairman pro tem. All at the meeting have had some training in emergency procedures, said Arthur G. Burns, hospital administrator.

The group agreed to meet again Aug. 3, and regularly after that on the first Monday of the month, at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital dining room. Burns said he hoped to have 30 to 40 members eventually. Interested persons may notify him at the hospital.

Tree Serves In Lieu Of Car Brakes For Her

A 38-year-old Vallejo woman steered into a tree to stop her car when the brakes failed in front of 238 D Street at 8:10 a.m. yesterday, San Rafael police reported.

The driver, Irene Williams, was taken to San Rafael General Hospital where she was under observation today for undertermined injuries.

Pedestrian Injured In Downstown Street Fall

George Barbera, 64, of 912 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, suffered a cut left hip when he collapsed in front of the Greyhound Bus Depot at Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue at 11 p.m. yesterday.

Barbera was treated at San Rafael General Hospital and sent home. The cause of his collapse was not determined.

Dog Bites Child

Mrs. Shirley Garcia of 50 Greenwood Way, Mill Valley, reported to police yesterday that between 5 and 5:15 p.m. her German shepherd dog bit Gary T. Klementovich, 12, of 5 Stanton Way on his right arm above the wrist. The youth was treated by Dr. Joseph Moore and Mrs. Garcia was advised to keep the dog confined 14 days.

Novato Faces New Sewer Line Problem

The Novato Sanitary District may be required to build a force main into the bay and stop discharging effluent into Novato Creek, Charles Joseph, engineer-manager, last night told the board.

Joseph read the proposed new requirements of the Regional Water Pollution Control Board, which are set for public hearing on July 16. These raise the standards for bacteria count and request the Novato Sanitary District to stop discharging into Novato Creek and "remove to an area away from water contact sports."

"When we contructed the disposal plants in 1958, Novato Creek was designated a drainage canal. Now the water pollution control board wants to designate it a recreation area for swimming and water skiing," Joseph said.

"I do not have any idea what it would cost to construct such a force main," he told the board.

The board authorized a master plan study by Jenks and Adamson of Palo Alto, to cost $12,000. This will be ready in about eight months, Joseph said.

Marvin L. Kinney of Pleasant Hill, was hired as an engineering assistant for $575 per month, to begin work next Monday. The board authorized the hiring of a construction inspector for $525.

The board called for an election on Sept. 8 of Edwin Grundstrom and Carlos Rivamonte, which will expire. Filing for the positions opens July 10 and closes July 30.

Rivamonte said he will file for re-election. Grundstrom said he has not yet made up his mind.

July meetings were set for July 7, 13, and 29.

Human Rights Membership Is Restricted

The Marin County Board of Supervisors agreed today that city representatives on the county human rights commission must be mayors or councilmen.

The City of Novato had suggested that Mrs. Patricia Reynolds be named for that city, but the commission executive board turned the name down.

San Rafael mayor John F. McInnis, as head of the Marin County Council of Mayors, sent a letter to the supervisors saying he knew of no restriction on the city appointments and that he thought the supervisors were to do the appointing, not the commission members themselves.

The board also received a letter from commission secretary Wyman Hicks saying the board resolution said the supervisors would act only on recommendations from the commission executive board.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman asked that Mrs. Reynolds be appointed, but not as the official representative of the city.

County administrator Alan Bruce suggested the present limit on the number of commission members be eliminated, but asked for more time to prepare a formal resolution which, he hoped, would solve the problem.

Footprints Chapter Elects New Officers

Wilbur F. Mathewson of 47 Bret Harte Lane, San Rafael, has been installed as president of North Bay Chapter 15, International Footprint Assn.

Other officers for 1964-65 are Theodore E. McGuire of Santa Venetia, second vice president; E. R. Oden of San Anselmo, third vice president; William G. Winter of San Rafael, sergeant-at-arms, and Harry L. Hetrick of Novato, secretary-treasurer.

Quake Expert Reports Tremblor In Indonesia

PASADENA (UPI) — Dr. Charles Richter, seismologist at the California Institute of Technology, said a major earthquake was recorded today 7,800 miles west of here with a magnitude of 6.8.

Richter said the quake, recorded at 7:01 a.m. was believed to be centered in Indonesia. He said the tremor was large enough "to be potentially destructive."

Supervisors Retain Old Publicity Policy

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today agreed to continue as in the past to allocate funds to chambers of commerce and other booster organizations.

County Administrator Alan Bruce withdrew his proposal that a lump sum be given to the Marin County Development Assn. to allocate to local organizations for specific projects.

He gained approval, however, for his request that the amounts given be held to no more than were granted this fiscal year. The total county budget for promotion and publications came to $82,850. The board agreed to give the Tiburon and Corte Madera chambers each $500 because they had never made a request before.

Discussion on this part of the county budget, the last section to be considered, started yesterday with requests by Richard P. Nave of Novato and Robert W. F. Severin of San Rafael for increases in the budgets for their local chambers.

Today Charles D. Helbig of the Marin Visitors' Bureau asked for a $3,000 increase, and said he would also like a separate appropriation to help finance the 1965 May in Marin celebration, which ran in the red this year.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he felt the organizations should make stronger efforts to gain funds from non-governmental sources, and Supervisor William D. Fusselman agreed, saying the general taxpayer is not directly benefited.

Bruce called for a unification of efforts by chambers of commerce into a county-wide program, but said that such activities could wait a year if the supervisors decide to contract for the second phase of the Stanford Research Institute report.

Phase Two of the report is supposed to tell the county how to go about attracting industry and businesses to improve the county tax base.

As finally recommended, the Novato chamber will receive $3,000, San Anselmo $500, Sausalito $1,000, San Rafael $7,200, Mill Valley $1,500, Tiburon $500, and Corte Madera $500. The allocation for the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum was raised to $5,000.

ment heads right now, so the period of optimism will be as short as possible."

The specific changes approved would cost the county about $12,000, which was subtracted from the $175,000 set aside in the 1964-65 county budget for salary increases.

A meeting will be set up in July to consider revamping the salary ordinance and any pay raises which might go along with it. Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he could not make an intelligent decision from the recommendation made by Elliott, since it had no supporting information.

Several department heads appeared to support Elliott's proposed change in the county salary structure. Some asked that the effective date be earlier than Jan. 1, although an early change would cost the county more.

Youngsters Flock To Sausalito Play Signup Sessions

Sausalito registered 140 children yesterday for the summer recreation program sponsored by the city recreation commission at Central School, according to Willard A. Hall, commission chairman.

Children began participation in a sports program directed by Robbie G. Harvey of Marin City and an arts and crafts program directed by Mrs. Joan O'Connor of San Francisco.

The Monday through Friday sessions begin at 12:30 p.m. daily and end at 4:30 p.m. and will continue through Aug. 7. Children from kindergarten through eighth grade are welcome but younger children must be accompanied by an adult, said Hall. The program is free except for a charge for crafts materials.

Hall also announced that Jerry Taylor, 17, of Sausalito has been hired as assistant sports director.

Woman Senator Also Denies Tale

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The office of Sen. Maurine Neuberger (D-Ore.) today said the lady lawmaker does not plan to marry Dr. Philip Solomon of Boston.

Mrs. Neuberger declined to meet directly with newsmen, but an aide said she affirms the statement issued by Dr. Solomon yesterday.

Solomon, a psychiatrist at Boston City Hospital, had denied published reports that he was to marry Mrs. Neuberger. "There is absolutely no truth to that report. I deny it categorically," Dr. Solomon said.

Marinwood Directors To Meet On Pool

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District have scheduled a special meeting for 8 p.m. today at the community center to accept as finished the construction of the swimming pool and the landscaping near the center.

Directors hope to have the new pool open for the July 4 weekend.

The first medical prescriptions we know about were those of Dr. Lulu, of Ur, who practiced about 2700 B. C.

Mount Tamalpais Search Resumes

More than 35 deputies and volunteers with Marin County sheriff's officers today renewed a search in the Mount Tamalpais area for a missing 39-year-old Oakland man, but no further trace was reported at noon today.

Sheriff's Capt. Sidney Stinson said search on foot for Frank W. Meyer, concentrated this morning near Ridgecrest Road. Meyer's abandoned camper pickup truck was found near there June 21. He reportedly was en route from San Mateo to Portland, Ore.

The search may continue through tomorrow, Captain Stinson said.

OBITUARIES

Frank Miner Succumbs

Frank L. Miner of 112 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Miner, 77, was a partner in Bianco Motors Inc. of San Rafael until his retirement in 1954.

A native of North Dakota, he came to San Rafael from Lodi in 1923. He worked as a salesman for various auto agencies, eventually moving from a sales position with Bianco into partnership in the firm.

He was a member of Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons, Marin Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and the Ross Valley Camera Club.

Surviving are his wife, Marian A. Miner; a son, Leonard W. Miner of Novato; a brother, Lee A. Miner of Santa Cruz, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Thursday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, under auspices of Marin Lodge 191, F&AM. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

HILDA BECKETT

Funeral for Mrs. Hilda Beckett, a resident of Marin County for 12 years before she moved to Palo Alto in 1938, will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at Roller and Hapgood funeral home in Palo Alto.

Mrs. Beckett who was 78, died at home after a long illness. She was a native of Norway and active in many organizations, including the Marin Garden Club, Stanford University Mothers' Club, Palo Alto Art Club and Florence Crittenton Home Society. She was formerly a member of First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

She is survived by her husband, Ernest J. Beckett; two sons, Richard W. Beckett of Millbrae and John R. Beckett of Atherton and four grandchildren.

Intombment will be at Alta Mesa Memorial Park in Los Altos.

EVELYN CARROLL

Requiem High Mass for Mrs. Evelyn Carroll, 84, of 794 Story Book Court, Novato, will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Mrs. Carroll died Sunday at a local rest home after long illness.

She was born April 4, 1880, in San Francisco. She resided there until moving to Novato 10 years ago to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Edna Smith.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lottie Shipmann of Napa, and two grandchildren.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 a.m. today at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

A. E. LINDEMANN

Private funeral services were held yesterday for Adolph E. Lindemann, 67, of 24 Tyler Street, Novato, who died Saturday in a local rest home after a long illness.

Lindemann was born Arpil 1, 1897, in Chicago, and lived there until he retired three years ago to move to Novato where he made his home with his son, Burton A. Lindemann. He had been an automotive mechanic and had worked for the Chain Belt Co. in Chicago prior to retiring.

He is survived by two sons, Burton and Lawrence W. Lindemann of Wheaton, Ill.; three brothers, Elmer and George of Los Angeles and Harold of Chicago; three sisters, Mrs. Bernice Zimmerman and Alice Lindemann of Chicago, and three grandchildren.

Burial will be in Clarendon Hills Cemetery, Clarendon Hills, Ill.

LOUIS MORESCO

Louis Moresco, 69, of San Francisco, father of Mrs. Francine Blum of San Anselmo, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Death apparently resulted from a head injury he suffered in April when he fell while working at the Sturiale Fish Co. in Sausalito, according to William C. Bradley, assistant coroner. An autopsy was scheduled to be performed today.

A native of Italy, Moresco is survived by his wife, Ann V. Moresco; two daughters, Mrs. Marin Bellante of San Mateo and Mrs. Blum; a son, Ronald Moresco of Oakland; a brother, Fortunato of Redwood City, and six grandchildren.

Solemn Requiem High Mass will be offered at St. Peter and Paul's Church on Filbert Street between Powell and Stockton streets, San Francisco, at 9:45 a.m. Thursday. Entombment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma.

FAIRFAX FOLKS SEE RED OVER BUDGET

Citizens, Department Heads Complain Over Bond Issue Vs. Lagging Salaries

Tempers flared and the fur flew last night at Fairfax City Council's second budget hearing, as a surplus of expenditures and shortage of revenue threatened city employees' salaries.

The council was not only faced with grumbling city employees, but also subjected to heated blasts from a small portion but highly vocal audience.

Councilmen had barely begun deliberating the problem of changing Rolfe M. Ockenden from part-time to full-time building inspector, when Mrs. Joseph Ghiringhelli of Deer Park Villa arose to loudly protest the process of budget cutting itself.

"Once a year you come here and bicker and bicker," she told the councilmen," but it's always thumbs down on a salary increase. It is a disgrace what the police department gets. . .

"It's a damn shame that a man takes home $375," she continued (referring to after-deductions pay of one city street laborer.) "I would like to see you gentlemen dig ditches for that."

Councilmen were still attempting to answer when Mrs. Gheringhelli abruptly left.

The task of restoring order fell to Mayor Cornelis Van Vliet, and it wasn't easy.

"I would like to hear what some department heads have to say," suggested Councilman George A. Pagni.

"As far as I know, every police and fire department in the county has been given raises," answered Police Chief James Orr. "How come we can't make it? Why are we falling backward, and still going broke?"

"What do we do," shot back Councilman Arrigoni, "just raise the salaries every year? It's about time we started doing things for the people of Fairfax."

City Clerk Alice Leonesio said the council, by planning to pay off a proposed city hall improvement bond without a tax increase, was taking money that could be used for salary increases.

"We don't think anyone will vote for the bond issue if it has a tax increase," protested Arrigoni. "We are keeping it low. A high bond issue will never pass in Fairfax." (Amount of the proposed bond issue has not yet come out in public meetings of the counctl.)

"Do you intend to keep the city employees on the same salaries for the next 25 years?" cut in Mrs. Leonesio. "Is that what the bond issue is?"

Richard Nelson, new director of public works, said he "was sure" his employees wished higher salaries.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton not only protested low salaries, but found to his dismay that council might not be willing to uphold a once-promised $570 maximum monthly salary for firemen and police patrolmen with 18 months duty.

"When we hired men last year, they were promised $570 as a maximum salary figure," said Thornton. We need a personnel ordinance to let a man know what he is doing."

"That's what we are trying to do," protested Arrigoni.

George M. Cowell of 60 San Gabriel Drive, wanted to know why the city could not increase its source of revenue. He asked what the problem was, since "the city is not on a static income."

Mrs. Delores Forni of Deer Park Villa demanded, "Do you think you will get your money's worth out of a man if he has to work double time? It's penny wise and pound foolish."

"You can bet your life, we will have something next year," said Arrigoni.

"But if you table it now," she shot back, "what happens in six months? How are you going to get good people to stay?"

Which became just what the council did about salaries last night—tabled them, until Aug. 24, when Fairfax's assessed valuations are tabulated, then council will have time to consider exact revenues for the next fiscal year, members said.

With only half the meeting left, council began to make swift appraisals of department budgets. Budget cutting was quickly accomplished with well sharpened pencils.

Chief victim was police chief Orr, ringing his hands in dismay as the council tried to decide whether he should get a part-time clerk or a new patrolman—but definitely not both.

At present policemen receive no extra pay to appear in court on their own time. His department, he indicated, is also desperately short of help. He was offered the choice between paid court appearances and the clerk versus a new patrolman.

"That's a good question," he told the council. "I'll be like you fellows, I need more time to think about that one."

Tentative figures for each department by the time the council adjourned at 9:45 p.m. were: police department, $72,877; fire department, $74,143; general government, $66,625; public works (engineering), $16,594; public works (streets) $57,054; and parks and recreation $13,686, according to City Clerk Leonesio.

Balloons May Be Halfway To Moon By Now

Where, oh where have 546 balloons gone?

That's become the theme song of the San Rafael Recreation Department, which sponsored "Operation Blast-Off" last Thursday when 550 colored balloons, with postcards attached, were sent into the air by children participating in the summer recreation program.

Only four postcards have been returned to the community center, Dennis Sullivan, assistant recreation director, said today.

Most traveled balloon of the four reported was freed at the Hartzell School playground and was found by 9-year-old Caulfield of 6 Van Ripper Court, Sleepy Hollow, in some bushes near her home.

Two balloons launched by youngsters at San Pedro School were found less than a mile from the playgrounds.

The retail merchants division of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce has offered $5 merchandise orders to the finder and launcher of the farthest sailing balloon. Smaller prizes will be awarded to senders of other far-flying balloons.

Sullivan urged that finders send or bring the cards to the recreation center, 37 Union Street, San Rafael.

"They just couldn't have disappeared into thin air," he said.

684 Protests Received On Sausalito Appraisal

County Clerk George H. Gnoss said today 684 proests at the county assessor's appraisals have been received by his office from Sausalito.

"Although the supervisors have elected to delay formal consideration of these letters until after the equalization hearings set for mid July," said A. L. Bjorklund Jr., Sausalito chamber of commerce president, today, "We want the citizens to know that immediately upon conclusion of these hearings, this issue will be presented to the board for formal action."

Novato Establishes Protocol On Parks

When Novato plans parks it is the job of the planning commission to locate them, the job of the city council to find the money to buy them, and of the parks and recreation advisory commission to say what should go on them.

This was the conclusion reached last night at the first joint meeting of the Novato planning commission and parks and recreation commission.

Robert Lagle, city planning director, said state law sets forth the duties of the planning commission.

The federally assisted North Marin master plan will outline a complete park system of 36 parks for Novato, Lagle disclosed.

"I think the planning grant will go too far in making complete plans for the parks," he said.

"They not only will tell you where the parks should be, but they will tell you the size and what should be in each park."

Lagle said that after the master plan is approved by the council, it is up to the planning commission "to make sure the parks are reserved."

Alfred Bellucci of the planning commission took exception to this. "You can't keep a man from developing his land just because you may want to put a park on it someday," he declared. He advocated that the parks and recreation commission give the planning commission a priority list after the master plan is submitted.

Alton Lerch of the parks and recreation commission, proposed a parks committee to be composed of members of both commissions, the city administrator, a councilman, and a school representative. The suggestion was discussed, but no action taken on it.

Lerch also asked for better "communications" between the two commissions, the city council and staff. Robert R. Johnson, planning commission chairman, said there will be other joint meetings of the commissions soon.

Lagle said the preliminary master plan for parks would be ready in "late August or September."

Planning Commissioner Merton Shelton suggested a bond issue to buy parks.

"Why does everyone think a bond issue is the only way to buy anything?" demanded Bellucci.

'Marshal J' Trial Date Put Off To September

Jury trial date for Jay Alexander, television's "Marshal J" who is charged with assault and battery on a Sausalito waiter, was postponed in Marin Municipal Court today until Sept. 23.

Alexander, 37, allegedly assaulted William Capilos, 49, in Sausalito's Spinnaker Restaurant on April 11.

Election Theme In Reader Contest

"Vote for Books" reading club starts tomorrow at the Kentfield-Ross Branch of the Marin County Library.

Any child who reads may join and if he reads 10 books by September, he may participate in the straw vote for president to be held at the library Sept 4th. Immediately following the voting movies will be shown.

Miss Ann Woodhull will conduct story time at the branch each Wednesday from 4 to 4:30 p.m.

Chicken Thief Invades His Refrigerator, Yet

Edward Claude McGrath of 41 Coleman Drive, San Rafael reported a chicken thief to San Rafael police last night . . . a cooked chicken, at that.

Someone entered the McGrath home through an unlocked rear door and took a cooked chicken and other foods from the refrigerator and two $1 bills and a silver dollar from a dresser drawer in a bedroom, police reported.

Man Wanted In Check Case Is Captured

A man wanted for bad checks in Berkeley was captured by Sausalito Police Sgt. Howard Goerndt last night in a "mountain goat" chase up the steep Excelsior Lane stairs between Bridgeway and Bulkley Avenue.

Alfred W. Reed, alias J. M. Shaull, a 52-year-old seaman, proved no match for the sergeant at speed up Sausalito hillsides. He was taken, still puffing, to the county jail and booked "en route to Berkeley." He gave a Montgomery Street address in San Francisco.

Lt. David Cooper of Sausalito police said Reed is wanted on 11 felony counts in Berkeley, and wanted under the name of Shaull in 12 other cities in the bay area. Reed is reported to have written $40,000 in bad checks in the area, Cooper said. He reported bail for the suspect has been set at $28,000 on an Alameda County warrant.

Eugene Clivio, manager of the Eureka Market at 687 Bridgeway, called police at 6:15 after he found he had cashed a $20 check which had the name "Shaull" pasted over the name "Mangum."

Goerndt, who knew Reed (or Shaull) by sight, went looking for him. He saw his man near the foot of the concrete stairs which run from Bridgeway up the hill to Bulkley Avenue.

Reed took off—uphill. Goerndt bounded in pursuit. At the top of the stairs, he collared the suspect.

Reed admitted cashing the check at Eureka Market and handed over the $20, police reported.

Movie Is Next Week

The full-length color movie "Toby Tyler" will be shown by the San Rafael Recreation Department at 10 a.m. July 9, not Thursday this week, as incorrectly reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal. The showing is at the recreation center, 37 Union Street.

Homeowners To Protest Lucas Valley Project

The Lucas Valley Homeowners Assn. last night repected builder Joseph Eichler's proposals for changes in the Lucas Valley planned community zone.

The association's board of directors and some 50 members present at a meeting at the community center voted a four-part protest against the proposals to be presented to the county planning commission next Monday.

The protest petition, drawn up by Bruce Flanagan, association vice president, declares:

1. Eichler's proposal to eliminate townhouses east of Mount Shasta Drive and substitute about 44 single-family homes without provision for recreational facilities "violates . . . the original agreement between homeowners and Eichler Homes Inc."

2. The change to single-family homes would eliminate a church site.

3. Proposed move of the commercial site from Mount Shasta Drive and Idylberry Road "to an extreme corner of the development" would create traffic problems.

4. If the commercial site is moved, single-family homes should be placed where it is now shown, rather than in the townhouse area.

Stanley Dorst, association president, said the approximately 300 homeowners in Lucas Valley will be asked to sign the petition and to write letters to the planning commission.

Bank Theft Hunt Turns To Marin

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI was reported today to be checking information that an Oakland bank employee, sought since the disappearance of $188,440, still is in the Bay Area.

Agents have searched at Tiburon, Sausalito and in San Francisco's North Beach for Charles Nelson, 20, a messenger who walked out of the Oakland Bank of Commerce a week ago.

At that time, there were reports the young man had spoken about going to Mexico.

His mother, Mrs. Sophie Lajeunesse of Oakland, said she has heard nothing from her son. She has expressed belief "someone else got him to do it."

Boy Caught While Returning Auto

San Rafael police arrested a 15-year-old San Rafael boy on a charge of joy riding last night as he was returning a car that had been reported stolen from the Safeway Store parking lot at 700 B Street.

Willma Fay Lee of 45 Woodland Avenue reported at 9:30 p.m. that her car had been taken from the lot between 11:30 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Officer Gerald R. Green spotted the youth driving the car into the lot and arrested him. The boy was taken to Juvenile Hall.

New Friend Is Expensive, Rider Finds

A Mill Valley man reported to police at 4:01 p.m. yesterday that a man who gave him a ride home from a Lytton Square bar later removed a $1,500 etching from his bedroom wall and took $365 worth of other belongings.

Byron Lundstrom said the thief, who spoke with a slight French accent, had told him he was on his way to Alaska to find work. "He is 25 and gave his name as Roger and he is an excellent pool player," Lundstrom told police.

Lundstrom, who lives at 200 Elinor Avenue, said he was at the Old Mill Tavern, 106 Throckmorton Avenue, at closing time. He accepted a ride home with "Roger."

At his home Lundstrom offered Roger a drink, he said, had one himself and then went to bed under the impression that Roger had left the house.

On arising, Lundstrom discovered some of his belongings missing from the top of his dresser and the 8-by-20 inch etching, "Nude Bathers" by Andres Zorn, missing from its frame.

Also taken, Lundstrom told officers, was $35 in cash, a Swiss 14 karat wrist watch valued at $110, two cigarette lighters valued at $8, two suits valued at $112 and $85, a $15 pig skin valise, and charge plates for Macy's and the White House department stores.

Would-Be Intruder Splinters Home Door

Marlis Ann Ross of 503 D Street, San Rafael, reported to police at 12:34 a.m. today that a prowler attempted to break into her home through a rear door.

Police said the door was splintered and the latch broken.

Higher Budget In Marin City

Marin City Community Services district directors last night adopted a 1964-65 budget of $6,470 and agreed to continue the present tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

The 1964-65 budget is higher than the estimated revenue, reported John A. Thomson, secretary, but it is hoped more money will come in from building rent as well as gifts and donations. The current budget is $4,711.

The budget is up, said Thomson, because $1,500 has been earmarked for the "total education" program to start next month and because of increase expenditures for services such as street lighting, fire hydrants and building maintenance.

Harrison N. Bailey, business manager, in a report of the annual revenue, said the district has a "good balance" of nearly $2,600. Mrs. Juanita S. Cobb, whose term ended this month, was thanked by the board for her six years service as director.

Self-Regulating?

LONDON (UPI)—Lord Shawcross, a leading British lawyer, complained last night that a recent investigation into the conduct of two policemen was conducted by the policemen themselves. Shawcross charged that there was no law giving the government power to compel an independent investigation.

District Keeps Same Officers

Jesse E. Berry was re-elected chairman of the Marin City Community Services District last night to serve a two-year period.

Also re-elected were C. J. Williams, vice chairman, and John A. Thomson, secretary. Mrs. Vivian Barron was elected treasurer.

Skyral Sweeney, also a director, was appointed as "roving ambassador" to attend daytime meetings and report to the board. Sweeney works at night.

The District of Columbia was named in honor of Christopher Columbus.

Debt Limit Rises To Record High

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson yesterday signed legislation raising the temporary debt limit to a record breaking $324 billion.

The national debt currently totals about $312 billion.

An increase was necessary to keep the government on a bill-paying basis. The previous $315 billion temporary ceiling was enacted in October and was due to drop to $309 billion on June 30, then to the permanent level the next day.

Dredging Urged In Mariner Cove

Corte Madera Town Council last night authorized a study to determine whether San Clemente Creek running through Mariner Cove poses an immediate flood threat.

At issue is whether the creek must be dredged during 1964-65 or whether the project can be delayed a year.

Mariner Cove residents jammed the council chambers in a bid for immediate dredging. More than 80 were on hand, some sitting on counters and standing in the doorway, and others outside peering through open windows.

After an hour-and-a-half hearing, the council agreed that it could not make a decision on the dredging until it had a study of the creek elevation.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said if the study shows conditions at the creek are serious, residents "will get quick action."

The study is expected to take about a month and cost about $300.

Town Mgr. Arthur M. Brandow said the project could be delayed a year.

Herber C. Leney, chairman of the board of Mariner Cove Improvement Assn., asked that funds for dredging the creek and its branches be placed in the town's 1964-65 budget.

The creek bed has filled with mud, silt and growth creating a flood control problem, Leney said.

"It is generally agreed that the condition of the channel is serious and the town is required to provide drainage," he said. "The only difference seems to be as to the time fhen the channel must be cleaned out. Two prominent engineers who know the area advise that it should be done now before private property is damaged."

Daniel P. Coleman, San Rafael engineer who helped plan the area surrounding the creek, has stated the creek should be dredged as soon as possible to provide proper drainage, Leney said. Also, he declared, Arthur Roth of the engineering firm of Oglesby, Jacobs and Wickham of San Rafael has observed the accumulation of fill in the creek bed and said the creek bed should be cleaned out before flooding occurs.

R. E. Rich, president and general manager of Associated Dredging Co. of Sausalito, who originally dredged the channel, said the dredging would cost from $20,000 to $25,000.

Brandow said a $20,000 expenditure would add 20 cents to the town's tax rate.

Leney said Dominic Muzzi of Millbrae, owner of an unimproved tract north of Mariner Cove, would be willing to pay for part of the dredging and would permit silt removed from the channel to be placed on his land if the job is done immediately. This would represent a saving to the town, Leney said.

Brandow said that is was a hard decision to leave the dredging out of his recommended 1964-65 budget, but said it should be in the next budget.

Councilman Albert E. Kogler asked if there is proper drainage in the area now. Brandow answered, "We have adequate drainage to get us through this coming winter."

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton suggested that if the residents want further improvements to the creek for navigation or small boat waterway, they could consider forming a special district and applying for federal and state funds.

Richardson Bay Issue To Get More Hearings

After four hours of looking at maps of Richardson Bay and hearing sometimes impassioned pleas from engineers, attorneys and planning consultants, the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday concluded it was not yet ready to make a proposal to county supervisors on where dredging lines should be drawn on the bay's master plan.

Commissioners voted to resume the hearing at their regular meeting next Monday, only session remaining before the July 7 deadline set by the supervisors for their recommendations.

They also made it clear they were not wholly satisfied with the presentations made during the afternoon hearing, and attempted to set some guidelines for how they could be improved — and shortened — the next time.

Commissioner Felix M. Warburg objected to several aspects of the lengthy testimony.

Warburg complained that the commission had received one-sided presentation in the question of "private vs. public" use of tidelands. Only one individual — former county planning director Mary Summers — had spoken on behalf of the Conservation League plan presented earlier to the supervisors, he noted, while nearly all others had voiced the views of private interests, with several openly blasting the Conservation League proposal.

He also expressed "shock" at astronomical figures used by some of the private-interest spokesmen in estimating the cost of the plan presented by Mrs. Summers.

Chairman Niels Schultz Jr. indicated he had strong reservations about the Conservation League plan, in which the county would acquire privately owned tidelands for a "marina green" between the Commodore seaplane base and Rosedale Canal.

Schultz said he felt the county might consider a bond issue or other financing plan later on to acquire such lands, "but in the meantime there must be a responsible alternative for private development.

"Either we have a private enterprise system or we don't," he said.

The commission also heard Planning Director B. D. Dobb's recommendations that dredging lines be moved out from their original location before they were deleted from the master plan, and that the Saucelito Canal be dredged to six feet.

But, commissioners noted at the hearing's end, they had heard almost nothing about the report of San Francisco consultants Lee and Prazsker, hired earlier to find how much filled area would be produced by dredging the bay and channel.

Commissioners appeared hopeful the afternoon had given various groups a chance to give vent to their emotions, so that Monday they could get down to the question of where dredging lines could be drawn on the map.

They instructed Dobbs and the interested parties to work out a better system of clearly marked maps and overlays, so that quick visual comparisons could be made of the different proposals.

County Listens To Water Plan Foe

Dist. Atty. John A. Nejedly of Contra Costa County appeared before the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday to seek support in his county's fight to hold up construction of the San Luis drain in the San Joaquin Valley.

The supervisors said they would check into the problem, consulting with officials of the Marin Municipal and North Marin County water districts, before taking action.

Nejedly said the drain, a part of the federal participation in the California State Water Project, would dump agricultural wastes, including salts and pesticides, into the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta at Antioch. He said the chemical could affect fish life throughout San Francisco Bay.

Holdup Turns Out To Be Suicide Try

Greyhound bus driver Robert Arbogast thought he had a robbery on his hands for a few moments Saturday night. Then he knew better.

While driving his bus south near the south tower of the Golden Gate Bridge at 6:25 p.m., Arbogast felt a hard object being poked into his ribs.

He was ordered to stop the bus and let Thelma Patton, 37, of San Francisco off on the bridge. Mrs. Patton ran to the railing, but was prevented from jumping over by Arbogast who quickly followed her.

She was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

Mill Valley Asks For Ratio On Bay Water, Fill Plans

Four Mill Valley planning commissioners, meeting Saturday with two city councilmen, decided they could not evolve an "instant plan" for a proposed permanent pierhead and bulkhead line for Richardson Bay.

They agreed, said Robert C. Mountjoy, planning commission chairman, to ask the Marin County Planning Commission to see if the line could not represent a ratio of water and land . . . and that, no matter how the bay were shaped, it could still have the same amount of both.

"The one hope is that there be flexibility to the line established and that we can go ahead with our East Mill Valley general plan and work closely with the Bothin interests, developers," said Mountjoy.

A Tribute to The Marin Art and Garden Fair

Tomorrow, the 19th Marin Art and Garden Fair will open at 6 o'clock "in the Medieval manner."

This annual event attracts thousands of visitors to Marin, who, along with us natives, will be enthralled by the grandeur of the garden displays in magnificent setting, judge the art exhibits, watch art-in-action displays with fascination, sample all sorts of interesting food, enjoy the music, dancing and drama, explore the "Court of Commerce" and probably rest in the shade while children ride the merry-go-round.

After the Fair, the Center offers weekly fashion show luncheons and the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

Preserved for us all to enjoy, the Art and Garden Center is one of many special pleasures of life in Marin.

How many times will you vote today?

UNDER our American political system you get a chance to vote in our national elections every two years. Under our American economic system you vote many times each day—every time you make a purchase.

No one can calculate the number of individual purchases—from groceries to gasoline—that are made in this country each day. But we know they must far exceed 700 million. (By contrast, even an election as vital as our presidential election is expected to draw less than 70 million votes this year.)

This infinitely complex process of voting—by buying or not buying the goods and services offered in our free market—is a wonderfully democratic mechanism. It continually registers the ever-changing needs and wishes of all the people in the country—directing what should be produced, at what price, and in what quantities.

The curling iron gives way to the home permanent; the celluloid collar is replaced by the wash-and-wear shirt; not because of any governmental edict, but simply because the American people "vote" them in and out of existence.

Ironically, communism and socialism—which purport to be "economic systems of the masses"—are the least democratic of all. The people have little opportunity to "vote" on what they want. Instead, a central authority determines for them what shall be produced, how much, and where it will be distributed.

In this country the "private segment" of our economy (which accounts for 4/5 of our Gross National Product) is literally and truly directed by the "votes" of the people. For that reason the economic system of the United States is the most democratic institution the world has ever known.

CORE Wants GOP Rights Foes Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Congress of Racial Equality wants the Republican National Convention to denounce Sen. Barry Goldwater and every other GOP congressman who voted against the civil rights bill.

CORE laid down yesterday a series of demands it says it will make when the convention's platform committee meets here next month. The convention is scheduled for July 13-16.

CORE national program director Norman Hill said that only picketing is now planned for the convention, but civil disobedience demonstrations might materialize depending "on the action of the convention itself."

Hill said similar demands will be made at the Democratic National Convention in August at Atlantic City, N. J.

Goldwater, a leading contender for the GOP presidential nomination, was not specifically mentioned in the demand that Republicans denounce civil rights bill foes.

But Hill said, "Right," when asked if the effect of the demand is for official GOP denunciation of the Arizonan.

Other demands listed by Hill included:

"Repudiation of the traditional alliance with conservatives and Dixiecrats on civil rights and social legislation affecting Negroes and other minorities."

Immediate implementation of the civil rights law.

Steps toward integration in schools and housing.

Liberalization of the Senate's cloture rule.

More public works, job training programs and a $2 minimum wage.

"Enforcement of Sections 2 and 5 of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution, especially in the southern states which deny Congressional representation by denying voting rights."

Costa Rica President Gets Welcome By LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Lyndon B. Johnson today welcomed President Francisco Orlich of Costa Rica for a state visit. Both men immediately forecast great things for the Alliance For Progress.

Orlich, his wife and a party of Costa Rican officials arrived by helicopter from Williamsburg, Va., where they spent the night.

TIBURON PURCHASES COUNTY'S SERVICES

$68,000 Contract May Be Trimmed As New City Gains Ability To Handle Tasks Itself

Tiburon city councilmen agreed last night to pay the Marin County to provide essentially the same services the county provided before incorporation.

Cost to the city was estimated at $5,696 monthly or $68,352 yearly. But written into the contract is a provision that the city may terminate it on 60-day notice, as Tiburon gains more independence by setting up its own police, planning, engineering, building inspection or other departments.

Councilmen appointed five persons to a city planning commission, while contracting to the county to provide professional planning advisers to process use and sign permits, review subdivision maps, and provide other advisory services.

The cost to the city is estimated at $1,360 monthly for staff work; the city planning commission and city council will have final say on planning matters.

Police patrol of Tiburon will continue under the Marin County sheriff's office at an estimated monthly cost of $1,470. Deputies will cover the same patrols as before incorporation, being in Tiburon an estimated three and one-half hours out of every eight-hour shift.

Included in the over-all contract was approximately $1,050 monthly for maintenance of city streets by the county, street sweeping of all curbed city streets once a year and hand sweeping of Main Street twice weekly is estimated to cost $140 weekly. Street striping will cost $125 monthly.

"It puts the burden on the citizens" to keep the city clean, Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge noted. Councilman Fred C. Hannahs, on hearing the cost of sweeping the business area, said, "if the city wants to subcontract, I might get a broom."

Councilmen agreed to ask for a written promise from the county that work on Trestle Glen Drive and on realignment of Mar West Street, would continue without cost to the city.

Building inspection services by the county were estimated to cost $526 a month for plumbing, electrical, heating and building inspection, plans and site checking.

Engineering services were set at $1,025 a month for construction permit investigation, road engineering, subdivision map review.

Councilmen were prepared to go before the county board of supervisors today to gain approval of the contract, which would go into effect tomorrow and last through Aug. 15, at which time city and county are expected to renegotiate on needs and costs.

Money to pay the county may come from a loan from the county itself, or from Crocker-Citizens Bank which has offered a 3½ per cent loan rate, Mayor Strawbridge said.

Councilmen were to ask supervisors for an interest-free loan of $30,000, with $10,000 payable immediately, and were ready to dicker if the county asked the three and seven-eighths per cent which had previously been hinted.

With state rebates and subventions expected to be resolved within a few months, interim City Administrator Warren Schmid told the council it would be well within a balanced budget.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

1. Passed a traffic and parking ordinance to change jurisdiction from county to city, while agreeing to consider delineation of a loading zone on Juanita Lane, now posted as "No Parking."

2. Decided to have city representatives meet with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. representatives at luncheon July 2, a meeting which will be "completely informal and with no action," Mayor Strawbridge said, for consideration of a PG&E city franchise and discussion of putting present and future utilities underground. Place of the meeting (which may be a violation of state law) was not designated.

3. Set for future consideration franchise or ordinances regulating taxis after Charles (Ted) Cohen had requested a franchise for his six-year-old area services.

4. Put off decision on appointment of a representative to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District.

5. Agreed to consider a dog leash law at a future meeting.

6. Agreed to consider curfew law for a future meeting, with a suggestion that those under 18 years of age be required to be with an adult if out after 11 p.m.

7. Adjourned to a special meeting at 8 p.m. July 6 at Del Mar School for discussion of hiring a city manager.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

12:47 p.m., San Rafael — Small grass fire in backyard at 1 Harte Avenue; no damage.

2 p.m., Sausalito—Fire, possibly caused by cigarette, destroyed front seat of car of Robert Loughlin, 693 Bridgeway; Loughlin drove car to fire station to extinguish fire.

2:03 p.m., Mill Valley—Grass fire, possibly caused by match or cigarette, burned 10 by 10 foot area between Presidio and Miller Avenues.

3:11 p.m., Corte Madera—Marin County Fire Department extinguished grass fire just east of city limits in Meadowsweet area; half acre burned, possibly started by children playing with matches.

3:32 p.m., Santa Venetia—Small grass fire in back of Santa Venetia supermarket; 41 San Pablo Avenue burned 10 by 15 foot area, caused by sparks from incinerator with broken screen.

4:10 p.m., Sausalito—Lockout at 11 Second Street.

Mill Valley Folk Singer Sentenced

DENVER (AP) — Judith Ann Powers, 24, a Mill Valley folk singer accused of stealing a 30-pound bronze statue from the Denver Art Museum, was placed on probation for five years by Dist. Judge Sherman G. Finesilver yesterday.

Miss Powers sings under the name of Kellery Powers.

She pleaded no contest to the charge May 11 and has been free on bond.

Miss Powers was appearing at a Denver night club at the time the statue, valued at more than $2,000, disappeared last July 27.

Cyclist, Little Girl Hurt In Collision With Automobile

A motorcyclist and his 9-year-old passenger suffered minor injuries when the cycle collided with an automobile at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue in Novato at 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

Franklin Jefferson Beale, 22, of 1221 Vallejo Avenue, Apt. 12, Novato, was eastbound on Grant when his motorcycle hit the side of a car driven by Vernon Rodeck, 49, of 95 Grove Lane, Novato, southbound on Seventh Street, police reported.

Beale and his passenger, his nephew, Richard Larry Beale, 9, of 7 Marion Court, were treated at Novato General Hospital. The elder Beale for a skinned knee and cut hand and Richard Beale for skinned forehead and cut lip.

Rodeck was cited by police for failure to yield the right of way.

Library Fund Studied, Budget Talks Stalled

Larkspur city council last night decided to postpone discussion of the budget for the next fiscal year because of the absence of councilmen Robert J. Smith and Earl J. O'Grady.

The three councilmen present at the meeting, which lasted for less than one hour, approved the transfer of funds so the city can operate without a budget for a short time, and discussed with head librarian Helen Wilson how much money should be set aside for the library building fund.

Ross School Budget Up; 32-Cent Tax Hike Seen

Ross School District trustees last night approved a $322,108 tentative budget for 1964-65, calling for an estimated 32-cent increase in the general tax rate to $2.47.

District voters recently approved a 56-cent increase in the tax rate to $2.70, but the maximum will not be levied this year, said Supt. William W. Monahan. He does not expect an increase in the current override taxes of 14 cents, which are in addition to the general purpose levy.

The budget approved is $35,424 higher than the 1963-64 total of $286,684. Most of the increase will pay for two and on-ehalf additional teachers (two classroom teachers and one half-time remedial teacher), and part will pay for rent of two portable classrooms and repair of the school roof.

The portable classrooms will make it possible to reduce class size next fall when an estimated 535 pupils are expected, Monahan said.

Trustees voted to support a three-way split of the Tamalpais High School District into three unified school districts. This plan is under study by the County Committee on School District Organization.

The board also accepted the $3,086 low bid on Roofing Service and Supply Co., San Rafael, for repair of the school roof this summer.

Officer On Duty

Fairgrounds Boasts New Construction

A new $90,000 Home Arts Building at the Petaluma Fairgrounds will greet visitors to the Sonoma-Marin Fair July 9-12. It will contain all home economic exhibits, from jams to doilies.

The roof of the 6,500 square foot structure, which has only one room, contains 147 lights, giving it the appearance of a deep blue sky, according to fair manager Arthur F. Canavan. The only other structure like it in California is at the San Diego Zoo. It was built by Lindsay and Associates of Los Angeles.

Medal To Sausalitan

Capt. John D. G. Dormer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Teas of 403-A Napa Street, Sausalito, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement in aerial flight at Misawa Air Base, Japan. Captain Dormer, an F-101 pilot, is assigned to a Pacific Air Forces unit at Misawa.

Coed On Honor List

Sarah Buckley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Buckley of 700 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda, was named to the dean's list at the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul, Minn., for the 1963-64 academic year. She was in the top 10 per cent of the sophomore class.

HE'LL NEVER DARE TO SNEER ABOUT ANY WOMAN'S DRIVING

Here's one husband who will never be able to say a word about his wife's driving.

Mrs. Mary Bell Stacey, 26, of Rohnert Park, Sonoma County, was headed home last night in one car, her husband, Martin, following in another.

At 9:30 p.m., she stopped for a stop sign on the Hamilton Air Force Base frontage road.

Wham! Her car was hit from the rear by — yes, the one driven by husband Martin.

Stacey was treated for a forehead cut at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital and transferred to Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital where he was reported in good condition today. Mrs. Stacey was unhurt.

X-15 Goes Awry, Gets Down Safely

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—The inertial guidance system on an X-15 rocket plane failed today shortly after the craft was dropped from a bomber, but the pilot landed safely.

Jack McKay was supposed to go to 180,000 feet in an altitude buildup flight for high altitude research experiments later this summer.

When his guidance system malfunctioned, however, he held the altitude to 98,000 feet and speed to 3,375 and glided to a landing after 11 minutes in the air.

Cause of the instrument failure was not immediately determined.

Mischievous Ghost Is Just A Bored Employee

OAKLAND (AP)—There's no poltergeist—noisy ghost — to blame for the past few weeks' confusion in the office of court reporter George H. Wheeler.

A young employee, John Orfanides, 20, confessed Monday that he's responsible for the flying light bulbs and dancing typewriters that have troubled the office since early June.

"I don't know why I did it," he told police. "It was just a spur-of-the-moment thing."

Orfanides said the "ghostly" doings began when he accidentally knocked over a telephone. When he saw the surprise of the other employees, he decided to expand the operation.

It was just a matter of the hand being quicker than the eye. "Like the light bulbs," he said. "When nobody was looking, I'd flip one against the wall."

Orfanides said he ran paper clips across typewriter springs to make them sing, jerked telephones to the floor with a tug on the cords and toppled files before ducking into another office.

He said a talk with a Roman Catholic priest convinced him to confess.

And apparently his boss can take a joke. "He's a good transcriber," said Wheeler. "I'm not filing any charges. He'll be back on the job tomorrow."

Jordan Scornful Of Scranton Pitch

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania drew an outspoken snub today for trying to lure California's 86 Republican delegates away from Sen. Barry Goldwater's presidential banner.

"We are pledged to Sen. Goldwater until released by him," said Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, a member of the delegation.

"There is no use trying to pressure us."

Jordan's comments came after Scranton wired California delegates: "If given a chance our party can win in November. That is why I am a candidate . . ."

Scranton said he'd like to meet personally with the Californians prior to the Republican national convention in San Francisco.

Jordan said such a meeting would be a waste of time.

He termed "completely futile" any attempt to "try to steal delegates" from Goldwater and said the Scranton telegram was "kind of an insult to our intelligence."

The veteran state official said he felt the wire implied that the Pennsylvania governor is the only Republican who has a chance to defeat President Johnson.

"In my opinion," said Jordan, "Goldwater is the only Republican who can beat the President.

"I have found a groundswell of support for Goldwater. And he is going to get a lot of support from conservative Democrats throughout the country."

Jordan noted that Goldwater's California slate signed affidavits pledging to support the Arizona senator for the presidential nomination unless he releases the delegates.

"Personally, I intend to stick with Goldwater all the way," he added, in an interview. "If he doesn't win the nomination—and I certainly think he will—I'll vote for the candidate he recommends. Who that would be I don't know."

The secretary of state accused Scranton of "playing it coy" in the presidential race.

"I think he has a nerve to announce his candidacy at this late date, just as a stop-Goldwater maneuver. Why didn't he work for it earlier? I have more respect for Rockefeller who had the courage to run in the primaries."

Goldwater defeated Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in the June 2 California primary by 68,000 votes.

GOP Plays Safe On Overtime Convention At Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Republican party has made provisions for an extra day at its national convention in case of prolonged balloting.

GOP National Chairman William Miller said Monday the convention is scheduled to open July 13 and continue for four days. But, Miller said, plans provide for a fifth day if needed at San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Nominating speeches and balloting of a Presidential candidate are to begin at 1:30 p.m. PST, July 15, third day of the convention.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will address the convention July 14.

The schedule as announced by Miller:

Monday, July 13—10 a.m., convention called to order by Miller for organizational purposes. Welcoming speeches by Mayor John F. Shelley, a Democrat; former Mayor George Christopher, a Republican; and Sen. Thomas Kuchel, Rep. William Mailliard and Rep. J. Arthur Younger, all Republicans.

5 p.m., keynote address by Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, temporary chairman. Message from former President Herbert Hoover read by Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois. Dramatic reading of a presentation entitled "A Call of Greatness."

Tuesday, July 14—4 p.m., consideration of party platform. Address by Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky, permanent chairman. Addresses by Eisenhower and Nixon.

Wednesday, July 15—1:30 p.m. nominations and balloting for a Presidential candidate.

Thursday, July 16—4:30 p.m., nominations and balloting for a vice-Presidential candidate and acceptance speeches by both members of the ticket.

Miller said the acceptance speeches would be made Friday if balloting continued at length.

Box Score On San Francisco Sit-In Trials

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Here is the latest box score on progress of sit-in demonstrators' trials brought on by arrests in March and April at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel and Auto Row agencies:

Arrests — 470 (some two or three times).

Convictions — 134 (14 convicted twice).

Acquittals — 51.

No contest pleas — 60.

Dismissed charges — 10.

Referred to juvenile authorities — four.

Awaiting or undergoing trial — 197.

Five demonstrators pleaded no contest Monday. They elected to pay $25 fines and accept 10-day suspended jail sentences rather than spend five days in jail.

Gateway Montessori School To Be Opened In Marin

The educational techniques of Italian physician-educator Dr. Maria Montessori (1870-1952) will be available to Marin children next September at the Gateway Montessori School to be opened in Los Ranchitos by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Haggerty.

It will be the Haggerty's second Montessori venture in the Bay Area. Their first Gateway School will begin a half-day summer session July 13 in San Francisco and go through Aug. 21. Both will be open in September on a normal 9 a.m.-3 p.m., Monday through Friday program.

Located at 105 El Prado Avenue between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, the Gateway School will start with children aged 2½-4½ years and older children with Montessori training. Eventually, the Haggertys hope to enlarge their school to accommodate children up to 12 years of age.

The effect of the Montessori method, according to Haggerty, "is to provide for children the opportunity of releasing their fullest human potential." This is best accomplished by instructing them from about the age of two, when they are in what Dr. Montessori called a "period of sensitivity," when the child has a natural tendency to learn basic skills like walking and rudimentary facts about his environment.

Haggerty is a native of Pennsylvania who was graduated cum laude from University of California in 1953. His wife, Beth, is a Chicago native who was graduated from Rosary College in River Forest, Ill. Haggerty has taught for two years in public schools in California, while his wife has taught in Evanston, Ill., and several California school districts. They recently ran a Montessori School in Porterville, Tulare County.

Director of the school will be Joseph Schmidt, who holds a B.A. in music from University of Chicago and who has had one year of training with the American Montessori Society.

¼ tsp. salt
2 Jolly fryers, split in half
Combine all ingredients. Pour over chicken halves in a large dish. Cover and marinate 4 to 5 hours. Drain chicken and barbecue to golden goodness, brushing with marinade every 10 minutes and turning the chicken frequently—about 40 minutes in all. Serves 4.

PINEAPPLE SLAW
In a large bowl, combine 1 cup commercial sour cream, ½ tsp. sugar, 1 tbsp. vinegar, 1 tbsp. finely cut chives, 2 tbsp. pickle relish, 3 cups shredded cabbage and 1 cup drained crushed pineapple. Stir to mix evenly. Wonderful combination of flavors!

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM
To 1 beaten egg, add ¾ cup Hershey's chocolate syrup and fold in ½ pint of cream, whipped. Place in a refrigerator ice tray and freeze 3 hours or overnight. Serves 4.

Marinite Named College President

Rev. John David Alexander, associate professor of Old Testament at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, has been appointed president of Presbyterian - affiliated Southwestern College, Memphis, Tenn.

At 31 Dr. Alexander will be the youngest president in the history of the college, where he received his Bachelor's degree with honors in Greek in 1953.

He has been a member of the San Francisco Theological Seminary faculty since 1958. This summer he is teaching in the seminary's in-parish doctoral program. He will also teach here for the fall quarter, then leave with his family for a three month study leave in Europe.

Dr. Alexander will take over his duties at Southwestern in July 1965, after a three month period of training with the current president, Dr. Payton N. Rhodes.

A native of Tennessee, Dr. Alexander was enrolled in Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary when he received a Rhodes scholarship for Oxford University in England in 1953. He was awarded a doctorate in philosophy in 1957 from Oxford's Faculty of Theology.

In 1960-61 Dr. Alexander returned to Oxford on a study leave from San Francisco Theological Seminary to do post-doctoral work in ancient near-eastern languages and history.

Dr. Theodore A. Gill, president of the seminary, said the professor's departure "will be sadly marked not just by his faculty colleagues, his students and the seminary administration, but by congregations to which he has preached all over the west, and by the countless laymen he has taught in classes, on television and by radio."

LBJ Appoints Women To Diplomatic Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Norway has accepted President Lyndon B. Johnson's designation of career diplomat Margaret Joy Tibbetts of Bethel, Maine, as new U. S. ambassador to Oslo, it was learned today.

She will become the second woman Johnson has placed in an ambassadorial post. She will replace Clifton R. Wharton, one of two Negroes serving as a U.S. ambassador.

Wages Top Reed Trustee Agenda

Trustees of Reed School District will meet at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School for further consideration of the district budget in preparation for the final budget hearing August 4.

Trustees will discuss salary increase requests for Supt. Edward C. Pino, principals, teachers and non-teaching staff.

Also on the agenda is discussion of whether the district will take a stand on proposed unification plans.

Planes Collide, Plunge Into Sea Near Catalina

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island (UPI)—Two planes, possibly Navy, collided off this resort island today and fell into the ocean.

The Los Angeles County sheriff's office said a boat picked up one man dead in the water. He was not immediately identified.

The Coast Guard said it thought the planes were from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station. Los Alamitos spokesmen said they had no immediate information.

Helicopters from the Navy, Coast Guard and Los Angeles County sheriff's aero detail flew to the scene.

A sheriff's helicopter reported one person was picked up by boat and that no others were immediately seen in the water.

The collision occurred four miles north-northeast of Long Point, on Catalina Island's north shore, the Coast Guard said.

Mother Nature's Error Corrected

CONCORD, Ala. (AP)—United States Steel construction workers are gouging a 3,300-foot-long tunnel through solid rock to correct a flaw in the earth's structure. The challenging project is going on 600 feet below the earth's surface in the Concord coal mine of the steel firm.

Millions of years ago, something happened to break a coal seam, leaving one segment 100 feet below the other. The tunnel is being built to reconnect the seams. Eight feet high and 17 feet wide, the tunnel will provide ventilation and track haulage to extensive coal reserves.

'This Is It—No More,' Corte Madera Warns Twin-City Recreation Board

The Corte Madera Town Council allocated $8,275 to the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission last night with a warning that the town is chipping in for the last time.

Councilmen suggested the commission, which has been supported by the cities of Larkspur and Corte Madera and the Larkspur School District, find a new method of financing its program.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said the town can no longer keep increasing its allocation to a recreation program that is going to get bigger and more expensive.

Councilmen suggested the commission consider forming a recreation district covering the twin cities and the surrounding unincorporated lands.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton, a member of the county's Local Agency Formation Commission, said there would be a case for a recreation district because the existing agencies cannot handle the problem.

Councilman Albert E. Kogler, who is chairman of the commission, pushed for the requested $8,275 allocation after Town Mgr. Arthur M. Brandow recommended that it be reduced to $4,000.

Commissioner Fred A. Nicholson said if the town were going to cut its allocation to $4,000 "it might as well skip it and cancel the commission."

Commissioner James W. McClintock said the commission will study the future of recreation in the area and the best way to finance it.

During a budget review session, the council deleted several items from the town's park and recreation budget.

It cut a $3,500 item for lighting the tennis courts at the town park, $1,760 for sidewalks and paths at the park, and $1,400 for grading and paving a portion of a parking area adpacent to the tennis courts.

It eliminated resurfacing of paths and building stairs at Menke Park, and decided to plant the area, reducing the appropriation from $800 to $350.

At request of park and recreation commissioners, councilmen agreed to include the construction of a backboard for warming up at the rear of the tennis courts, and to investigate the cost of a picnic area at the park.

The council will meet again at 7:30 p.m. today for further budget review including street, police and fire allocations.

Indonesia Seeks Soviet Weapons

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) —Indonesia announced today it will receive transport planes, helicopters, and air defense weapons from the Soviet Union.

The official Antara new agency said a mission will leave for Moscow Friday to obtain more equipment for the Indonesian air force.

Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan said during his visit here last week that Russia would supply Indonesia with modern weapons for its campaign against British-backed Malaysia.

President To Stay Close To White House In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two busy months of traveling and speechmaking, President Lyndon B. Johnson is expected to spend most of July at the White House.

There are no travel plans on his announced schedule for the month, and aides said only two or three out-of-town engagements are being discussed. The President may make a brief trip to his Texas ranch for the July 4 weekend.

One factor that may be influencing the President's travel plans is the Republican National Convention, which opens in San Francisco July 13 and will likely dominate the news for at least one week. Associates say it is only a coincidence that Johnson has no speaking dates during this period.

Japanese Leader Seeks Reelection

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda announced today that he will run for re-election as president of the majority Conservative party at its July 10-11 convention in Tokyo.

The decision had been expected. Ikeda's re-election as party president would automatically mean his continuing as prime minister, for the conservatives hold an absolute majority in parliament.

Ikeda, 64, has been prime minister for the past five years.

Tiburon Council Names Planners

Tiburon took over its own city planning last night with city council appointment of five planning commissioners.

Council members were far from unanimous on the appointees, with Councilman Fred C. Hannahs charging that commission choices would leave the areas of Lyford Cove, Old Tiburon and Hill Haven without representation.

Peter Macgowan, former chairman of the Tiburon Coordinating Council, was named temporary chairman of the commission to call its first meeting.

Macgowan, of Round Hill Road, reportedly was a unanimous choice for the commission when the council met in closed session yesterday afternoon to discuss the appointments.

He studied at Harvard University and is employed as an architect by Lester Gorsline Associates, Belvedere, medical facility planners. He is a former chairman of the Tiburon Coordinating Council and former chairman of its land use committee. He served for about a year on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization. He was appointed to a four-year term on the planning commission.

Next to be appointed by councilmen in last night's public meeting was Stephan H. Nash of 90 Taylor Road.

Nash was a candidate for city council in the recent incorporation election. He has resided in Tiburon for more than 10 years and is employed by Schwabacher and Co., stockbrokers in San Francisco.

He is a director of the Tiburon Coordinating Council, a commissioner of the Tiburon Fire District, and was on the incorporation committee. He is former co-chairman of the Paradise Property Owners Assn. Nash was appointed to a four-year term.

Next appointment was that of Mrs. William B. Newman, 841 Tiburon Boulevard. She is a former chairman of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, but resigned last October saying there was "lack of communication" between the commission and county supervisors.

Mrs. Newman is secretary-treasurer of the Marin Visitors Bureau and past president of the Little Reed Homeowners Assn. She was given a three-year commission term.

With the proposal of Joseph C. Marshall, 75 Seafirth Road, for a two-year term, Councilman Fred C. Hannahs said he disapproved "not in any disrespect for Mr. Marshall's ability" but because he believed there should be wider geographic representation on the commission.

"We tried to give recognition to geographic locality, but we are looking for strength and drive," said Councilman John S. Hoffmire Jr.

"I feel the appointment is not being made for the good of the city of Tiburon," said Leo Souza, agreeing with Hannahs that more consideration should have been given to the place of residence of commissioners.

Hoffmire and Hannahs voted "no" on the appointment, Souza abstained, which in parliamentary procedure counts as an approving vote, so Marshall was appointed.

Marshall is a former member of the Belvedere Recreation Commission and Belvedere Planning Commission. He is president of the Seafirth Property Owners Assn. He is employed by Westinghouse Electric Co. in San Francisco.

Hannahs also objected, for geographic reasons, to appointment of Erik Rettig, 158 Stewart Drive, to the commission for a one-year term.

Rettig was born in Sweden and was employed by Harza Engineering Co., Chicago. He is now a consulting engineer. He was a member of the planning committee of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

No date has been set for the first commission meeting as its temporary chairman is out of town. Planners already have work laid out for them. City councilmen last night said they wanted a general policy planning statement drawn up as soon as possible.

"We appoint them, and then ask them how they feel," Hannahs commented.

Controversial Tree Is Due Plans Meet

Mill Valley planning commissioners will consider a request for removal of a 60-foot pine tree from property of Pacific Telephone and Telepgaph Co. at 19 Walnut Avenue at their meeting at 8 p.m. today.

Joseph Regalia, assistant fire chief, says the tree may fall on his house at 23 Walnut and that another pine, now removed, damaged the foundation of his house and cracked his fireplace.

The telephone company, according to planning aide Jean McLean, goes along with Regalia. Park Supt. Joseph F. Penders has suggested that, because of recent bulldozing of the telephone company's parking lot disturbing the pine's roots, the tree may be dangerous.

Both the architectural advisory committee and planning commission feel the tree is the focal of landscaping in the area and do not wish to see it removed. Asa Hanamoto, landscape architect and member of the advisory committee, has investigated and will report tonight.

Also on the agenda at the special meeting is a hearing on a request from Dr. and Mrs. Alan B. Scott for a subdivision at Manor Drive and Avon Avenue.

James Smithson, an English scientist, bequeathed his entire fortune to the U. S., thus the Smithsonian Institution was founded.

Collins Won't Say If He'll Take U.S. Job

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Leroy Collins, president of the National Assn. of Broadcasters, refused yesterday to confirm reports he is preparing to resign to accept a federal civil rights post.

It was reported earlier that Collins, former governor of Florida, would resign the $75,000 a year post to accept the job of director of community relations services.

The post would be set up under the civil rights bill now before Congress. The director would try to conciliate civil rights disputes so they would not have to be taken before the federal courts.

However, Collins told a news conference that he has had conversations with President Lyndon B. Johnson "relative to my availability for this job."

On another subject, Collins predicted that pay television "will fail" because the public will realize "it is not in their best interest."

In commenting on the advent of pay television in California, he said that pay-TV is "not good for America" and would hamper the development of "free broadcasting."

"Now much has been made of the argument by pay-TV proponents that free broadcasters are merely arguing their own economic interests and that in an un-American way they are seeking to shackle the competition of pay television," Collins said.

"Certainly we do have a selfish stake in the survival and strength of free television. One should not assume, however, that broadcasters are concerned only with their own narrow personal interests," he said. Collins said that pay-TV "offers nothing that cannot be provided by free television.

EDUCATION POST — Elizabeth D. Koontz of Salisbury, N. C., was elected yesterday to the highest post ever held by a Negro in the National Education Assn. Unopposed, she was named president-elect of the 820,000-member Department of Classroom Teachers and will take office next June.

Oswald Defender Handed Summons

LONDON (UPI)—Attorney Mark Lane, who claims that Harvey Lee Oswald did not kill President John F. Kennedy last November, took off for New York today. He said he had received a summons to appear before the Warren commission which is investigating the assassination.

"I really have little clue why they want me back there," Lane said at the airport. "They have all the facts I have found."

Lane, who once was retained by Oswald's mother to investigate the assassination, has been touring Europe and spreading the idea the former U.S. Marine did not kill the president.

Probation Is Granted On Amended Charge

Ola Herman Jandel, 23, San Francisco was placed on three years probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday on his guilty plea to an amended charge of taking property worth over $200 from Crocker-Citizens National Bank, Fairfax branch, on Feb. 21.

He originally was charged with forging a $400 check that day.

Fair Appointees

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday appointed Hetty C. Bryans of Pixley to the board of directors of the 24th District Agricultural Association of Tulare County. He reappointed Louis Milkovich of Visalia to the board, which supervises the Tulare county fair.

Who made the orange more tempting than the apple?

JULIE LONDON, STAR OF STAGE, SCREEN AND TELEVISION

Smirnoff did it—with the famous Smirnoff Screwdriver, America's most popular vodka drink. It not only looks like orange juice, it tastes like orange juice. Just pour a jigger of Smirnoff over ice cubes, fill glass with orange juice and stir. Tempting? It's downright irresistible! It leaves you breathless.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Savings, Loan Firm Soon To Be Year Old—Assets Over $4 Million

The month of July will complete the first year of business for San Rafael Federal Savings and Loan Assn., and according to president Harold Elberg, the year-end report will show more than four million dollars in assets.

Elberg has brought in a display of eight model ships valued at about $100,000 from the San Francisco Maritime Museum for the occasion — from full-rigged schooners and barks to tugs and modern vessels. Also during the month of July, San Rafael Federal is making the most of the only "giveaway" opportunity it will ever have, by presenting to openers of new accounts, and accounts who increase their deposits, a choice of any one of eight Sunset books on home projects. Federal regulations allow a presentation of this kind only once—within the firm's first year. After that it's verboten.

NEWLY OPENED in Novato for businesses that aren't completely equipped and staffed for secretarial work, Novato Office Services, at 1305 Grant Avenue. This is a venture of Mrs. Peggy Hicks of Bel Marin Keys. First venture on her own—but she has worked in offices for the last 15 years and knows all the routines.

Services include stenographic work, dictation by telephone, mimeographing and direct mailing. She will also do payroll work —but no other bookkeeping.

FREDERIC S. HIRSCHLER, president of the Emporium Capwell Co., has a cute trick—particularly during an opening. Frequently he circulates through one of the stores wearing lapel identification that modestly states: "Information," instead of his official title. That way he get to talk first hand to people shopping — and for all anyone knows, he's just a floorwalker.

LEE S. DARRAGH has been named director of advertising and sales promotion for shopping center properties of the Draper Companies. His immediate duties will include the development of a coordinated promotion program for the Northgate Regional Shopping Center in Marin.

He will also be responsible for creation and supervision of all advertising and promotion of the nine Draper shopping centers throughout Northern California. He was previously director of sales promotion activities for Star Market real estate properties on the East Coast Darragh and his family have moved to Belvedere.

HERB K. STAHL of Corte Madera has joined the real estate staff of James A. Orr, Inc., in Kentfield. He was previously with Don W. O'Neil Real Estate.

MARIN COUNTY CONSTRUCTION seems to be lagging a bit behind, according to building permit figures supplied by the Marin County Development Assn. Permits for the first five months of 1964 trailed that period in 1963 by 6.2 per cent. Biggest percentage drop (16.7 per cent) has been in commercial building. Residential construction is down 8.1 per cent. We also notice that May, down from April, showed a far lower percentage of multiple dwelling unit starts, with a drop to 27 per cent of all residential construction.

Contract Awarded

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The C. K. Moseman Construction Co. of Fresno was awarded a $956,452 contract yesterday to widen the deck of the Pit River Bridge from 44 feet to 56 feet and improve the approaches on U.S. 99 about 12 miles north of Redding.

State Is Calling For Work Bids

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The State Office of Architecture and Construction today announced it would call for bids this week on two Southern California projects.

One job involves construction of the Perry Whiting Memorial Park at Camarillo State Hospital. The park, to feature a 4,000 square foot swimming pool and a bath house, is expected to cost around $75,000. Bids will be opened July 22 in Los Angeles.

The other project involves installation of an outdoor area lighting system at the Los Angeles fairgrounds. Bids on the $50,000 project will be opened July 15 in Los Angeles.

Bond Experts Hired

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District has appointed Smith, Barney and Co., Inc., to serve as its financial consultant relative to a second block of approximately 40 million dollars of general obligation bonds which the district plans to offer for competitive bids some time this autumn.

Corporate Planner To Vice President's Desk

BERKELEY—George W. Ettelson has been elected a vice president of Dymo Industries, Inc., specializing in the field of corporate planning and development and financial public relations.

Court Allows Vote Of Inheritance In Merger Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Superior Court judge has ruled more than 110,000 shares in Bullock's Inc., left by the late Margaret S. Bullock can be voted in favor of merger with Federated Department Stores.

A proxy fight contesting the merger has been launched by P. G. Winnett, co-founder of the Bullock's department store chain.

Stockholders must vote two-thirds of Bullock's 2,611,902 outstanding shares affirmatively in order to affect a merger with the Cincinnati firm.

Margaret Bullock's stock was left to three nieces and a nephew. Their trustee, M. Bruce Gilreath, had asked the court to rule whether the will permitted him to vote the stock in case of a possible merger. The will prohibited the trustee from selling, exchanging or mortgaging the shares left in trust, but did not mention a merger.

Gilreath testified June 19 that the beneficiaries favored the merger.

Market To Be Closed

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange and nearly all other organized securities and commodities markets in the United States will close Friday in observance of Independence Day, which falls this year on Saturday.

Stock Market Is Mixed At Closing Time

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed at the close today as late trading picked up.

There were some signs of firming near the closing bell.

Gains of a point or so by Sears Roebuck and Woolworth helped the averages.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.4 million, compared with 4.39 million yesterday.

Santa Fe advanced more than a point after increasing its dividend to 40 cents a quarter from 30 cents. Chicago & North Western and Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific added about a point.

American Telephone, which split its stock 2 for 1 last week, was headed again for the top of the most-active list. The issue was down a minor fraction.

Control Data, off a point, and Burroughs, up more than a point, were actively traded.

General Motors, which started negotiations today on a labor contract with the United Auto Workers, tacked on about half a point.

Gainers of about a point included Kellogg, Kayser Roth, McLean Trucking, and Avon Products.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were steady.

Marinite Promoted, Going To New Jersey

G. D. Schlemmer, purchasing agent of the Pacific Coast operations, General Chemical Division in San Francisco, has beel promoted to the Allied Chemical Corp.'s Morristown, N. J., headquarters.

With the firm 20 years and a Mill Valley resident for 12 years, he expects to move to New Jersey in mid-August with his wife, Ruth, a former Mill Valley library trustee, three daughters and a son. The Schlemmers live at 46 Helen's Lane.

Manager Of Bank Marks 35th Year

Tomorrow will be an occasion for Joseph C. Crean, manager of the Fairfax branch of the Bank of America, to celebrate.

It is his 35th year with the bank.

Crean has manager the Fairfax branch since early 1955. He joined B. of A. in his native San Francisco in 1929, and a year later was transferred to the Noe Valley office. Subsequently he returned to the San Francisco head office as a bookkeeper and teller, then served in the Navy during World War II.

Resuming his banking career in San Anselmo in 1945, Crean advanced to officer status in 1947 and served as a lending officer until receiving his present position.

He is past president of the San Anselmo Lions Club, and treasurer for the Fairfax Lions. He is also a past president of the Fairfax Merchants Assn., treasurer of the Fairfax Salvation Army Unit and a past commander of the American Legion, San Anselmo Post.

Stock Chartists Look For Signs Of A Rally

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market chartists are eying every price flurry for signs of the traditional summer rally.

Steel production is sliding fast toward the still more traditional July doldrums.

Many factories are preparing for the newer but growing tradition of a vacation shutdown of one, two or three weeks.

The auto industry is preparing for the summer model changeover.

Hot weather sport and recerational items are selling fast.

Tourists jam New York streets and scramble for hotel rooms. Summer camps shore themselves up for the annual rush of school-free youngsters. Highways to beaches and mountains are even more jammed than ever.

Summer is coming in just like always—almost. There are some differences this time.

Stock prices already are around record highs—if you measure them by the popular averages. But many shares are far below their highs. It's the blue chip type, favored by the popular index and by many institutional buyers, that has attracted most buying interest this year.

Steel's output slide — already some 6.5 per cent from its year's high of late May—seems sure to go on into July. But this summer the steelmen think the dip, may prove to be comparatively shallow and shortlived. Optimism, born of a good cushion of orders, is strong for a big fall upturn.

The factory shutdowns for vacations are taking a new look also. The trend toward longer vacations continues, and so does the practice of closing down so that everyone takes them all at once. The total of idle production days may be greater.

But because of the business upswing some companies are trying divided vacations — a week in July, another at Christmas, or at some date when the backlog of unfilled orders is less impressive.

The auto changeovers this summer are complicated by reports that models revisions will be more extensive than in many years. But even more unsettling is the labor negotiations soon to start.

Because of this, production right now is probably higher than it would otherwise be, and the chances of a strike cloud the late summer prospects.

The San Francisco City Hall dome, 308 feet from the ground to the top of the lantern, rises higher than the dome of the national Capitol in Washington, D.C.

McKINLEY IN SEMI-FINALS TOMORROW

Defending Wimbledon champion Chuck Mcinley of San Antonio, Tex., will be carrying American hopes tomorrow when he battles in a semi-final match against Fred Stolle of Australia, the same man he beat to win the title last year. In yesterday's action, McKinley is shown stretching to make a return against South Africa's Abe Segal. McKinley beat Segal, 6-3, 6-3, 4-6 and 6-4 in the quarter-final match. (AP Wirephoto)

Pay-TV Gobbling Up Cal Sports

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pay-TV is gobbling up California sports attractions faster than their seasons come about.

This spring, firm starting dates for Subscription Television, Inc., screenings of major league baseball games were announced. A few weeks later college football came into the fold on an experimental basis. Now the San Francisco Warriors have signed for all 80 of their National Basketball Assn. games.

The Warriors announced yesterday their decision to join the cable television system, but no price for rights was disclosed.

Free television was accused of ruining attendance for some sports franchises when telecasts of home events saturated the airwaves.

The National Football League helped increase its draw with a controlled program of road game telecasts.

Now the Warriors should learn whether pay-TV can help stimulate attendance or at least boost the bank account—which could use some assistance after two seasons dominated by quarter and half-full arenas.

No fee for the telecasts were announced, but STI sports director Tom Gallery said it would probably be about $2—the cost of a general admission ticket. Of course more than one person could watch.

STI, working mainly in Los Angeles and San Francisco, hopes to have 50,000 homes signed up by the end of the year.

But its sports program is scheduled to open July 17 with a Los Angeles baseball game between the Dodgers and Chicago Cubs.

A San Francisco night game between the Giants and Milwaukee Braves is set for Aug. 14, to be followed by all other Giants home games this season and all games in 1965—and in color as soon as practical.

The Dodgers plan a similar program, but may add some road games this year.

The Athletic Assn. of Western Universities plans an experimental college football program on pay-TV this fall with the blessing of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Stanford, Southern California, California and UCLA are all in the AAWU.

STI is also reported negottiating with the Los Angeles Lakers of the NBA.

Amid the system's optimistic reports, apparently only one thing could ruin its plans: An initiative on California's November election ballot that would outlaw pay-TV.

Foes of pay-TV, whose ranks prominently include theater owners, would declare it "contrary to public policy to permit development of the subscription television business."

49ers: Wait 'n' See

The San Francisco 49ers will not jumps into the pay-television picture tube, at least not right away, according to Lou Spadia, managing owner of the National Football League team.

Spadia said the 49ers management would keep an eye on the development of Subscription Television "with interest" but would not hook up right away with pay-TV.

"Our television picture is a good healthy one at the moment," said Sadia, "so we're in a position to sit back and take a look at pay-TV. The public really is going to give us the answer."

Free television rights for the San Francisco 49ers have already been sold to the Columbia Broadcasting System as part of a league package deal for the 1964 season. But Spadia said the contract would not stop the club from selling pay-TV rights if the 49er owners wished to do so.

"I just don't feel that we want to make any move in the pay-TV direction at this time," Spadia declared.

The 49ers official made his remarks at a press conference at which the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Assn. announced the signing of a contract with Subscription Television.

Rumor Mongers Please Take Note: Horace And Alvin On Good Terms

Jack Hanley

Tracking down rumors is a tedious business. Collecting feathers loosed from a pillow in Candlestick's wind is easier than lassoing the source of idle gossip that continually goes on around the baseball beat, not that the baseball beat has any monopoly on rumor mon-

However, when the gossip is persistent and involves a couple of prominent names — Horace Stoneham and Alvin Dark—it becomes the duty of a reporter to go to work. Until last week, we ignored the gossip that Stoneham and Dark weren't talking to each other.

But when a midwest sports editor whispered confidentially that "Dark won't be back next season —I got it from someone very close to Stoneham," it was time to do something.

Past experience taught us the futility of trying to trace the origin of such whispers. So we took the obvious short cut. On the Giant team plane coming back from Cincinnati, we asked Dark if there were any substance to the gossip.

"HORACE," SAID the Giant team manager, "telephoned me in St. Louis and again in Cincinnati. We have never been on better terms."

Now, that satisfied us insofar as the gossip was concerned because Dark has never lied to us. Nevertheless, knowing our boss also would want to hear what Stoneham had to say about the matter, we checked with the president and owner of the Giants upon returning home.

"Pay no attention to them," said Stoneham when we asked him about the rumors.

"FROM NOW on, we won't," we told him, "but, of course, you appreciate that it sometimes becomes necessary to check out such stuff, particularly when it is heard all around the beat."

"I understand," said Stoneham. "A fellow from one of the news magazines called me the other day and said he understood I hadn't talked to Alvin for a year and a half. How does such stuff get started?"

It was a rhetorical question. Stoneham expected no answer. And we offered none. But we have an idea of how the gossip started about Stoneham and Dark.

LAST WINTER when Dark put his Atherton home up for sale, a San Francisco paper pyramided that simple story into speculative headline. Without asking Dark why he was moving back to Lake Charles, a couple of hundred miles from Houston, the paper asked on its own: "Is Dark the next manager of the Colts?"

When Dark was asked why he was moving back to his Lake Charles home, his answer was not only logical but understandable. "Just to be closer to the kinfolk," he said. "We're a close clan, and my moving back there will eliminate long reunion trips on Christmas, Easter, birthdays and other get-together occasions."

HOWEVER, DARK'S simple explanation was reported with a tongue-in-cheek touch by the S.F. paper primarily responsible for all the speculation about Dark's future status with the Giants.

It may develop that Dark and Stoneham, for one reason or another, may ultimately part company. But as of this moment they never have been on better terms.

COOL METS SNAP GIANT STREAK, BUT . . .

Hart Swinging Like 'Rookie Of Year'

Old Casey looked around and came up with the explanation:

"We just gotta play in cold weather . . . we can't play in hot weather . . . that's our trouble," said Mr. Stengel.

Which could be as good a reason as any, because how else can you explain why the New York Mets, last in the National League, have played dead even with the San Francisco Giants, the league leaders?

Losers of 16 of their last 18 games before arriving in the city by the Golden Gate, the Mets nipped the Giants 4-3 last night and broke San Francisco's five-game winning streak.

Jess Gonder did it with a two-run ninth inning home run off Bob Bolin and Jess seemed as surprised as his manager.

"He gave me the pitch I wanted," said Jess. "I didn't think he would, but he did . . . a sinking fast ball above the knees."

So after 10 games, the Mets and Giants are 5-5 going into today's battle with Gaylord Perry of the home club facing Galen Cisco of the New Yorkers.

Closest the men of Casey Stengel are to any other club is 3-5 to the Chicago Cubs or, if you like, 2-4 with Cincinnati and Houston. From there it goes up to 2-11 against Pittsburgh.

Manager Alvin Dark didn't stick around long enough to comment on the rapid turn of events which until the ninth inning featured his third baseman Jim Ray Hart.

Making his bid for Rookie-of-the-Year honors, Hart hit three singles and a home run in four times at bat, lifting his average from .263 to .276. He scored two of the Giants three runs, ran his consecutive hit streak to seven and has hit safely in 11 of his last 14 times at bat.

Going into the ninth, the Giants led 3-2. Larry Elliot, only recently added to the New York roster, walked with one out. Then Gonder cracked the first pitch Bob Bolin threw over the left field fence, the second homer for the Mets on the evening.

Rookies John Stephenson hit the first one leading off the first inning — his first major league homer. And his first in organized baseball over the left field fence. Usually the southpaw swinger goes to right field.

San Francisco retained first place by one-half game thanks to Houston's victory over Philadelphia. Still they face the possibility of being the only club in the National League losing more games to the Mets than they win from them.

Bolin, who went the route, took his third defeat against two victories and make no excuses.

"The pitch to Gonder was within an inch of where I wanted it," was low and away. He must have been looking for it."

"No," replied Gonder from the opposite dressing room. "I didn't expect the pitch, but it was one I like . . . a fast ball that seemed to sink a little.

"That was a game that both Al and I needed."

Al is Al Jackson, the little lefthander who had lost seven straight before gaining this victory in relief. He hasn't won since May 7, but, said catcher Gonder, "He had his best stuff going this time."

As for himself, the Mets receiver said he finally had his strength back after having his four wisdom teeth extracted on June 15.

BILLIE JEAN MOFFITT REACHES SEMI-FINALS

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Australia's Lesley Turner brushed aside Nancy Richey of Dallas today, but Billie Jean Moffitt, Long Beach, Calif., advanced to the semi-finals in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Championships and No. 2 in the United States, bolted past her old Wightman Cup rival, Ann Haydon Jones of England, 6-3, 6-3 on the famed center court.

Miss Turner, however, pounded out a 6-3, 6-4 decision over the poker-faced Miss Richey, the third-ranked U.S. player, and reduced to two the list of Miss Moffitt, third seed in these All-England Americans remaining in singles competition.

Chuck McKinley, the defending champion from San Antonio, plays Australia's Fred Stolle Wednesday in a men's semi-final.

The women's semi-finals Thursday will include a replay of last year's title match, Miss Moffitt taking on the girl who beat her for the 1963 title, top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia. Miss Turner will play veteran internationalist Maria Bueno of Brazil in the other.

Miss Smith advanced by default over Argentina's injured Norma Baylor while Miss Bueno, the 1959 and 1960 champion, moved past Robyn Ebbern of Australia 6-4, 6-1.

Firemen 21, Cops 14

The final score of 21 to 14 resembled football figures, but it was a softball game Sunday in which the San Anselmo Fire Department outslugged the Hub City's police force in their annual Family Day barbecue at Memorial Park.

Marin Pro Ball Players' Averages Dip

The Marin County lads still remaining in professional baseball are having trouble making it over the .250 mark this year.

At last report from Player Periscope of Novato, John Bobbabella of San Anselmo, first baseman for Salt Lake City of the AAA Pacific Coast League, was hitting at a .242 clip; Gerry Ard of Fairfax, shortstop for Modesto of the Class A California League, was batting .246; and Ken Anderson of San Rafael, outfielder for Greenville, S. C., of the Western Carolina League, was hitting. 236.

Boccabella, who finished the season last year for the parent Chicago Cubs, batted only .211 for the last reported week from Player Periscope. His four hits for the week were strong as iron, however, as he hit two home runs, a triple and a single. He had four runs batted in and scored four.

His production for the year increased to 15 homers, 6 triples and 7 doubles, all helping his RBI total to rise to 41. He had also scored 38 runs. His average of .242 is based on 60 hits in 248 at bats.

JERRY ARD

Ard, who signed a bonus contract to play for the Houston Colt .45s' farm club, batted .242 in the last reported week, getting 8 hits in 33 at bats. His one extra base hit of the week was a triple.

The Fairfax youngster has hit safely 52 times in 211 at bats, including two triples and five doubles. He has knocked in 22 runs and has scored 26.

KEN ANDERSON

Anderson had only 1 double and two singles in 18 at bats in the last reported week, hitting .167. He had one RBI and two runs scored.

Anderson, playing in the Milwaukee Braves system, has 38 hits in 161 at bats on the season, with four doubles being his only extra base hits. He has 11 runs batted in and has scored 15 times.

RON COLE

Ron Cole of Mill Valley, the only Marin County pro playing in the pitching ranks, was stung for a loss while hurling for the Modesto Colts during the last reported week. He appeared in two games, allowing 15 hits and 6 walks while striking out 9 in 11 innings.

His season record now is 6-4 with a 3.58 earned run average. He has worked 73 innings, allowing 64 hits and 31 bases on balls while whiffing 65.

Seals Obtain Vet Center From Canada

San Francisco Seals manager Bud Poile says he will have one of the best lines in the Western Hockey League this season, with the help of center Del Topoll.

Topoll, an ice veteran at 31, was acquired yesterday from the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Poile immediately announced plans to use Topoll at center, between Charlie Burns and Wayne Connelly, to strengthen the Seals' offensive line.

Topoll was with the Seattle Totems last year. He saw action in 70 games, scored 26 goals and assisted for another 38, finishing 13th in WHL scoring.

Marin Hardtop Drivers Win

Marin County drivers won three events Saturday night during the NASCAR hardtop races at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

Jack Dempsey of San Rafael won the trophy dash, Al Alberigi of San Rafael won the first heat, and Phil Kircher of Tiburon won the fourth heat.

In addition to the first place, Al Perry of San Rafael placed third in the second heat and Jim Giubbini of Novato finished third in the third heat.

Terra Linda Rec. Swimmers Win

The Terra Linda Recreation District swim team defeated the Strawberry Swim Club 196-112 in the Terra Linda High School pool Saturday.

The Terra Lindans were led by wins from Dick Montgomery, Dick Watkinson, Jan Borcherding, Mark Van Lehr, Pam Blair, Melissa Hansen, Malcolm MacLean, Kathy Flaherty, Mary Lee, Jim Barton, Jack Delman, Linda Gibbon and Allison Porter.

O'Rion Sixth In Seven-Boat Tahiti Race

O'Rion, the 56-foot yawl owned and skippered by J. C. Tinkler of San Rafael, was reported running sixth in the seven-boat fleet en route to Tahiti from Los Angeles.

According to United Press International, O'Rion was 1,185 miles west of Los Angeles yesterday. Leading the 3,571-mile race was Ticonderoga which was reported 1,590 miles out of Los Angeles.

Following the Ticonderoga, in order, were Novia Del Mar, Kirawan, Diablo, Rascol, O'Rion and Mistral. Tinkler is representing the St. Francis Yacht Club.

Judy Adams, pretty wife of the owner of Honda of Marin, Peter Adams, shows off a lightweight Honda "50" which is designed for the ladies. The "bike" can be practical transportation and stows easily aboard most boats for transportation at other anchorages. This 5-horsepower model has three speeds, electric starter, automatic clutch and a top speed of 45 miles per hour. Judy looks like she had arrived for a day of sailing at San Rafael Canal when caught by professional photographer Ken Molino.

Salmon Scene Moves To Farralon Islands; Bay Striper Trolling Good

STEVENS

There is one happy salmon troller—happy that he didn't cancel out because of reported rough water outside the Golden Gate. He is Romeo Breebem of S.F. Romeo fished from aboard the Marion out of Caruso's Sausalito harbor—hooked, played and boated a beautiful Chinook salmon that tipped the scales at 47¼ pounds.

Talking to Sid McMullin at Caruso's, I learned that the boats averaged 12 or 14 fish per boat on Saturday and Sunday both. Seems the skippers shifted the scene of operation from southwest of the Light Ship to the waters off the Farralon Islands.

ON SATURDAY the top fish ran to 30 pounds and all are agreed that the schools are yielding larger fish than before. This is indicated by the register at Lee Anderson's place in Oakland. For example, on Saturday the Sea Horse docked at the Berkeley Harbor with 12 salmon to 25 pounds, the Lucky Day also had 12 with the top fish weighing 32 pounds, while the Chinook took 22 to 31 pounds.

Paul J. Keeler of 8 Barn Road, Mill Valley, skipper of the boat "Coaster," also had a glistening report about salmon fishing near the Farralon Islands Saturday. A tital of 10, with the largest tipping the scales at 37 pounds, 4 ounces, was pulled aboard his boat.

THE WORD of striper striving is confined almost entirely to trolling. The lads who wait for the late hours on the Contra Costa side of the San Francisco Bay are still cleaning up with an estimated average of two-fish-plus per angler. Local has shifted from Buoys 10 and 14 to the area off the Union Oil Wharf and around Carquinez Pier.

One lone report of success on bait. According to Lee Anderson's shop, the boat, Millie Linn, netted 14 stripers on bait., and a few shore fishermen have taken a few fish while using pile worms.

ABOUT methods of fishing with bait versus trolling, I'm wondering how many who catch fish on bait are using the "Thumb Retrieveing" technique. Call it "walking the bait" or what you will, the idea is to keep the bait, anchovies, bullheads, sardines or pile worms MOVING. Make your cast as far from the boat as you are able, then rub your thumbs across the line on your reel, thus moving the bait along the bottom a few inches at a time. Keep that business up until the baited hooks are at the side of the boat. You may be surprised at the results.

Many old timers swear that if fish are caught trolling aboard a moving boat, they can be taken by "walking" the bait while still-fishing. Try it the next time out, huh? By the way, my records show that the month of July in years gone by—in the upper San Pablo Bay—paid off in a big way to the thumb-retrievers. Should happen again this coming month. The largest striped bass I ever caught was caught off Point Pinole the last week of July while thumb retrieving during the slack tide.

NO WORD of bass fishing in the back country, but none was expected. Mostly it is catfishing or catching blue gills, crappies and a Sacramento perch at this time of the year in the Delta region.

Several sturgeon have been taken in the lower Suisun Bay near the Benecia Side of the Southern Pacific Bridge the past week. One monster of over eight feet (according to the tale told me by a neighbor) was brought to the side of the skiff and then broke loose and went bye-bye. And that's the passing picture as seen by this reporter.

Graeber, Caplan Hit Hottest Bowl Scores At Nave Lanes

Ralph Graeber with a 608 three-game series and Lee Caplan with an 801 four-game set paced the league bowlers this past week at Nave Lanes.

Graeber's series, topped by a 211 game, was in the Sundowners League, and Caplan's 801 was in the 520 Scratch Trio League. Lee's series, topped by a 211 game, was in the Sundowners League, and Caplan's 801 was in the 520 Scratch Trio League. Lee's series included games of 223 and 213.

Jim Green of the Monday Men's Handicap League had a 254 game en route to a 603 series to take individual high game honors. Sam Butler of the 500 Scratch Trio had a 240 game.

Penny Dolinsek featured the women's action with a 575 three-game series in the Tuesday Morning Trio League. That set was headed by a 228 game. Thelma Cox of the HAFB Officers Wives League had a 572 set. Anita Spencer had a 746 four-game series topped by a 210 line in the Women's Classic Trio to lead in that category.

Verena Helbing had a 233 line to top the gals in game scores. Her line was in the Women's Classic Trio. In the same league, Sylvia Knutson had a 741 series and Pat Wells had a 229 game.

Gene Helbing once again led the junior bowlers with a 541 series of three that included games of 192 and 194.

OLYMPIC OUTLOOK

U.S. Swimming Teams Improved Over 1960

PALO ALTO (AP) — One of this nation's top swimming coaches, George Haines, predicts both the United States men's and women's teams will be stronger in the 1964 Olympics than they were four years ago.

Speaker at a preview luncheon for the national AAU men's and women's meets to be held July 30-Aug. 2 at nearby Los Altos Hills, Haines said:

"Both of our teams will be outstanding because of the depth of good swimmers in this country. I feel the girl's team will be greater than the one we had in Rome and the men's team also will be better."

Haines coached the U. S. women's swimming team for the 1960 event at Rome and will be assistant coach for the men this year.

He expects Australia and the Netherlands to provide the top competition for the girls and Australia to be the No. 1 challenger in the men's events.

As an illustration of the improvement shown in swimming during recent years, it was pointed out that in 1948 Ann Curtis, now a resident of San Rafael where she operates a swim club and school, won the 100-meter Olympic race in 1 minute 7.2 seconds. Today it takes a time of 1:5 or better to even qualify for the women's AAU nationals and 1:4.2 for Olympic tryouts.

New names are cropping into top contention this year. Kathy Seidel, a 14-year-old, last week equalled Chris von Salza's American 100-meter freestyle record at 1:01.3 and Sue Jones matched the 1:20.4 American 100-meter breaststroke mark by Jane Dellenkamp.

Softball Triumph

The Indian Valley Lumber softball team of Corte Madera downed Liberty Mutual of San Francisco 8-3 yesterday in San Francisco. Marsh Granados was the winning hurler for Indian Valley.

Molina, Perez In Oakland Rematch

OAKLAND (UPI)—If their first meeting was any example, action should be fast and furious at Oakland Auditorium tonight when Luis Molina battles Tony Perez in a scheduled 10-rounder.

When they last met in the same ring a month ago, the heavily favored Molina decked the Mexican invader in the opening round, but Perez battled back brilliantly against the San Jose hotshot.

Molina got the nod 6-4, but the decision was greeted by a chorus of boos.

Tonight's card starts at 8:30.

July 4 Celebration Set For Stinson

Stinson Beach Community Center will include games and refreshments in a three-day Fourth of July celebration, Elting C. Hubbard, president, said today.

The Community Center hall will be open Friday at 8 p.m., Saturday at 10 a.m. and Sunday at 11 a.m., and remain open into the evening. Funds raised will be used to cover the costs of operating the three community buildings which comprise the center and which were built by proceeds of similar affairs starting in 1947.

There will be no fireworks.

The program will be conducted by members of the Volunteer Fire Department and Progressive Club, with women of the community church and Allied Arts operating the refreshment booths.

Base Announces Contracts, Bids

The base procurement office at Hamilton Air Force Base today called for bids and announced award of several contracts.

Bids were invited for maintenance of hanger and apron access, for meat and produce wrapping machine for the base commissary and for sugar for resale.

Gifford B. Fowle of Oakland was awarded a $24,108 contract to repair water mains; H. D. Terrell of Vallejo, a $5,698 contract for custodial services; Robert F. Smith Inc. of San Francisco, a $1,975 contract for maintenance and repair to roofs of three buildings, and M & M Sanitary Co. of Napa a $3,350 contract for cleaning of grease traps.

Burglar Gets Change From Service Station

Someone broke into the Terra Linda Union Station, 929 Del Presidio, and took a cigarette machine coin box containing about $50 between 4 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. today, San Rafael police reported.

The burglar entered by breaking a window in the rear lubrication room and then pried open the door of the cigarette machine with a screw driver type of instrument, police said.

Novato Council Faces Long And Short Of It

The Novato City Council has only one item on its agenda for an adjourned meeting at 8 o'clock tonight, but that one calls for passing of 18 resolutions.

It is the formation of the Scottsdale Assessment District for the proposed 1,500 unit apartment development between Highway 101 and South Novato Boulevard, and south of Yukon Way.

Marin College Names 'Alumnus Of The Year'

Dr. Joel F. Gustafson of Mill Valley, professor of biological sciences at San Francisco State College, has been named College of Marin Alumnus of the Year.

Gustafson, a member of the class of 1937, received the award for his "outstanding contribution to the community, especially in the area of conservation."

He is president of the Point Reyes National Seashore Foundation, president of the California Conservation Council, former president of the Marin Conservation League, former associate director of the California Academy of Sciences, and executive director of the San Francisco Zoological Society.

Freshman Named To Honor Roll

Charles H. Adams of San Rafael has been named to the deans' honor rolls at the University of Wyoming in Laramie.

Adams, a freshman in arts and sciences, maintained a 3.26, or "B plus average, during the spring semester. To make the list, freshmen must make a 3.25 average or better on the school's four point system.

He was among 404 students who qualified for the rolls for the semester.

Anti-Submarine Patrol

Eugene W. Andrews, Navy aviation anti-submarine warfare technician third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milo T. Andrews Jr. of 40 Suffield Avenue, San Anselmo, participated with Helicopter Anti - Submarine Squadron Eight in a combined sea-assault and airborne combat training exercise called "Liotas" recently under direction of the South-East Asia Treaty Organization in the Philippines.

Classic Film Series Set For Hub City

First of a nine-week series of Tuesday night film showings at the Festival Theater in San Anselmo begins July 14 with a revival of the satire, "The Mouse That Roared," starring British comedian Peter Sellers.

Part of the theater's Summer Film Festival, the series will feature an "adult classic" at 7 and 9:15 p.m. each Tuesday night.

The film describes the adventures of a tiny fictional nation which sets out to solve its economic troubles by losing a war to the United States, but accidentally wins.

A British short subject, "The Hole," will be shown with the comedy.

Lassen Volcanic National Park, Calif., is site of most recent volcanic activity in mainland United States.

Marin Student Earns Dean's List Rating

Peter F. Stokely of 45 Marinita Avenue, San Rafael, has been named to the dean's honor list for the spring semester at the University of California's Riverside campus.

Stokely was one of 514 undergraduates who made the list. To be named, a student must maintain a B average and be signed up for 12 or more units of credit.

Some Of The Hemlines Go Up

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Arnold Scaasi fashion show began with two models showing brocade trousers with mink cuffing the hems of the culotte-cut legs.

Scaasi was doing what comes naturally to designers these days in the New York garment industry — putting women in pants for formal or informal occasions at home, for walking, shopping, traveling.

The Scaasi pajamas, designed for Martini, Inc., with whom he has been associated since last June, were in either pale pink or pale green embroidered brocade with fitted, sleeveless and collarless tops.

JANE DERBY, designer-manufacturer who's been on a trousers at home kick for at least five years, included in her fall and winter collection lounge pajamas in two-piece cranberry wool with sable cuffs.

Maurice Rentner's chief designer, Bill Blass, tailored pants as sharply as a man's for both informal day and dressy evening at-home wear.

For day, he coupled a short leopard jacket with camel's hair trousers. He jazzed up other trousers of white satin with a white mink jacket lined in shocking pink. Blass showed a floor length evening coat in camel's hair, with trousers of the same camel wool, topped by a blouse in shocking pink silk. The lining of the coat repeated the blouse fabric.

THESE WERE JUST some of the "pants-or-else" trends advanced by pace-setting designers who this week are showing their fall and winter collections by visiting reporters.

The current week of shows is sponsored by the American designer series. The week following the fourth of July holiday, the New York couture, another designer group, will take over for seven days of fashions for the visitors.

THE SCAASI SHOW yesterday featured four major silhouettes for fall, other than those pajamas. They were: the coat dress, a classic doing big business with every designer this fall; the princess; the tunic, and the fitted with waistline elongated until it seemed to start at the upper hipbone.

Scaasi kept hemlines a conservative mid-knee length — conservative, that is, when you consider that some designers show them two and three inches above the knee for fall.

The Oleg Cassini collection, also shown yesterday, hiked the hemline to above the knee. Cassini accented the explosure in costumes and suits with swirling skirts, via box pleats.

MOLLIE PARNIS, designer-manufacturer, didn't tamper much with the hemline but did produce more of the going trend toward the full skirts. She called hers the "shutter," an apron front and back with soft pleats on each side to provide some movement.

On the price side, Miss Parnis offered a short beaded coat and dress combination for formal evenings — the combination to wholesale at $1,000. The designer said she didn't expect that the highest priced item she'd ever made would sell, but surprise! It was on several buyers' orders. The cost at retail would be around $1,600 to $1,700, depending on store markup policy.

THE CHRISTIAN DIOR - New York collection yesterday gave impetus to shorter skirts also. The firm's designer, Gaston Berthelot, took the hemline above the knees and showed legs encased in mesh stockings. For cocktails or dinner, he produced a new mid-calf length in some ensembles.

A BOYISH LOOK for not-so-little girls is Oleg Cassini's theme for fall. Yesterday this beige wool sheath with front tab belt and high standing collar was among the American couturier's collection shown to fashion writers in New York as a preview to fall. (AP Wirephoto)

MR. AND MRS. ANTHONY TURRIETTA
(Ellsworth Hagen photo)

Deborah Brown Is Married In Fairfax

Deborah Brown of Fairfax became the bride of Anthony Albert Turrietta in a nuptial mass performed Saturday morning at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Fairfax and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Turrietta of Southern Pines, N.C.

Given in marriage by her father, Deborah chose a floor-length bridal gown of white organza. Her sister, Celia Brown, wearing a street-length dress of light blue organza, was her honor attendant.

Thomas Walsh of San Anselmo was best man and ushering guests to their seats were the bridegroom's three brothers, Orlando Turrietta of Petaluma, James Turrietta Jr. of Camp Pendleton and Jonathan Turrietta of Southern Pines.

Deborah who has another sister, Camas Brown, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Moore of Berkeley and Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Silva of Albuquerque, N. M., are Anthony's grandparents.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, the new Mrs. Turrietta attended College of Marin and University of California. An employee of Safeway Stores, her husband was also graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin.

Following a wedding reception at the Browns home, the newlyweds went on a honeymoon trip to Carmel. They plan to make their home in Fairfax.

MARIE TRABER

Marie Traber Engagement Is Announced

Planning a July 25 wedding are Marie A. B. Traber and Hal A. Silvers, whose engagement was announced at a recent dinner party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Traber at their Fairfax home.

The sister of George Traber of Fairfax, the bride-elect was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. Her future bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Verna Mae Silvers of Lodi and the brother of Joan M. Brooks of San Francisco.

An employee of Honda of San Francisco, Hal was graduated from Lodi High School and City College of San Francisco.

WORLD FIRST LADIES

Donna Laura Segni Is Called The Italian Lightning Rod

One of a series of seven articles on world women wed to power — first ladies of other countries who are seldom seen or read about by Americans or by their own people.

By LOUISE HICKMAN

ROME (AP)—Close friends of Donna Laura Segni, a shy silver-haired Sardinian of gentle upbringing, have good reason to apply to Italy's first lady the nickname "parafulmine"—lightning rod.

She not only serves as a peaceful oasis for President Antonio Segni but also knows how to absorb the tensions and storms that can build up in her husband because of his high office.

Donna Laura, 68, is five years younger than her husband. She prefers a quiet life in the shadows of his career and rarely attends official functions at the Quirinal Presidential Palace. She openly admits she is frightened at such affairs.

"THE NICEST PART of my day," she says, "is when Antonio walks into our private rooms, closes the door and tells me: 'Now we are alone, Laura'."

Mrs. Segni, the former Laura Carta, is the youngest of five daughters of a Sassari magistrate. She and Segni met in childhood. They share a love for the land typical of Sardinia's islanders, and a taste for Debussy, Bach, and Chopin. Both are accomplished pianists and frequent concert goers.

DONNA LAURA was raised in the old tradition that a wife must be able to adapt herself to her husband's personality, serving as a silent partner to sustain the burdens he must carry.

She has been following that concept since their first married days 43 years ago in Perugia, where Segni taught civil law at the university. She is still adapting herself—for instance, overcoming her dislike of flying to go with the President on frequent flights from Rome to Sardinia and occasional official trips to foreign lands.

THE SEGNIS HAVE four sons. Celestino, 38, is a lawyer who studied at Oxford and works for an organization helping underdeveloped nations. Giuseppe, 36, is a doctor of children's diseases and Paolo, 27, is a doctor specializing in infectious diseases. Mario, 23, is a law student.

The entire family gets together for summer outings at Stintion, a fisherman's village near Porto Torres on the north Sardinian coast, and cruises in the "Celestina," the President's single-sail Sardinian type boat.

"It's too bad I am too old to take a swim," Mrs. Segni said recently. "I know every stone of this coast. This is the most marvelous place on earth."

AS OFTEN AS they can the Segnis fly to Sassari for weekends with friends at the President's sprawling farm, where acres of olive trees and citrus orchards stand green against the deep blue Mediterranean sky.

There Mrs. Segni loves to put on an old earth-stained dress, a pair of sneakers and a loose straw hat to set out on long walks across the quiet countryside.

DONNA LAURA IS a striking woman who stands out when she is dressed for state affairs in the thousand-room Quirinal Palace back in Rome. She smiles often, in a winning way that is both shy and spontaneous.

Tall and blue-eyed, she prefers blues and browns in her wardrobe which she has placed in the hands of the Rome Couture House of Carosa. She deviates from the classical and the simple by allowing only an occasional jeweled embrodiery on an important gown.

Mrs. Segni devotes much of her free time to the Italian Red Cross, of which she is president, and to charities for children by lending her name and helping in fund-raising.

HER ACTIVITIES as the President's wife means she must be in Rome frequently, like her husband. Mainland Italians were delighted when a Sardinian shepherd once remarked, with the native pride that also characterizes Italy's Sardinian first family:

"It's a pity they have the habit of running off to Rome so often."

DONNA LAURA SEGNI, here cuddling a grandchild, shares a taste for Debussy, Chopin and Bach with her husband. Frequent concert goers, the Segnis are both accomplished pianists.

MR. AND MRS. LAWRASON DRISCOLL of Novato are home from Southern California after a combined business and pleasure trip. Mr. Driscoll attended a symposium at the University of Southern California and then they spent 10 days relaxing in Malibu. The Driscolls' son, Lawrie, is among 25 students spending the summer touring Europe. Charles Schiffman of Stockton is heading the tour which will cover 14 countries including East Berlin and Russia, before returning home the first week in September.

THE WOODWARD MELONES of Novato are still talking about their recent week end at Paicines near Hollister and Almaden as guests of the Louis Benoists. Guests were members of Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin and their wives. All the food and wine served at the dinner Saturday and the luncheon Sunday, including the partridge, was raised on the Benoist ranches.

FIFTY - EIGHT FRIENDS from Marin and Sonoma Counties attended at the surprise housewarming party given Sunday for Mrs. Paini (Beverly) Irish by her sister, Mrs. William Paula of Petaluma. Mrs. Irish has just moved into her new home in Marin Gardens with her daughter, Kathleen. She has been a resident of Marin for 34 years.

LINDA FITZHARRIS, daughter of the Cletus Fitzharrises, who has just completed her term as president of the San Rafael 4-H Club, entertained about 60 members and friends at her home in San Rafael Sunday afternoon with a hotdog barbecue and picnic. Volleyball, softball, tetherball, croquet and lawn bowling were among the afternoon's activities.

REEDLANDS RESIDENTS Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Hayes opened their Calistoga country home, Woodfall Farm, for the recent playday and barbecue of the Reed Guild of Sunny Hills members and their husbands.

Eloise Granado To Become Bride Of Francis X. Doyle

The engagement of Eloise M. Granado to Francis X. Doyle is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Granado of Lordsburg, N.M.

The young couple plan to be married Sept. 5 in the Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church in Boston.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Lordsburg High School and attended Adrians Beauty College in Stockton. She is presently employed at the Hamilton Air Force Base beauty shop.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario DeBerardinis of Boston, the prospective bridegroom is stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Following their wedding, the couple will live in Novato.

Lynda R. Tovatt Is Bride In Ross Rite

Married in St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross Saturday evening were Lynda Ruth Tovatt and Peter Norgaard. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harold Hallett.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Tovatt of Fairfax and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Norgaard of San Anselmo.

Wearing a floor-length gown of white lace with long sleeves and a bouffant skirt, Lynda was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Suzanne Tovatt, was maid of honor and twin cousins, Patricia Mallory and Michelle Mallory of Corte Madera were the bridesmaids.

The honor attendants wore similar floor-length gowns of pink slipper satin. The bride's young cousin, Nancy Mallory of San Francisco, was the flower girl.

Best man to the bridegroom was his brother, Greg Norgaard, and ushers were John McVikar of San Rafael and Charles Giannini of San Anselmo.

Both the newlyweds were graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. Lynda attended classes at College of Marin while Peter attended Pacific University at Forest Grove, Oregon. He is presently employed by the Western Pacific Railroad Co. in San Francisco.

Besides Suzanne, the bride has two other sisters, Mary and Catherine Tovatt. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. A. M. Mallory and the late Mr. Mallory of Fairfax and Mrs. J. W. Tovatt and the late Mr. Tovatt of Santa Clara.

Mrs. Wilfred Sidebottom and the late Mr. Sidebottom of San Francisco and Mrs. H. R. Norgaard and the late Mr. Norgaard of Rhode Island are Peter's grandparents.

Following a reception at the Deer Park Villa in Fairfax, the young couple went on a wedding trip to the Feather River area.

Girls State Elects

Joan Norton Troppmann of Corte Madera was elected a senator of the California Girls State Saturday in its 21st session at the Davis Campus of the University of California. Girls State is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Novato Girl In Stage Play

Mrs. William Carpenter and her daughter Pat of Novato are spending a few days in Southern California. A number of Novatans will be guests of Mrs. Carpenter at the Altadena Playhouse in Alameda on Friday night to attend the performance of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," starring Pat in the role of Molly. The grandson of the real life Molly Brown, Lawrence Palmer Brown, recently attended a performance and had high praise for Pat in the role. Attending the performance Friday night will be Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Wiedenmayer, Reuben Kaehler, David Kaehler, Charles Davies and Mrs. Alice Yarish and her daughter, Robin, all of Novato.

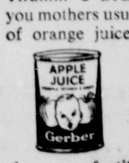
Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Sometimes new mothers concentrate so hard on the technicalities of baby care they forget to enjoy their babies. Your delight in your baby is one of the great golden gifts you can give. The baby who is talked to (and laughed with) lovingly, develops security and sociability. The baby who is played with happily gains confidence early and learns invaluable lessons in co-operation.

•

Vitamin C availability. I know you mothers usually think in terms of orange juice for baby's vitamin C. But it should be reassuring to know that Gerber Strained Apple Juice and juice combinations are fortified to give your baby just as much of this important vitamin as Gerber Orange Juice. One can of any of the other eight Gerber Juices supplies over 100% of the recommended daily dietary allowance for vitamin C. 9 varieties in all including the new Mixed Fruit Juice and Prune-Orange.



•

Golden rules for baby care. By-the-book rules are fine as guides but all rules do not fit all babies and any rule is only as good as its flexibility. Guides to good mothering: heed your doctor and your common-sensible head and lead with your heart. Happy is the baby whose mother makes adjustments for his (or her) individuality.

•

Growth patterns. Your baby grows much faster the first year than the next few put together. That's why he needs protein aplenty to give that growth a boost. Gerber Strained Meats are high in protein, low in fat and ever so easy to digest. Points to remember:

• Gerber Meats are cooked by an exclusive process which preserves the utmost in nutritive values; insures a smooth moist texture.

• They're the products of two great specialists — Gerber, famous for fine baby foods and Armour, famous for fine meats. Gerber® Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

THE CANTEEN SERVICE is vital to the center and eagerly anticipated by the donors, and the Junior Volunteers help with the snack preparation as well do telephone recruiting of donors, serve as nurses aides, clerical assistants and supply room helpers.

Now Is Good Time To Evaluate Your Child's School Progress

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

This is an excellent time of the year for parents and students to look back and evaluate school progress. A student's academic, physical, and social growth will vary. His schedule and participation in various activities may need revision.

There are many advantages to an evaluation of this nature. It is particularly valuable in arranging plans for next year. It is also important for a child to have a realistic picture of his accomplishments.

ALTHOUGH IT is important to encourage a child, it is not necessary to create a false situation. If he is doing well in his school work, he should know it and if he is accomplishing very little, he should also be aware of this.

In either case encouragement can be given by using a positive approach. By this is meant emphasizing the accomplishments and ways in which the child can improve his learning.

As an example, consider the case of Alan Roberts. His report card had B's, C's and an A in reading. His parents spent some time with him looking back at the school year.

Alan was very happy to discuss his work with his parents. They were very careful to avoid telling Alan that he should have done better work. Their idea was to help him see if there were some things he felt would have improved his grades.

THE DISCUSSION was started by asking several questions about which subjects he found difficult; and if he felt he had sufficient time and proper facilities for studying at home. At no time did Alan's parents lead him to believe they were not satisfied. They emphasized that the discussion was for the purpose of making plans for next year.

The discussion was found to be very valuable. Alan had some good ideas. His parents were very pleased to receive his suggestions. They were not aware of some of the problems that existed.

Alan was very interested in baseball. He was a member of a team which played a game every Saturday and practiced every day after school. He had been forced to give up this activity because he was taking piano lessons. He really was not interested in the piano but thought his parents would be upset if he stopped. Actually they thought he left the team because he was not able to play well enough. They said nothing because they did not want him to feel bad.

IN ADDITION Alan had difficulty studying because his younger sister played the television which was in his room. He did not want it taken out so he did not say anything.

Both of these problems were easily solved. Alan and his parents were most encouraged with the plans for next year.

A Portland Wedding For Former San Anselmo Man

Sacramento will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Joseph Cunningham, who were married Saturday in a nuptial mass at St. Mary Magdalene Church in Portland. The Rev. James Kalherer performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, the former Kathleen Ann Flynn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vincent Flynn, and her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cunningham of San Anselmo.

Given in marriage by her father, Kathleen chose a white silk floorlength bridal gown trimmed with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. Mrs. James Flynn Jr. was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Shirley Wizer and Mary Hartung and Mrs. Robert Hicks, all of Portland. The honor attendants wore street-length dresses of turquoise linen.

The bridegroom's brother, Edward Cunningham of San Anselmo, was best man and ushers were William Haley of Novato and the bride's brothers, James Flynn Jr. and John Flynn of Portland.

Kathleen, an elementary school teacher, was graduated from St. Mary's High School in Portland and Marylhurst College. Her husband was graduated from St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco and Santa Clara University.

A wedding reception was held at the Riverside Golf and Country Club in Portland, after which the newlyweds left on a trip to Canada.

Kentfield Man Married Sunday

Magda Maria Battha of San Rafael and John Voris Chambers of Kentfield were married at Saint Sylvester's Church in San Rafael on Sunday. The wedding was attended by close relatives.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard O'Hanlon in Mill Valley.

'Her' Cutaway Jacket

High School, College Girls Blood Bank's New Assistants

The days of summer will be far from lazy ones for a group of Marin girls who are launched on a special community service project at Marin Blood Center in San Rafael. They make up the corps of Junior Volunteers who assist the staff in the necessary services as nurses' aides, canteen hostesses, clerical assistants and supply room helpers.

Inaugurated in May with the cooperation of Mrs. Leiton J. Elder, director of volunteers at San Rafael General Hospital, the junior group has expanded so that 14 high school and college girls are now sharing this vacation activity. Nine of the girls are from San Rafael General Hospital Junior Volunteers and five from Marin General Hospital Juniors, with one unattached girl who is doing a special work in telephone recruiting.

Miss Gloria Gibala, R.N., supervisor of the local blood center, which is operated by the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society with the cooperation of the Marin Medical Society, compliments the junior corps for the enthusiasm and dependability of its members.

"We certainly are pleased to have such a competent and attractive group of girls assisting us during vacation time," Miss Gibala says. "The girls are efficient, enthusiastic and dependable too. Several of them are planning careers in nursing or the medical assistants field and the volunteer service helps them in their chosen work."

San Rafael General Hospital Juniors include Judy Elder, College of Marin, who has been named chairman of her group for the blood center activity; Suzi Columbo, Lisa Malet, Chris Nicholson and Cathy Waltz, all of San Rafael High School; Anna Huck, Terra Linda High School; Susan Benson, Drake High School; Carolyn Weiss, College of Marin, and Nancy Valador.

Junior Volunteers from Marin General Hospital are Kathy Schmitz, Dominican Convent, chairman; her twin sister, Lynn Schmitz, also of Dominican; Marilyn Burns and Lucia Blakelee, Redwood High School, and Mary Kathryn Greiner, College of Marin.

In addition, Karen Wolfson, Redwood High School, who is not a member of the hospital junior volunteers, is helping as a telephone recruiter, contacting prospective blood donors in an effort to increase the number of people who are regular donors for the needs of Marin hospitals and patients.

Marin Blood Center is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., when donors make replacements for patients in hospitals, give blood for the community reserve fund, organizational reserves, or for personal credit in the blood bank.

Cigarette Warning Demand; Whose Responsibility?

The Federal Trade Commission's order that all cigarette labels and advertising must warn that cigarette smoking "may cause death from cancer and other diseases," has revived many an argument between smokers and abstainers. Plenty of court action is in sight. Already, it has stirred a wide disparity within government itself.

The dramatic assumption of authority by the FTC—an independent government agency—came as a bombshell when issuance of the order was announced by its chairman, Paul Rand Dixon. This came at a meeting of the House Commerce Committee, during its lengthy consideration of a number of bills from Congressmen on the matter of cigarette smoking.

It came after the same committee was advised by Surgeon General Luther L. Terry that the Food and Drug Administration should have authority to regulate cigarette labels. And the Commerce Committee questioned the Federal Trade Commission's authority to issue this rule at a time when comprehensive study is under way.

But the FTC—which is not directly under the White House—insists present laws give it regulatory control of both labeling and advertising. There will be plenty of fire.

The FTC has performed a signal service in its field of silencing unproven claims of medical endorsement for a number of medicines sold without restriction; in doing the same in misleading advertising of many food products. Whether it can be spokesman in demanding warnings concerning a health matter or possible legislation in debatable.

Under its reasoning, couldn't the FCC follow with other demands—candy bar labels warn that too much candy could bring dental caries; overeating certain foods can cause obesity, which might lead to heart trouble; or even that mechanical tools could dismember fingers?

If the government is to take any action in the cigarette matter, let it first be determined which branch or agency has the authority to act.

SOLDIER HELPS TAXPAYERS

A quick-thinking army sergeant saved the government an outlay of $80,000.

As a member of a missile base staff, he was sent on a routine visit to a supplier. While there, he spotted a large stock of parts that had been declared surplus or unacceptable for production use.

But the sergeant immediately realized that these discarded parts were not completely useless. He pointed out that they would be quite adequate as training aids at the base's school and would save buying an equivalent amount of new parts.

You may never be in a position to effect such an outstanding saving, but as a citizen and taxpayer you can exercise shrewdness and a sense of economy. You can do something, however little, to see that in all areas of public spending full value is received for every dollar spent.

God entrusts the blessings of freedom to us. But in so doing, He expects us to show reasonable concern and care in the way we use them.

"The plans of the diligent are sure of profit."
(Proverbs 21:5)

Let me show my gratitude for the advantages of freedom, O Lord, by cherishing and protecting them.

Times Change Down On Farm —State Enters Hiring Picture

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) Not too many years ago when a farmer needed help, and a youngster showed up looking for a job, he was told to grab a ladder, get out in the orchard, and pick fruit.

Today, things are different. State bureaucracy has entered the picture, and is making a production of getting young people to work on the farms.

Group leader courses are being given vocational agriculture majors as crew leaders. Four year college agriculture majors are employed in farm supervision.

AGRICULTURAL youth employment kits are being distributed to Boy Scout council executives, as well as to 4-H clubs.

Home economics teachers are assisting in developing job opportunities for girls and all-girl crews have been selected from girl baseball, basket-ball, bowling, golf, tennis and other athletic teams, to work in "suitable" harvest activities.

The YMCA in one community is putting young men through a period of pre-employment physical training to "condition" them for farm work.

Employers are using modern methods of worker recruitment and vocational training and orientation, including how-to-do-it motion pictures and informational material produced by state agencies.

The departments of education, employment and industrial relations are giving "developmental attention" to projects designed to make young workers more valuable to agriculture.

THESE things are all outlined in a release from the state department of employment, which reports there is a "brighter outlook" today for youth in summer farm employment.

All of which brings up the conclusion that if all the people training the kids got out and started working, there might not be as bad a farm labor problem, as there is and will be with the elimination of the Mexican worker.

The California Council of Growers, a wide-spread organization which now is primarily concerned with the labor supply, has been studying the efforts of the state to provide workers.

The council noted an effort was made in Oakland and Berkeley to send strawberry pickers to Sunol. The state referred 61 welfare recipients to jobs. When the haul started, 31 workers showed up, one of whom was a welfare recipient. Of the 31 people, 11 quit by the end of the second hour. The second day, ten people went to work, only five of whom had worked the day before.

OUT OF 24 GROWERS days surveyed during the study, only five showed a net return over harvest costs.

In other words, all the motion "how-to-do-it" pictures, training programs, and other efforts of bureaucracy aren't going to make domestic labor want to work in harvests.

It's easier to draw welfare checks at the taxpayers expense than it is to pick strawberries. The growers didn't report as to whether the 60 welfare workers in Oakland who were referred to strawberry picking jobs were taken off the welfare rolls for not showing up.

Los Ranchitos Road Reopening Needed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

RE: Los Ranchitos Road

On July 20, 1961, the tunnel under Puerto Suello hill was partially destroyed by fire started by two boys. Since that time there has been hearings by the ICC, and other agencies, but to date the Los Ranchitos Road, a public roadway, has been closed.

This roadway is one that should be open, and especially now since the Big "E" is open for business, and also the general increase of homes in the area. From all indications the Northwestern Railroad, controlled by the South Pacific, is telling the folks in Marin and especially in San Rafael, to go where the heat is the most.

It will soon be July 20, 1964, and during this time the roadway has never been used for vehicular traffic. First there are arguments, briefs are filed, again arguments, more briefs, then the ICC held hearings, and it was recommended that denial of NWP petition be in order, and that NWP must restore service. Again the NWP (Southern Pacific) appealed the ruling, and again was rejected.

We are still without the use of Los Ranchitos Road. Why?

Better Environment Or Lower Taxes?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In regard to the rather substantial taxes that would accrue to the City of Larkspur, the school district and the county, if the 12-story, 140 ft. high rise retirement home is built in the Bon Air area . . . we could get even more taxes if the Larkspur City Council will approve three or four or maybe a dozen such sky-scrapers.

We have to decide whether we are willing to trade our county environment for a promise of less taxes. And we should not forget that the retirement homes is a six million dollar financial venture. The people who retire in the proposed sky-scraper must be willing and able to pay for it in a substantial way.

Cites Recreation Budget Figures

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Dear Sir:

The recreation budget for Terra Linda is $64,100.00. The recreation budget for Marin City is less than $2,000.00.

Terra Linda and Marin City have approximately the same number of children taking part in their individual recreation programs.

There is, of course, no racial discrimination in Marvelous Marin so this discrepancy must be just an oversight which will be corrected . . .

Asian Activities Appall Dr. Hanzel

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The news that the administration considers the commitment to Southeast Asia as comparable with its committment to West Berlin is appalling. There is no analogy between the two problems. The people of West Berlin want our protection, and our position there has some legal and a conceivably moral basis.

Most of the people of South Viet Nam and Laos are actively opposed to our presence and are rebelling against the rule of our stooges. Our military activity there is in violation of solemn treaty obligations (Geneva 1954). The official lie that our men are there as "instructors and advisors" is no longer even an indecent pretense. We can no more solve the problem with military force or bribery than the French could (in Indo-China or in Algeria).

Are the American people so gullible that they will allow thousands of American service men to die in futile combat because of the "political inexpediency" of an unfavorable agreement before the election?

The billions poured into Southeast Asia have been wasted. The general population suffering has increased and only the war profiteers have gained. Napalming villages cannot make friends, nor beat the Viet Cong! Ultimately the neighbors of Red China are destined to be friendly to her or dominated by her. Since any government of which we approve cannot survive—we should get out! DeGaulle's concept of neutralization by negotiation would be the most expedient escape from this untenable situation. Only genocide of the Vietnamese and Laotian people can "save" that area "for American interests!"

More Concerning News Objectivity

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I should like to comment on reader Doyle's letter appearing in your paper on June 23 and also on your editorial comment to his letter.

The letter by Doyle, in my opinion, was excellent and indicated the problem of "managed press" that raised such a furor in Congress a year or two ago. Your suggestion is that perhaps "analysis should have been held up for months or years by the media?" All Doyle is asking for is objective reporting rather than slanting the news in some specific direction with the apparent definite purpose in mind to soften the public reaction relative to what is really happening in the world today.

And what is happening in the world today? The Independent-Journal's candidate, Nelson Rockefeller and his brother David and the rest of the "kingmakers" in the Council on Foreign Relations have plans to merge us "comfortably" into communism in the not too distant future via the "legalized" socialistic route. Incidentally, they are using tax free foundation money for this purpose.

On page two of your June 23 paper, in an Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco, the Soviet Ambassador says that "little by little, relations between this country and Russia are moving in the right direction." On page one, Lodge is coming home "to possibly work for Scranton." The fact is, he is coming home to try and keep the kingmakers in power so there will be no interruption in the forthcoming "merger" they have planned for we Americans whether the President be Johnson or Scranton.

Please, Mr. Editor, or someone; give us some objective reporting that will PROVE I am wrong! I too, like Doyle, would like to have the facts so that, in retrospect, the United States will not have followed the pattern and gone communist.

AT A CHILDREN'S pet show last fall, a duck won the title "happiest pet." When the pets lined up for awards, said duck broke loose from his young mistress and in a trice ate up his competition: a frog, two worms, and a cricket. The judges thereupon awarded the "happiest pet" a second title: "most hungry."

OLD MAN Babcock was inching his dilapidated jalopy down Main Street when a traffic officer signalled him to halt. "Don't worry, pop," said the officer reassuringly. "I just want to see what it feels like to put my foot on a running board again."

THREE LETTERS from mail-order customers unearthed by Juliet Lowell in "Dear Man of Affairs":

1. "I received your insolent letter asking for payment. Enclosed is my check. I will never buy one cent's worth of merchandise from you again. P.S. This is the kind of letter I'd have written if I had the money to pay you."

2. "Your paint is no good. I put some on a bench and my daughter's boy friend sat on it and got his Sunday suit all green. Now he's mad and I still have Suzie on my hands."

3. "Please send me a bathing suit I can wear in the bathtub. Make it good-looking as my neighbors are a very nosey lot."

Johnson Determined To Build His Record With Bills Passed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson, a man of highly competitive spirit mixed with endless and determined energy, heads into one of the biggest tests of his career.

This is with his own Democratic-run Congress. When he campaigns for election he will need a good record of domestic achievement to point to.

Congress, under his persistent prodding, has two major achievements to its credit so far this year: (1) A tax cut and (2) A civil rights bill which seems certain of passage.

But at a news conference this week he said there were about 30 bills he hoped to get through.

To do all that Congress will have to work right up until early July, before the Republican convention begins, and then return and probably work until the Democratic convention starts Aug. 24.

HE SUGGESTED that from now on Congress work six days a week.

The Senate alone has a mountain of work piled up, the result of its months of debate on the civil rights bill, which it passed last Friday. Everything else got stalled until that job was done.

Johnson, a lot more persistent operator in pushing Congress for what he wants than President John F. Kennedy was, telephones, buttonholes, confers, and otherwise unrelentingly puts the heat on.

BUT HE NEVER, if only because this is his first year in the presidency, came up against the problem in front of him now. He will need all his ingenuity to build his record.

One of his major programs—medical care for the aged—looks like it's probably dead for 1964. The House Ways and Means Committee voted it down.

Now the only hope for medicare seems to lie with the Senate.

It will be practically a miracle if it gets through.

YET, JOHNSON has had astonishing success so far with another program—foreign aid—in which all the presidents back to and including Harry S. Truman took a heavy beating.

For 16 years this was the routine: A president would ask a certain sum, in the billions, for foreign aid and Congress would chop hundreds of millions or a billion or more off it.

This was so routine it looked like a game: A president would ask far more than he expected to get in order to wind up, when the chopping was over, with about what he figured he could do with in the first place.

BUT JOHNSON asked for 3.5 billion dollars or 1 billion dollars less than Kennedy did in 1963. Kennedy wound up with roughly 1.3 billion dollars knocked off.

Johnson represented his request as a minimum figure and until now the House, which has not completed final action, has appeared willing to give him approximately what he asked.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Rusk Works Behind Scenes With Peking

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There are two sides to the grimly tough talk emanating from the very highest administration levels that the U.S. is prepared to go to war with Red China to maintain the independence of Laos and South Vietnam.

While President Lyndon B. Johnson publicly is proclaiming this all-out determination against "those who believe they can violate their neighbors' borders and steal their neighbors' freedom," behind - the - scenes, through diplomatic channels, Secretary Rusk is tendering Peking a series of tempting "peace" proposals.

IN RETURN for "restraining" their puppet Viet Cong and Pathet Lao, in South Vietnam and Laos, Rusk is holding out to the Communist rulers of China the following five far-reaching prospects:

"Normalization of relations" with the U.S.; in effect, the establishment of some form of diplomatic relations.

Surplus food commodities (urgently needed by the Reds), trade and credits.

Admittance to the United Nations.

Access to the "rice bowl" (Mekong Valley) of South Vietnam.

Phased withdrawal of U.S. military forces from South Vietnam.

These profoundly significant backstage overtures are being made chiefly through Britain and France, which have embassies in Peking and direct access to its key leaders.

This on-the-record "stick" and behind-the-scenes "carrot" policy is deliberate, and extensively organized.

AS UNDERSTOOD BY informed congressional leaders, this "stick and carrot" concept will constitute the guidelines in the coming weeks and months for vigorously pressing for a direct confrontation with Red China over Communist attempts to seize control of Laos and South Vietnam.

LONG-RANGE aim is to "create an atmosphere both in the U.S. and China" to make possible the application of the "carrot" aspect.

Under the policy there is no thought or plan of any kind to in any way affect the continued Communist domination of China.

The selection of General Maxwell Taylor, former head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as new ambassador to South Vietnam, is directly related to this extremely risky and explosive strategy.

Actually, he will operate as theater commander. U. Alexis Johnson, who has held ambassadorial positions, goes to Saigon as deputy ambassador. His job will be to handle diplomatic problems, while Taylor concentrates on the more pressing military aspects.

THE "STICK AND CARROT" concept is spelled out in detail in a policy paper as follows:

The Stick: The evolution of a Communist Chinese state willing to live in reasonable harmony within the free community will be an uncertain process. We can contribute to that evolution by making clear to Peking and Moscow that we will not initiate aggression against Communist China, but we will use force to deter and deal with the Chinese Communists' military or indirect aggression wherever it occurs.

The evolution of a Communist Chinese state willing to live in reasonable harmony within the free community will be an uncertain process. We can contribute to that evolution by making clear to Peking and Moscow that we will not initiate aggression against Communist China, but we will use force to deter and deal with the Chinese Communists' military or indirect aggression wherever it occurs.

The Carrot: Concurrently, we should leave ajar possibilities for opening commercial, cultural and other contacts with Communist China. We should make clear that there is no final bar to the entrance of Communist China into more normal relations with the U.S., if it is prepared to modify its present policies.

Concurrently, we should leave ajar possibilities for opening commercial, cultural and other contacts with Communist China. We should make clear that there is no final bar to the entrance of Communist China into more normal relations with the U. S., if it is prepared to modify its present policies.

Last Faint Echo Of Western Weekend Still Rings For Scribe

No celebration such as Novato's Western Weekend could go by without leaving some aftermaths. Some of these are strange, such as last year when a dozen dead jackrabbits were found on Grant Avenue, when the celebration ended.

One of the funniest this year concerns one of the lost or stolen wallets reported to police. These reports occur during any carnival. Some of it can be blamed on pickpockets that follow such crowds and some on people losing them when taking rides.

However, a certain person reported to police that he had lost his billfold or that it had been stolen. When the truth came out, it went something like this: he had gone to the carnival and had imbibed certain refreshments until he became slightly inebriated. When he woke up at home the next morning, he discovered that his wallet was missing. So he reported it to the police. It was some time later that he found his wallet at home in his bedroom, misplaced . . . .

The Novato fire department is not a small, one-truck affair. If we implied this in reporting Western Weekend, it was one of those slips which occur between news bureaus and city desks.

Although there was a fire during the water ball fight on Saturday, the fight still went on with Novato winning 14 to 9 score. Somewhere the Independent-Journal reported a no contest affair.

"We're no one horse outfit," fire chief George Cavallero reported his men as stating. "We can fight a fire and still have men left over for the water ball fight."

Our apologies to both the Kentfield and Novato fire departments which not only handled a stubborn grass and brush fire, but also entertained the crowd with a water ball fight at the same time.

One other little error crept into the reporting of the many events on Western Weekend. The float of the junior women which stalled for 45 minutes in front of Wright hardware, was not out of gas, as was first reported. It was later found to be mechanical trouble. Our apologies to the ladies for our thinking that they were ever out of gas.

Several people have called it to our attention that a few Sundays ago the bulletin of our Lady of Loretto Catholic Church on Novato Boulevard asked the people not to double and triple park in front of the church.

We knew that the street was wider in front of the church than elsewhere but we didn't know that double and triple parking was allowed anywhere.

Some members of the Novato chamber of commerce have been waging a campaign to get Novato on the map.

This is not just a figure of speech, but literally a campaign to get Novato on many maps. This was especially true of some oil company maps. They showed San Rafael, Ignacio and Petaluma, but ignored Novato.

Well, we don't know whether or not their campaign was successful or not, but in the July reader's digest is a house ad for their new atlas. It has a circled inset of a map of the San Francisco Bay area. And there, not as big as San Rafael or Petaluma, but there nevertheless, is Novato.

At least it is in the reader's digest atlas.

HAL BOYLE

Lexicophobia Cannot Help But Be Reader's Reaction To This

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you tired of having the same old fears?

Wouldn't you like some fresh anxieties to fret over to make your life more interesting?

Well, be of good cheer. The possibilities are endless.

Medical dictionaries now list some 300 or more specific fears, and the list is growing. They all have wonderfully impressive-sounding names, and the chances are you have had some of these dreads all along and never knew it.

If you hat losing a golf match, your friends may merely put you down as a poor sport. But if you tell them you're suffering from rhapdophobia — which is the fear of being beaten — they're bound to feel more sympathetic.

Perhaps it embarrasses you if the boss catches you dozing in your swivel chair at the office. Put your ailment down as hypnophobia, the fear of falling asleep.

If you hate being alone, you have got monophobia; if you can't stand crowds, you're a victim of ochlophobia — and probably also apephobia, the fear of physical contact.

Old maids who can't stand men, dogs or marriage are triply afflicted with androphobia, cynophobia and gamophobia.

Women who are always cajoling their husbands into taking them out for the evening suffer from a complaint common among housewives — domatophobia, the fear of being shut up in a house.

That nursery rhyme character, Little Miss Muffet, who was frightened off her tuffet by a spider, acted from the deep-seated feeling of arachnephobia.

If you're looking for some really unusual fears, here are a few:

Dipsophobia—fear of liquor.

Chrematophobia — fear of money.

Aulophobia — fear of hearing flutes.

Taeniophobia — fear that you are harboring a tapeworm.

Linonophobia—fear of string.

Phronemophobia — fear of thinking.

Autophobia—fear of yourself.

Of course, if you can't make up your mind what to be afraid of—and the choices are practically endless—there is a package deal available.

You might decided to settle for pantophobia. That means the fear of everything.

Paris Reassures Israeli Leader

PARIS (UPI) — France's increasing ties with the Arab world are not being made at the expense of French-Israelian relations, President Charles de Gaulle assured Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol yesterday.

Diplomatic sources said de Gaulle assured Eshkol that France remains Israel's "friend and ally." De Gaulle also showed interest in joint U.S.-Israeli plans for desalinization of seawater through nuclear energy, the sources said.

Sshkol also met with foreign minister Maurice Couve de Murville and today will meet with French Defense Minister Pierre Messner.

Israeli Tractor Fired On By Syrian Gunmen

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — An Israeli tractor was fired upon yesterday from across the Syrian border on the Southeast shore of the Sea of Galilee, frontier police reported.

No casualties were reported and the Israelis said they did not return the fire. Israel lodged a complaint with the mixed armistice commission.

Field Exercise

Army Pfc. Isaiah I. Wallace, son of Tony Wallace, 207 Drake Avenue, Marin City, and other members of 7th Infantry Division's 7th Supply and Transport Battalion participated in field training exercise "June Bug" in Korea this month.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, June 30, the 182nd day of 1964 with 184 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1935, Adolf Hitler began the bloody purge of Germany, eliminating many political and military leaders who had once supported him.

In 1950, President Harry Truman announced the transfer of U. S. troops in Japan to Korea to assist in the war against North Korean invaders.

In 1958, the Senate approved the bill to make Alaska the 49th state.

In 1960, the Belgian Congo became the Republic of Congo, soon to be the scene of bloody internal strife.

Thought for the day — German author Thomas Mann, said: "Opinions cannot survive if one has no chance to fight for them."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Make Allowances For Bad Breaks When Playing Game

The correct way to play a suit depends partly on the number of tricks you need.

The point is illustrated by one of the hands played in the recent Bridge Olympics.

Opening lead — ♠ 4

West opens the four of spades, and declarer wins with the jack. South cashes both black aces and then leads a diamond.

MUST STEP UP

West must step up with the ace of diamonds and then returns a diamond to dummy's queen. At this stage declarer's only problem is to limit the trump loss to two tricks.

Declarer leads the trump from dummy, and East plays the jack.

South should play the queen if the contract is five hearts, but should play low at the actual contract of four hearts.

LOSES 3 TRUMPS

If South plays the queen of hearts, he will lose to the ace. South will later draw the seven on his king of hearts but will then have to lose tricks to the ten and nine. South thus loses three trump tricks — and his contract.

If the five missing trumps are divided 3-2, South can afford to play low on the first trump trick.

The ace will not fall in this case, but South can later lead the king of hearts to drive out the ace; and then he can finish drawing the trumps by leading the queen of hearts.

ONLY CHANCE

If the trumps are 4-1, South's only chance is that the singleton is the ace. As the cards lie, West must play the ace anyway. South can later draw two rounds of trumps with the king and queen, and can give up one other trump trick to East.

South would correctly play the queen of hearts on the first trump trick if he could afford to lose only one trump. Then he would have to play East for the doubleton ace of trumps.

South would hope to win the first trump trick with his queen and then return a low trump in the hope that East would be obliged to play the ace.

QUESTION

Dealer, at your right, opens with one club.

You hold:

♠ K 9 2
♥ 5
♦ K Q 2
♣ K J 9 6 5 2

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

You may decide to enter the auction later, but it usually pays to pass when an opponent opens ahead of you in your best suit.

Standing On Corner

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Male High School claims to have the only school paper anywhere to be named after a street corner. The publication, a prize winner nationally for years, is called "Brook 'n Breck" after the school's location.

The Husband Said . . .
"Selling my house was no trouble at all. All I did was tell my broker to 'Put it in Multiple Listing.' He handled every single detail . . . He found the buyer, arranged the finance for him and closed the deal. All I did was sign the deed."

The Wife Said . . .
"The thing I like the most was the way they showed my house. They never showed it until they had first called and made an appointment. They only showed it to people who were qualified to purchase it. All lookers were accompanied by a broker who answered all of their questions pertaining to the property."

And best of all, "It cost not a penny more."

SPECTACULAR RETREAT

A distinguished architectural masterpiece offering 2 bedrms. and a guest house nestled in the privacy of pines, redwoods and madrones, situated on a sunny south slope of Mount Tamalpais. Redwood, brick and glass construction radiates warmth and opens all living areas to private patios. Radiant heated pool and unique water fountain located in artfully landscaped court are viewed from the main home and the DETACHED guest house. Two of the 3½ baths feature select marble floors and solid marble shower stall. The other bath and a half are tiled in specially fired Heath Tile. Various hardwood paneling, such as book matched teak in the study, is highlighted throughout. This 1½ acre paradise, which is adjacent to a 30-acre reserve, also provides many trails for horseback riding and hiking. Offered at $110,000.

In the Matter of the Estate of VIRGIL CONKLIN, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on or after the 15th day of July, 1964, the undersigned, FRANK J. KEATON, Public Administrator, as administrator of the will of VIRGIL CONKLIN, deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest bidder, subject to confirmation by the above entitled Court, all the right, title, interest and estate of the decedent at the time of his death and all the right, title and interest the estate has, by operation of law or otherwise, acquired other than or in addition to that of the decedent at the time of his death, in and to that certain real property located in the County of Marin, State of California, described as follows:

PARCEL I: All that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, and bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Beginning at a point which is south 13° 32' East 119.3 feet from the Southwesterly corner of that certain tract of land which was conveyed to William L. Courtright by Jas. L. Flood and his wife, by a deed dated July 22nd, 1907, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of said Marin County in Liber 103 of deeds at page 375, running thence South 87° 59' East 259.4 feet to the Westerly line of a graded road, thence along said line of said road, South 13° 20' West 71.6 feet, South 38° 59' East 78.7 feet and South 12° 05' West 90.5 feet, thence leaving said road and running South 84° 59' West 214.7 feet, and thence North 13° 32' West 254.1 feet to the point of beginning.

PARCEL II: All that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, and bounded and particularly described as follows, to wit:

Beginning at a point which is South 13° 32' East 373.4 feet from the Southwesterly corner of that certain tract of land which was conveyed to William L. Courtright by Jas. L. Flood and wife by a deed dated July 22, 1907, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of said County of Marin, in Liber 103 of deeds at page 375; running thence North 84° 59' East 214.7 feet to the Westerly line of a graded road, thence along the said Westerly line of said road South 5° 35' West 66.5 feet; thence leaving the line of said road and running South 60° 42' West 108.9 feet to the Northeasterly line of a graded road; thence along the Northeasterly line and Northerly line of said road North 55° 01' West 77.6 feet; thence South 79° 56' West 34.6 feet; thence leaving the line of said road and running North 13° 32' West 63.8 feet to the point of beginning.

The above described parcel of land being a portion of the "Picnic Valley Tract," said Map of said tract filed for record in the office of the County Recorder of said County of Marin, May 19th, 1870, in Map Book "1" page 26.

Excepting therefrom all that real property particularly described in that deed from Ralph C. Conklin, et al, to Charles E. Gillis, et ux, recorded Dec. 31, 1959, in Book 1335 of Deeds at page 145, Marin County Records.

Subject to: Current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights-of-way, and easements of record.

Bids or offers are invited for the property and must be in writing and may be delivered to the administrator in care of the administrator's attorney, WILLIAM G. CORRIGAN of BAGSHAW, MARTINELLI, WEISSICH & JORDAN, at 1010 B Street in San Rafael, California, or may be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF THE SALE: Cash in lawful money of the United States of America; ten percent of the amount of the bid to accompany the offer, and the balance to be paid upon confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes shall be prorated as of the date of recordation of the conveyance. The examination of title, recording of conveyance, and any title insurance shall be at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers.

The undersigned, FRANK J. KEATON, Public Administrator, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

State Schooling Issues On Agenda For Marin Meet

The California School Boards Assn. will hold one of a series of 42 "Alert Programs" at 6 p.m. next Monday at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera in cooperation with Marin County School Boards Assn.

The meeting is designed to update trustees and school administrators on educational issues and legislation. It will deal with these five topics: negotiations with the California Teachers Assn.; collective bargaining as proposed by the American Federation of Teachers; the civil service, de facto segregation, and the Unruh Act.

Speakers will be Glenn W. Hoffman, former superintendent of schools in Glenn County and now a consultant to the state association; Alfred Newman, member of the Vallejo City School Board, and Warren Carson, the state association's consultant on school finance.

On Aircraft Carrier

Adam W. Durham, Navy shipfitter third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam W. Durham of 54 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo, is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier Lake Champlain, visiting Northern Europe in June and July.

Newspapers are for hiding behind ...and getting exposure in!

It's a poor bargain that won't work both ways. And the daily newspaper is just about the best bargain that money can buy, for reader and advertiser. It's the time-honored right of the man of the house to escape into his newspaper, but that's also a great chance for the advertiser to speak out across the table to the little woman on the subjects closest to her heart. So if you want to sell her something, tell her about it in the newspaper.
